REPORT OF ALEXANDER J. McDOWELL.

SIR: I beg to submit the following report of an examination made of the books and accounts in the operating department of the Union Pacific Railway Company, at Omaha, Nebr.

The accounts of this department are subsidiary to the general books of the company, and with the exception of current accounts with railroad companies and individuals, they are closed each month by transfer to the general books at Boston.

My report, therefore, must of necessity be taken in connection with the examination made of the books and accounts at Boston, many changes having been made by the Boston office in the accounts of the operating department at Omaha, of which the latter has no record.

The books and accounts of the Union Pacific Railway at Omaha have been and are kept to show, separately, the earnings and expenses of the aided portions of the road.

Hon. ROBERT E. PATTISON,
Chairman United States Pacific Railway Commission.

The subjoined table will show how the earnings are divided, a shipment from New York to San Francisco, Cal., and one from New York to Portland, Oregon, being taken as illustrations:

New York to San Francisco:
Proportion east of Council Bluffs	$1.08
Proportion Omaha Bridge	.05
Proportion Union Pacific proper, .524 per cent	.98
Proportion Central Pacific, .476 per cent	.89
	3.00
Rate, $3 per 100 pounds.
New York to Portland, Oregon:
Proportion east of Council Bluffs	1.08
Proportion Omaha Bridge	.05
Proportion Union Pacific,* .77 per cent	1.44
Proportion west of Huntington, .23 per cent	.48
Rate, $3 per 100 pounds.

The same principle applies in the division of the passenger business. The division of such expenses in the operating department as are common to the main line and branches is made on the basis of earnings. The expenses of the Boston office are not so divided, but are all charged to the main line.

*Union Pacific, .52 per cent., = ... $0.74.88
Oregon Short Line, .48 per cent., = .. .69.12
1.44

All expenses local to any division of the main line or to any of the branch roads are charged respectively to the division or branch road to which they belong.

I submit herewith a statement of the earnings and expenses as shown by the books for the years 1867 to 1886, inclusive. (See Exhibit A.)

This exhibit also gives the amount charged against the earnings of each year for drawbacks, overcharges, rebates, etc., the details of which are shown in statements Nos. 1 to 17, up to and including the year 1884. The work on the details for the years 1885 and 1886 was suspended October 15, as it was thought they could not be completed in time for the requirements of the Commission. Below will be found a summary of the drawbacks, overcharges, rebates, etc., as shown by the books of the operating department, from 1868 to 1886, inclusive.

Summary of drawbacks, overcharges, and rebates, 1868 to 1886.

Freight	10,714,[illegible]
Freight, Central Pacific R. R. Co	3,347,[illegible]
	17,862,[illegible]

I beg to call the attention of the Commission to the amounts paid by the company during the years 1881 to 1886 for pool settlements.

These amounts, which are included in the account of drawbacks, overcharges, etc., are as follows:

Years.	Passenger.	Freight.	Total.
1881	$150,750.57	$435,791.37	$[illegible]
1882	192,898.51	655,201.61	[illegible]

Total	768,395.18	2,169,339.48	2,[illegible]

* There are no details for these years.

For details see statements 18 to 21 inclusive.

I will also call attention to a debit against the freight earnings in 1884 (journal voucher, dated June 30, a copy of which is made part of Exhibit A). The items referred to in this entry are for amount of "loss on Colorado coke to June 30, 1884, $67,386.14," and for "estimated loss on sales of Salt Lake coal to June 30, 1884, $160,000," making a total of $227,386.14.

This was deducted from the gross earnings of the company in that year.

The condensed summaries given below show the aggregate freight and passenger business from 1867 to 1886 inclusive, and give the net freight and passenger earnings after making all deductions, and as shown by the books.

It was impossible to make up a statement, as required by the act, showing the diversion of earnings from the aided to the auxiliary roads, through the operation of this constructive mileage. The amount of work required to restate the business of each road on the basis of actual mileage, even for one month in each year, was far beyond the force and time at my disposal.

The amounts of money which have been expended, but for which sufficient and detailed vouchers have not been taken, are enumerated in the exhibit, marked B, submitted herewith, amounting to $78,509.77.

In connection with this subject your attention is respectfully called to an account in the years 1868 and 1869, entitled "Foreign expenses," and amounting to $101,106.85, which will be found in Exhibits C and D. These amounts were subsequently charged to the construction of the road in 1869 and 1870. Some of the items in these exhibits have been brought in question before the "Wilson committee." (See report No. 78, House of Representatives, Forty-second Congress, third session, page 467 et seq.)

A statement is made by the auditor monthly of all passes as they are taken up on the trains, but there is no evidence whether they were issued for lawful or unlawful purposes.

The expenditures by the Union Pacific Company from 1877 to 1886 for the construction of auxiliary roads is, as shown by the books of the operating department, $38,286,057.04. (See Exhibit E.)

The amounts charged under this head against each road have been carefully examined and a separate report made, which is submitted herewith, and forms a part of the above exhibit.

In addition to the above there has been expended on these roads from 1880 to 1886, under the head of "Construction and equipment of operated lines," $3,888,986.14, the details of which are given in Exhibit F.

The construction and equipment accounts of the main line have been carefully examined, but as most of the charges to these accounts are made from the department reports, it was not possible to examine the original vouchers for the labor and material furnished.

The total amount of these construction and equipment expenditures from 1867 to 1886, as appears by the books of the operating department, is—

For construction	$8,262,601.83
For equipment	5,502,643.14
	13,765,244.97

(See Exhibit G.)

A list of those persons now, or at any prior time, in the operating department, whose salaries have been $5,000 or more per annum, together with a statement of any additional sums paid to such persons, will be found in Exhibit H.

In conclusion I would say the books and blanks used, and the methods employed in recording and collating the earnings and expenses, are about the same as on all first-class railroads of the country; the changes made being those required to adapt them to the special necessities of the road.

Respectfully submitted.

ALEX. J. M. DOWELL,
Accountant.

OFFICE UNION PACIFIC RWY. CO.,
New York, December 27, 1880.

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 23d, inclosing draft for $50,000, is at hand.
Truly yours,

SIDNEY DILLON.

FRANK D. BROWN, Esq.
Cashier, Omaha, Neb.

The rails are 50-pound iron "low" at $58 per ton, and "Rome" iron at $68.75 per ton.

During 1880 there is charged to the construction account $54,400 for equipment, locomotives, passenger, baggage, and freight cars. I am unable to find out whether this rolling stock was new and built or purchased for this road, or was some of the old rolling stock of the Union Pacific Railway transferred.

In 1881 the charges to this account are small and mostly from department reports. Bills for same are approved by chief engineer.

In March, 1882, payment was made to J. E. & F. McNutt, voucher E 25524, for the "Blue Springs mill property" at Blue Springs, Nebr., $15,900, voucher approved by Thomas L. Kimball, assistant general manager.

The vouchers for grading right of way, etc., this year are all approved by the proper officers and are properly receipted.

During 1883 and 1884 the grading was all done by J. J. Brown, contractor. Vouchers approved by chief engineer and receipted. Other charges for right of way, etc., all properly approved and receipted.

In November, 1884, there is credited to construction account for five bonds, $1,000 each, Greeley County, Nebr., $5,000, less 20 per cent. discount, $1,000; total, $4,000.

In March, 1885, I find voucher E 54933, favor J. N. Paul, Saint Paul, Nebr., $765.40, for expenses of canvass in the election to vote in aid of Loup City Branch.

In April, 1885, the account is credited for sale of—

10 Blue Springs bonds, $1,000 each	$10,000.00
16 Beatrice precinct, $1,000 each	15,000.00
	25,000.00
Less 20 per cent. discount	5,000.00
	20,000.00

All vouchers, bills, etc., for grading right of way, etc., during this year are approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted.

In 1886 there are credits to construction account for sale of county bonds as follows:

20 Howard County bonds, $1,000 each	$20,000.00
Less 20 per cent. discount	4,000.00
	16,000.00
38 Sherman County bonds, 1,000 each	38,000.00
Less 20 per cent. discount	7,600.00
	30,400.00

All vouchers and bills for grading, right of way, and other expenditures are approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted.

Second-hand iron rails are charged out on department reports at $30 and $34.62 per ton, and steel rails at $41.10 per ton.

The total cost of this road to Dec. 31, 1886, is $3,430,062.68.

No. 2.—Omaha, Niobrara and Black Hills Railroad.

The construction of this road began in 1879. Among the cash vouchers for the year I find the following, viz:

Sept. 1, 1879, John M. Thurston, Omaha:

For amount paid election expenses to county treasurer Boone County	$127.00
Paid printing bill	153.00
Expenses and disbursements	448.00
	728.00

Omaha, December 19, 1879.

N. Shelton, cashier: Please pay to S. H. H. Clark, for Omaha and Republican Valley R. R. Co., $1,800.
To be accounted for.

J. W. GANNETT,
Auditor.

C. H. M.
Receipt signed, J. W. G. for S. H. H. Clark.
The "S. H." in the memorandum of "J. M. T." is supposed to be S. H. Clark, general manager.
Iron rails from the Laramie R. Mill are charged at $47.50 per ton in September, 1879, and in October and December at $55.
Splices and bolts are also furnished from the Laramie R. Mill.
All vouchers and bills in subsequent years are approved by chief engineer and properly receipted.
In December, 1882, the account is credited with proceeds of 33 Boone County bonds, $1,000 each, $33,133.33.
In January, 1885, 6 more of same bonds were sold, the proceeds of which was only $4,800.00.
The total cost of this road to December 31, 1886, is $1,275,006.31.

No. 3.—Hastings and Grand Island Railroad.

The construction of this road was mostly in 1879. I find the cash vouchers very defective and irregular.
Voucher 43363, paid July 7, 1879, to L. D. Tuthill, vice-president Hastings and Grand Island R. R., $5,000, on order of J. W. Gannett, auditor Union Pacific Rwy. Co., states that it is for right of way, claims, and expenses. It is not approved by any general officer, nor is it supported by any subvoucher of any kind.
Voucher 44410, paid September 29, 1879, same party, says "on account of Hastings and Grand Island R. R. Co.", $1,000. It is paid on order of J. W. Gannett, auditor, and has no approval or supporting vouchers.
Voucher 43528, favor John Doniphan, paid July 21, 1879, $4,000, is "for assessment of 10 per cent. upon shares of Hastings and Grand Island R. R. Co., subscribed for by Jay Gould."
This voucher is paid on order of J. W. Gannett, and bears no approval by any other officer of the company. It seems a very questionable charge to construction.
Iron rails are from the Laramie rail-mills, and are charged at $47.50 per ton.
The Belleville Extension of this road was begun in February, 1884, and completed during 1885. The charges for rails, cross-ties, bridging, station buildings, water stations, etc., are mostly from the various department reports, and bills for same are regularly approved by the chief engineer.
Construction expenditures on this road to December 31, 1886, are $236,457.84.

No. 4.—Omaha and Elkhorn Valley Railroad.

The first charge to construction account of this road is in November, 1886, during which month there are charges for right of way, grading (Charles Blackwell, contractor), and for engineering expenses. In December the charges are for right of way and engineering expenses.

The vouchers are all properly approved by the chief engineer and are regular in all respects.

Total to December 31, 1886, $27,236.88.

No. 5.—Marysville and Blue Valley Railroad.

Construction of this road was begun in 1879. The account at this time and in the early part of 1880 shows several cash payments to L. D. Tuthill, the vouchers for which are irregular.

(1) Sept. 29. "Account of Marysville and Blue Valley R. R. Co." (Signed J. W. Gannett, auditor) $2,000

(2) Dec. 22. "Disbursement upon construction of Marysville and Blue Valley R. R." (Signed J. W. Gannett, auditor) 5,000
1880.

(3) Jan. 7. "Payments to contractors, for grading, etc., upon Marysville and Blue Valley R. R." (Signed J. W. Gannett, auditor) 10,000

(4) Jan. 12. "Expenditures upon Marysville and Blue Valley." (Signed J. W. Gannett, auditor) 3,500

(5) Feb. 9. "Right of way south of Marysville." (Signed J. W. Gannett, auditor) 3,000

None of the above vouchers are approved by any general officer of the company nor are they supported by any subvouchers.

Mr. Tuthill was at that time superintendent of the Saint Joseph and Western R. R.

In 1870 iron rails are charged at $3[illegible], bought from Wateman & Co., Philadelphia.

The total cost of this road in 1879, 1880, 1881, and 1882, is $370,749.21.

No. 6.—Manhattan and Blue Valley Railroad.

The charges for construction of this road begin in 1881, and are for engineering expenses, track material, labor, etc., the bills and vouchers for which are regularly approved by the chief engineer and properly receipted.

The greater part of the construction is in 1886, the vouchers and bills for which were all examined and found to be approved by the chief engineer and properly receipted. Steel rails are charged at from $30 to $33.17 per ton; cedar crossties at 52 cents.

Guy C. Barton was the principal contractor. The total amount of construction charged against this road is $716,195.49, of which $574,052.95 was in 1886.

No. 7.—Manhattan, Alma and Burlingame Railroad.

The charges for construction on this road in 1880 are for grading and iron rails furnished from the store department of the Union Pacific Railway Company.

The rails are charged out at $45 and $59 per ton.

The total amount of construction is $129,401.96.

No. 8.—Atchison, St. Joseph and Mathenuy Railroad.

The only charge to construction of this road is in February, 1880. Cash paid to L. D. Tuthill, superintendent, for organization expenses, etc., $500. No subvouchers are filed in support of this payment.

No. 9.—Carbondale Branch, or Lawrence and Emporia Railroad.

There is charged to the construction of this road in 1880, $66,481.62. Of this amount $13,693.46 is a transfer from operating expenses to the construction account, on statement and request of S. T. Smith, general superintendent, Kansas Division. The only items I can see which are properly chargeable to construction on this account are for a telegraph line, $4,409.69, and some water stations, about $3,000; the remainder of the account seems to be for renewal of track, bridges, etc.

No grading was done or rails laid.

No. 10.—Kansas Central Railway.

The construction charged to this road is for the extension west of Clay Centre, in which the iron rails used are mostly rerolled rails, charged at $53 per ton, including the value of the old rails. The rerolling was done by the Kansas Rolling Mill Company, Kansas City.

The grading was done by the company and the track laying by Norton & Bishop.

Several of the vouchers and journal entries called for in the examination were not in the files and the clerk in charge reported that they had been sent to Boston.

The amount expended for construction of this road was $338,860.23.

No. 11.—Junction City and Fort Kearney Railroad.

The first charges to construction of this road are in 1880, for engineering expenses and right of way. The work was suspended during the years 1881, 1882, and 1883, but was resumed in 1884, during which year the charges for engineering, right of way, grading, rails, etc., are made from the various department reports.

In 1885 the charges are of the same nature as in 1884. Two bills in December, 1885, for $74,142.82, for cross-ties, rails, and fastenings, and station buildings, amounting to $74,142.82, are missing from the files.

The total amount charged to construction of this road is $208,931.82.

No. 12.—Solomon Railroad.

This road was acquired under the consolidation with the Kansas Pacific Railroad. The only charge to construction is $5,331.14, in 1880, for right of way, material, etc.

No. 13.—Salina and Southwestern Railroad.

This road is part of the Kansas Pacific system. The charges for construction begin in February, 1880, after the consolidation, the amount expended in that year being $21,810.46. There are no charges to construction in 1881. In 1882 a new track was built through the town of Salina, Kans., to connect with the main line of the Kansas Pacific Railway, the right of way, rails, ties, fastenings, etc., for which amounted to $25,340.77.

In 1884 there is a credit to the construction account of $4,958.61, for right of way, the same having been paid by the Kansas Pacific Railroad, leaving the total amount charged to construction $42,177.69.

No. 15.—Topeka, Frankfort and Marysville Railroad.

In 1886 there is charged to construction of this road $4,160.97, for engineering expenditures, for preliminary survey and location of road.

No. 16.—Oakley and Colby Railroad.

The first charges to construction of this road are in October, 1886. Charles Blackwell, of Omaha, is contractor for grading, etc.

The cross-ties, spikes, fastenings, etc., are charged up from the store department, but no rails are charged in this year. The bills, vouchers, etc., are all regularly approved and properly receipted.

Total amount charged to December 31, 1886, $57,125.17.

No. 17.—Colorado Central Railroad.

The charges for construction of this road are in 1877 and 1878, and are for iron rails, cross-ties, fastenings, and other track material, and freight on same; also for engine service on construction trains.

Rails are charged at $40 per ton. In 1878 there is charged for equipment $39,370 for 25 box cars, 1 passenger car, and 4 locomotives. The above charges are made from the various department reports, bills, etc., of the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

The amount expended for construction of this road is $457,432.17.

No. 19.—Denver, South Park and Pacific Railroad.

The first charges to construction of this road are in 1881. In this year I find charged to that account the following amounts for "coal lands development," on order of John Evans, president Denver, South Park and Pacific Railroad, viz:

E. 13339, E. S. Brooks, paid Mar. 31, 1881	$300.00
13760, E. S. Brooks, Apr. 11, 1881	500.00
14036, E. S. Brooks, Apr. 26, 1881	501.25
14042, C. R. Foster, Apr. 26, 1881	2,181.60
15481, John Hopkins, agent South Park Coal Company, paid June 17, 1881, for April pay-rolls and local bills in operating coal lands in "Gunnison district"	1,000.00
15482, Richard Forrest and William Connell, paid [illegible]ne 17, 1881, for assignment of claim for 320 acres of coal land	2,078.50

The vouchers for grading, masonry, bridging, right of way, etc., have all been carefully examined and found to be approved by the engineer in charge of the work and are all of them properly receipted.

The charges from the department reports for material and labor furnished in construction of this road are the usual and regular charges made for other construction work, the bills for which are certified by the engineer in charge.

The "Leadville Extension" of this road and the "Nathrop Cut-Off" were begun in 1883. The grading, etc., on the Leadville Extension was let to C. W. Collins & Co., of Omaha, who sublet the work to various parties.

Voucher E 45253, favor H. C. Newman for $5,762, paid April 22, 1884, "for sundry expenses incident to and incurred on account of right of way Leadville Extension of the Denver, South Park and Pacific Railroad," approved by S. H. H. Clark, general manager.

There are no papers or subvouchers of any kind on file in support of this voucher to show what these expenditures were for or to whom made.

The rails, fastenings, cross-ties, water-tanks, depots, etc., were furnished by the Union Pacific Railway Company, and charged from the department reports in the usual manner. The total cost of this road to December 31, 1886, is as follows:

Main line	$2,620,046.69
Leadville Extension	1,134,399.59
Nathrop Cut-Off	97,342.60

No. 20.—Greeley, Salt Lake and Pacific Railroad.

The grading of this road was done by C. W. Collins, contractor, of Omaha, who sublet it to various parties, to whom payments were made direct by the Union Pacific Railway Company on order of Collins. Vouchers for these payments, approved by the chief engineer or the engineer in charge, have been examined and found to be correct. One D. B. Stewart had a contract for cutting cross-ties from Government lands, for which he was paid 45 cents each for standard ties, and 22½ cents each for culls. The vouchers in his favor are supported by receipted pay-rolls, and are also receipted by Stewart. The pay-rolls are approved by L. Carter, superintendent timber and tie department.

In the payment to Stewart, September 4, 1882, of Voucher E, 29296, for $33,470.77, an overpayment of $19,404.95 was made, which was subsequently discovered and deducted from voucher in his favor for $24,959.05, May 9, 1883.

There is charged to construction account of this road $25,000, Voucher E, 16218, favor C. M. Tyler, for "47½ shares of stock of the Boulder and Central City Wagon Road, and all real estate and franchises belonging and pertaining to said road," "459½ shares herewith returned." There is also a pencil memorandum on this voucher, as follows: "Tyler to pay $250 per month as rental of road."

This voucher is certified as correct by H. C. Newman, but is not approved by any other officer of the company. It was paid by draft of H. C. Newman, dated Denver, June 27, 1881, favor C. M. Tyler, $25,000, and stamped as paid at Omaha, July 8, 1881.

I also find charged to right of way, Voucher E, 23453, favor Thos. C. Brainard, $500, "For money expended in securing the right of way through Water street, in Boulder, Colo., for the Greeley, Salt Lake and Pacific Railroad." This voucher is certified as correct by H. C. Newman, but not approved by any other officer of the company.

The depots, water-tanks, bridges, fencing, etc., were built and furnished by the Union Pacific Railway Company, and charged from the department and other reports, as well as the rails and fastenings.

The total cost of this road to December 31, 1886, was $1,466,346.48.

No. 21.—Georgetown, Breckenridge and Leadville Railroad.

The construction of this road was commenced in 1881; the expenditures in that year being nearly all for engineering.

In 1882 vouchers show that the grading was done under contract with Robert Given, of Denver, Colo., who sublet a portion of the work.

The vouchers for the right of way are all certified to by Edward R. French, but are not approved by any other officer of the company.

All other vouchers are properly approved and receipted.

Steel rails at $68.80 per ton. Cross-ties, track laying, and bridges are charged out through the different department reports, and are the regular and customary charges which have been made on the other roads.

Total construction expenditures to December 31, 1886, $432,597.60.

No. 22.—Denver, Marshall and Boulder Railroad Company, or Denver, Western and Pacific Railroad Company.

The first charge to construction of this road is in December 1881, on Voucher E, 22552, favor of Charles & Dillon, Denver, Colo., $40,000, being for "amount deposited in district court of Arapaho County, Colo., in the case of the Denver and Western Pacific Rwy. Co. vs. Geo. H. Bend et al. and Burlington and Colorado R. R. Co., intervenors, and on the part of the said petitioners, D. W. and P. R. R. Co."

Receipt signed by Charles & Dillon, and paid by draft of A. A. Egbert, superintendent, on F. D. Brown, cashier. There is no evidence on this voucher that this money was so deposited.

There are large cash payments made to T. J. Milner, chief engineer, for payment of pay-rolls, bills, etc., and for right of way, vouchers for which are approved by A. A. Egbert, superintendent, but not by any general officer of the company, nor are they supported by any subvouchers representing such payments, or showing to whom made.

In October, 1882, Voucher No. E, 30897, for Charles & Dillon, being for amount paid for Sidney Dillon, and at his request for assignment to him of account of Charles & Dillon for professional services for the Denver, Western and Pacific R. R. Co., as per agreement, the said account containing and being in full of all demands against said company to date for services, $3,375.23. Disbursements, $624.77. Total, $4,000.

Voucher receipted by Charles & Dillon, October 27, 1882, certified correct by A. J. Poppleton, attorney, but is not approved by any general officer of the company.

In February, 1882, an award was made by arbitrators in favor of Given & Abott for $64,400, which was paid on telegraphic order of Sidney Dillon from New York, through Willard Teller, of Denver, Colo., and voucher for that amount is receipted by him. The bills and vouchers in 1885 and 1886 are all approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted and in regular shape.

The total charge for construction to December 31, 1886, $450,879.38.

No. 23.—Denver and Middle Park Railroad.

The first charge to construction of this road is in January, 1884, E. 42549, favor W. A. Marlow, $5,500, as follows: "For payment in full to him of all the rights, franchises, and property of the Denver and Middle Park Railroad Company, and in consideration of the stipulations of a certain contract entered into this day between the said Marlow and the D. and M. P. R. R. Co."

By order of S. H. H. Clark, general manager, and by Erastus Young, auditor.

Voucher approved by Thomas L. Kimball, general manager; and is receipted without date by W. A. Marlow.

Stamped, paid January 15, 1884.

The remaining charges to this account in 1884 and 1885 are for engineering expenses, grading, iron rails, ties, track laying, bridging, etc., charged from various department reports and bills, and are approved by the chief engineer.

Total amount to Dec. 31, 1886, $32,993.90.

No. 24.—Cheyenne and Northern Railroad.

The charges to construction of this road are in 1886. The bills, vouchers, etc., for engineering, right of way, grading, steel rails, etc., are all approved by the chief engineer, and are properly receipted.

Steel rails are charged at $39.30 per ton, and cedar ties at 67 cents.

The total amount of construction in 1886 is $889,849.11.

No. 25.—Rawlins Branch.

The amounts charged to construction of this road are in the years 1881 and 1882, and are all for engineering expenses for location of road. The total amount is $4,633.71.

No. 26.—Laramie, North Park and Pacific Railroad.

There is charged to construction of this road in 1881, voucher E 21363, N. F. Spicer, $250, "for developing company coal lands," $250.

Voucher E 21365, G. A. Anderson, $52 per same, $52.

1882. The contract for grading this road was in favor C. W. Collins & Co. The tracklaying was also done by that firm.

Vouchers in favor of Levi Carter, superintendent, for cutting ties and timber on Government lands, as follows:

E 25069	$7,034.55
E 26352	2,679.80
E 26636	1,913.00
E 27413	3,045.80
	14,673.15

This amount is afterwards deducted from voucher favor Coe & Carter:

E 31174, for cross-ties	26,064.68
Less as above	14,673.15
Leaving amount paid Coe & Carter	11,391.53

This voucher is evidently receipted by Levi Carter, superintendent tie and timber department, Union Pacific Railway Company.

Voucher 22619, January 31, 1882, $5,000, favor J. W. Donnelan, agent, as follows:

F. D. BROWN, Cashier:

Please pay to J. W. Donnellan, agent for the owners of the stock and franchises of the Laramie, North Park and Pacific Railroad and Telegraph Company, and North Park and Grand River Valley Railroad and Telegraph Company, nine shares fully paid stock of each company, the entire issue having been assigned and transferred to the persons acting in behalf of the Union Pacific Railway Company, this payment being made for the stock and all rights obtained and held under the articles of incorporation of said companies, $5,000.

J. W. GANNETT,
Auditor.

Receipt signed by J. W. Donnellan, agent.

This voucher is not approved by any officer of the company. Attached to it are the following papers:

1. T—D. From Sidney Dillon to Thomas L. Kimball.

"Pay Fillmore and party as per agreement. I leave it for you and Poppleton to decide if the franchise should be used to cover our Soda Lake Line."

SIDNEY DILLON.

(Notation in pencil): "J. W. G. Notify Dickinson when to draw for this $5,000, and send you deeds. K."

2. (Pencil memo. as follows): "J. W. G. With Dickinson's explanation it seems safe to pay the $5,000. I think however the company ought to terminate the Brockway arrangement. (Signed) A. J. P."

3. A statement from E. Dickinson, giving details of transfers of stock in both companies, and that all books, maps, papers, seals, etc., have been turned over to him.

4. T—D. (E. Dickinson to Poppleton): Stating that Brockway had no other claim on either of the companies, and that there are no other contracts outstanding calling for any money outside of the $5,000.

The rails, fastenings, etc., were furnished through the store department; are charged out from the reports.

Amount charged to construction of this road, $66,473.43.

No. 27.—Union Pacific and Western Colorado Railroad.

This road was commenced in 1886. The first charges appear in October of that year. Wood & Bancroft of Omaha are the contractors.

Most of the charges are for preparatory work, surveys, and transportation of men, and material and tools, etc. In November some grading was done. The vouchers and bills for all these expenditures are approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted.

Total charge, $98,455.55.

No. 28.—Union and Western ... to Railway of Wyoming.

The charges to construction of this road are of the same general character as the preceding, and are all of them approved and receipted.

The contractors are Kilpatrick Brothers and Collins, of Omaha.

Amount charged to December 31, 1886, $74,992.60.

(For details, see Statement No. 27.)

No. 29.—Wyoming, Montana and Pacific Railroad.

The first charges for construction of this road appear in 1880, and are for engineering, expenses for surveys, etc., and some small organization expenses.

The next charge is in December, 1882, and is as follows, being a journal entry on the books:

CONSTRUCTION.

Wyoming, Montana and Pacific Railroad, to construction Union Division, Dr.

1882.
Dec. 31. For amount expended by bridge and building department on construction of machine and blacksmith shops at Cheyenne to December 31, 1882, charged to the latter account, should have been former $24,279.33

I certify the above entry is correct and should be made on the books of this company.

GEO. W. HALL,
Assistant Auditor.

The above entry is not approved by the auditor, nor are there any papers filed to support it.

The next charge is in February, 1883, and is for material and labor for machine and blacksmith shops at Cheyenne, $14,743.52.

There is no bill of details filed for this charge. The remainder of the charges to this account, in 1883, 1885, and 1886, are from the pay-rolls, and are for engineering expenses, with the exception of some small amounts for taxes.

No portion of this road has ever been built, and the only shops represented by the charges in this account are the shops of the Union Pacific R. R. in Cheyenne.

The total charge to construction is $77,172.97.

No. 30.—Montana Railway (including Stuart Branch).

The first charges for construction of this road are in 1882. The principal charges are in 1884, 1885, and 1886. In August of the latter year there is transferred from the construction account of the Utah and Northern Railway, by journal entry, as follows, viz:

"Material furnished and labor performed in the construction of the Montana Railway from April 1, 1881, to December 30, 1882, which has been charged to the contractors for building the Utah and Northern Railway, now credited that account (contractors Utah and Northern Railway) and charged to this account":

Grading	$170,608.87
Engineering	35,063.20
	205,672.07

In December, 1886, a transfer is made as follows: Amount heretofore charged to "surveys of new lines" now transferred, being expenses, etc., in surveying Stuart Branch, etc., $12,978.99.

The vouchers, bills, etc., charged in this account are all approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted.

Total amount charged to construction to December 31, 1886, $482,722.01.

No. 31.—Utah and Northern Railroad.

The first charges for construction of this road appear on the books in October, 1876, in an account entitled "Jay Gould for Utah and Northern Railroad Company;" $1,100 is charged in that month, the vouchers for which can not be found.

November 14, 1877, voucher 36,639, William Dunn, agent, Jay Gould, $2,000.

This amount is paid by W. B. Doddridge, agent at Ogden, on telegraphic order of S. H. H. Clark, general superintendent, per order President Dillon. Receipt of W. Dunn is filed as voucher.

April 26, 1878, voucher 38,464, Williams & Young, $6,308.88, "to be applied upon the Utah and Northern Railroad property sold by B. B. Young, master in chancery, to S. H. H. Clark, on the 3d April, 1878, in pursuance of the decree of foreclosure of the mortgages upon said property rendered by the third district court of Utah Territory in the suit of the Union Trust Company of New York, v. the Utah and Northern Railroad Company, that sum being the proportion of cash required by said decree to be paid upon said purchase."

WILLIAMS & YOUNG, Attorneys, etc.

The above paid by Doddridge, agent, on telegraphic order of S. H. H. Clark, general superintendent.

June 24, 1878, vouchers 39,083, 39,084, 39,085, paid as follows:

[Copy of memorandum attached to voucher 39,083.]

"This bond, $451, Utah & Northern Railroad, in to-day's remittance, is for J. Gould, purchased by order of S. H. H. Clark, general superintendent, for $400. Mr. Gannett has full information as to the matter."

W. B. DODDRIDGE, Agent.

Amount of voucher, $400.

July 19. By cash, 17 Butler County bonds, Nos. 34 to 50	15,725.00
		53,610.00
Nov. 30. The account is credited as follows:
Cash for 14 Douglas County Bridge bonds, $779.17	10,908.38
Cash for 7 Douglas County Bridge bonds, $750	5,250.00
Cash for 3 Douglas County Bridge bonds, $779.17	2,337.50

The following credits appear:

Jan. 7. By cash for coupons	245.00
Jan. 9. By cash for 7 Douglas County bridge bonds, $750	5,250.00
Jan. 31. By contractors for building Utah and Northern Rwy., for expenditures north of Blackfoot, as per statement of W. Dunn, superintendent of construction, Mr. Gould having assigned his contract for building north of Blackfoot	31,706.37
		37,201.37

By reference to the detailed statement submitted with this report, it will be seen that large cash payments were made up to March 31, 1879, to Washington Dunn, agent for Jay Gould, in constructing this road. These payments were nearly all made through W. B. Doddridge, agent Union Pacific Railroad Company, at Ogden, on telegraph orders, either from S. H. H. Clark, general superintendent, or J. W. Gannett, treasurer Utah and Northern Railroad Company.

There are no papers on file to show how this money was expended, nor are any of the cash vouchers approved by the general officers of the company, the only papers on file being the receipts of Washington Dunn, agent, and the telegrams to the agent at Ogden directing the payments to be made.

In October, 1879, these cash payments are resumed but are made to G. W. Thatcher, superintendent, to the amount of $33,000, which closes the account.

In addition to the cash payments, this account is charged with track material, consisting of iron rails, from the Laramie Rolling Mill, spikes, and bolts, etc., also for a locomotive, passenger and freight cars, the latter from the Jeffersonville Cars Works. Rails are charged at $45 per ton.

The total amount charged to the account of Jay Gould, contractor for the Utah and Northern Railroad up to October 24, 1879, after deducting the credits given above, is $40<,365.55.

In January, 1879, a new account, is opened, entitled "contractors Utah and Northern Railway," which is continued until December 31, 1884.

The first charge to this account is the amount credited to Jay Gould for assignment of his contract north of Blackfoot, $31,706.37.

March 19, voucher 42047, G. W. Thatcher, superintendent, $6,500 is cash payment by agent at Ogden on telegraph order of N. Shelton, cashier. No subvouchers to support this payment.

The cash payments in 1879 are all supported by subvouchers, which are approved by the superintendent of construction and are all properly receipted. The bills for rails and fastenings from the Union Pacific Railroad Company are approved and certified. Rails were bought from the Elmira Iron and Steel Rolling Mill Company, New York, at $36 to $41 per ton. F. O. B. at Elmira, New York.

In June, 1880, I find the following charge for payments made to Messrs. Thatcher and others through the Boston office:

[Copy of voucher.]

Utah and Northern R. R. Co. to Moses Thatcher, Dr.

1880

June 23. For services in aiding the extension of the road..... $16,650

Receipted by Moses Thatcher.

Approved:

JAY GOULD.

Approved:

SIDNEY DILLON.

Also voucher favor Moses Thatcher, Wm. B. Preston, and Geo. W. Thatcher, as follows:

The Utah and Northern R. R. Co. to Moses Thatcher, Wm. B. Preston, and G. W. Thatcher, Dr.

June 23. To agreed compensation under contract for procuring a title to the right of way from Ogden City to Idaho territorial line; the money herein receipted for being paid to them on the terms specified in their written agreement and guaranty of even date..... $10,000

Receipted by Moses Thatcher for himself, and as attorney-in-fact for William B. Preston and G. W. Thatcher.

Approved:

SIDNEY DILLON.

Letter of Henry McFarland, treasurer, Boston, Mass., to J. W. Gannett, auditor, transmitting these vouchers and advising him they are charged to his account under date June 25, 1880.

The cash payments during 1880 are all supported by subvouchers, which are approved by the superintendent of construction and properly receipted. The bills for rails, etc., from the Union Pacific Railroad Company are of the same character as in 1879, and are certified and approved by the proper officers.

In 1881 the cash payments are of the same general character as in 1880; they are all supported by properly approved and receipted vouchers.

The bills from the Union Pacific Railway Company are all certified and approved. Steel rails are purchased from the Joliet Steel Company at $63.30 per ton, and Silloon steel from the Elmira Company at $53.50.

The vouchers for cash payments in 1882 are all supported by subvouchers, which are approved by the chief engineer of the Union Pacific Railway Company and are properly receipted. In April the practice of making cash payments ceases, except for vouchers which had already been sent out, and payments are made direct by the Union Pacific Railway Company on the vouchers of that company. These vouchers are all approved by the chief engineer and are receipted in proper manner.

The rails charged in this year are re-rolled iron rails 50 pounds, from Laramie Rolling Mill at $57.50 per ton.

In 1883 the construction work on this road was almost entirely suspended, the largest amount charged being in October on voucher favor of the Western Union Telegraph Company for construction of telegraph lines, $8,514.95, being one-half the cost of same. There are credits to the account for material, etc., transferred to main line, to amount of $25,379.58, leaving a credit balance to construction account in this year of $1,239.92.

In 1884 the construction work was resumed, the vouchers being of the same general character as in previous years. They are all approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted. In July of this year the Butte extension was commenced and there was expended upon it to December 31 $78,609.41, all of the vouchers for which are regularly approved by the chief engineer.

With this year, 1884, the account of the "contractors Utah and Northern Railroad" is closed.

The total amount charged to this account for expenditures on the main line from January 1, 1876, to December 31, 1884, was		$3,004,943.33
Less for the following credit in August, 1886: Material furnished and labor performed in the construction of the Montana Railway, from April 1, 1881, to December 31, 1882, which has been charged to the contractors for building the Utah and Northern Railway, now transferred to construction Montana Railway:
Grading	$170,608.81
Engineering	35,063.20
		205,672.01
		2,799,271.32
Add for Butte extension		78,609.41
Total contractors' account		2,877,880.41

The vouchers and bills charged to construction of this road during 1885 and 1886 are all regularly approved by the chief engineer and properly receipted. The total amount expended during these years was $93,141.28.

The total expenditures for construction of this road to December 31, 1886, were $3,379,387.56, as shown by the detailed statement submitted herewith.

No. 32.—Oregon Short Line.

1881. The work in 1881 for grading, tunnels, etc., is all done by C. W. Collins and C. W. Collins & Co., vouchers for which have been passed, approved by J. Blickensderfer, chief engineer.

There is one voucher, No. E, 20343, favor of Coe & Carter, of Omaha, for cross-ties delivered at Logan River, Utah, August and September, $22,431.29, certified as correct by G. W. Thatcher, but not approved by any general officer of the company, paid November 11, 1881; 52½ cents for red pine ties, and 42½ cents for white pine.

There are also a number of vouchers, aggregating $53,591.51, in favor of Levi Carter, superintendent, for cutting cross-ties and timber on Government lands. These vouchers are certified as correct by Levi Carter, superintendent timber and tie department, and are not approved by any general officer of the company.

They are supported by pay-rolls headed "Timber department Union Pacific Railway Company." In many cases the receipts on these pay-rolls, instead of being signed by the men, a note is made, "Received by U. O. store," or "Settled through U. O. store." In other cases the receipt is signed "Received payment through the Camp store of Coe & Carter." The receipt on the above-named voucher, favor Coe & Carter, is evidently signed by Levi Carter, who, as an employé of the company, certifies to the correctness of the pay-rolls and vouchers for cutting ties and timber from Government lands.

1882. The work for grading, etc., this year is, as before noted, all done by C. W. Collins and C. W. Collins & Co., and Collins & Stevens, of Omaha, and vouchers approved by Chief Engineer Blickensderfer.

Voucher E, 23842, favor Rust & Cooledge, of Chicago, for building iron bridge over Snake River, on account	$21,250.00
Voucher E, 25247, favor C. W. Collins & Co., for track-laying, at $300 per mile, 43 miles, less 15 per cent	10,965.00
Voucher E, 29359, favor Saint Louis Ore and Steel Company, for 970$\frac{1}{2240}$ tons steel, at $57	35,336.82

Steel rails were also purchased from the Union Iron and Steel Company, of Chicago.

The payments to Levi Carter, superintendent, on account of pay-rolls for cutting ties on Government lands were $99,155.77, and to Coe & Carter for ties delivered, $140,075.08.

1883. Grading, track-laying, etc., in this year is all done by C. W. Collins & Co. and Collins & Stevens.

Voucher E, 34235, for C. W. Collins & Co., $52,878.77, bears the following indorsement: "Approved at request of Pres't Dillon, but subject to any review or corrections hereafter to be made. Signed, J. Blickensderfer, chief eng'r."

Voucher E, 34759, C. W. Collins & Co., $100,000, being an advance on March estimate for grading on Wood River Division, paid April 4, 1883, indorsed as follows: "Approved per Mr. Dillon's order. Signed, J. Blickensderfer, chief eng'r."

Voucher E, 34767, C. W. Collins & Co., $70,000, for advance on March estimate, Wood River Division, paid April 9, 1883, is indorsed as follows: "Estimates made at request and under guaranty of Mr. Dillon, and approval subject to same. Signed, J. Blickensderfer, chf. eng'r."

Voucher E, 34863, C. W. Collins & Co., for advance on March estimates, Wood River Division, paid April 10, 1883, is indorsed as follows: "Approved as per Mr. Dillon's request and guarantee subject thereto. Signed, J. Blickensderfer, chf. eng'r."

Voucher E, 35322, C. W. Collins & Co., $235,000, for advance on estimates for April work, paid April 26, 1883. Approved, J. Blickensderfer, chf. eng'r, by C. C. V.

The following correspondence is attached to this voucher:

[Collins & Stevens, contractors Oregon Short Line.]

No. 1.

J. BLICKENSDERFER, Esq.,
Chf. Engineer U. P. Ry. Co., Omaha, Neb.:

DEAR SIR: Payments have been made and liabilities incurred for work actually performed on Oregon Short Line Rwy. west of section 314, including *Wood River Branch and Shoshone Yard, to the amount of two hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars ($235,000.00) over and above the total of all payments and guarantees made to us; a full statement of which in detail we will furnish as soon as it can be prepared.

Yours, truly,

C. W. COLLINS & Co.

No. 2.

Mr. BROWN:

One of your $75,000.00 cks., dep't with First National Bank here, who agree to allow us use of money, and hold check eight or ten days, which will be done unless you wire "let it come." Balance dep't with G. D. & Co., and you have them probably are this. Are gradually drawing away from last-named "shop."

Yours, truly,

STROHM.

(NOTE by A. J. McD.): "Mr. Brown" is F. D. Brown, cashier U. P. Ry. Co., at Omaha. "G. D. & Co." is the banking firm of Guthrie, Dooly & Co., of Ogden, Utah. "Strohm" is, I think, the managing clerk of C. W. Collins & Co.

Voucher E, 36021, C. W. Collins & Co., $300,000, being for advance on April and May work west of section 314, including Wood River Branch.

Letter from C. W. Collins & Co., similar to that attached to Voucher E, 35322, is attached to this voucher, which is regularly approved by J. Blickensderfer, chief engineer.

Voucher E, 36321, C. W. Collins & Co., $90,778.95, being advance on April work west of section 314, including Wood River Division, similar in all respects to former vouchers.

Voucher E, 36538, $7,000, paid June 21, 1883; E. 36746, $160,000, paid June 27, 1883; Voucher E, 36747, $162,900, paid June 29, 1883, are all favor of C. W. Collins & Co., and are similar in character to those already given.

Voucher E, 36954, C. C. W. & Co., $73,000; E, 37255, C. W. C. & Co., $75,000; 37354, C. W. C. & Co., $218,595, are all for advances account of June work.

1884. The vouchers in this year are of the same general character. The construction vouchers are all approved by the chief engineer and the general manager. The telegraph line was built by the Western Union Telegraph Company, vouchers being paid to them for one-half of the cost of the same.

*(Pencil note): Including Wood River Branch, amount of $235,000.00 would not cover.

Voucher E, 46368, favor Kilpatrick Bros., Omaha, $11,004.67, for lost time in track-laying, by reason of track bed not being ready. The receipt is signed Kilpatrick Bros., by W. C. Strohm.

1885 and 1886. There are but very few charges to this account from vouchers; they are all approved by the chief engineer and are properly receipted.

Taking up the department bills and reports, I find in 1881 that large shipments of iron rails were made from the Laramie rolling-mill, which was then being run by the company. Large quantities of cross-ties were shipped from Omaha, together with spikes, splices, washers, and track material generally. Steel rails were also purchased from the Joliet Rolling Mill Company, and shipped through the supply department to this road.

The freight bills on this material were very large and must have very largely augmented the earnings of the main line.

In 1882 the shipments of steel rails were almost entirely from the Joliet Steel Company, and the Union Iron and Steel Company, of Chicago.

In November, 1882, I find ten locomotives charged to the Oregon Short Line, as follows:

Eight 8-wheel Grant locomotives, 5-foot drivers, Union Pacific Nos. 19, 20, 16, 43, 44, 45, 47, 18, renumbered Oregon Short Line 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, at $9,500 each	$76,000.00
Two 10-wheel Taunton engines, 18 by 24 cylinders, 4-foot 6-inch drivers, Union Pacific Nos. 55 and 51, renumbered Oregon Short Line Nos. 7 and 8, at $13,750	27,500.00
	103,500.00
In December another Union Pacific engine was turned over to the Oregon Short Line	13,750.00

I have no means of knowing how long these engines had been in use on the Union Pacific Railway, but would say the prices are about the same as for new engines at that time.

The steel rail furnished by the Joliet and Union Companies was 52 pounds, and the price charged the Oregon Short Line at Omaha, $61.25 per ton.

1883. The transfers of the Union Pacific Railway locomotive engines to Oregon Short Line is still continued at the same prices.

Two baggage and express cars, Union Pacific Railway, were renumbered and relettered for Oregon Short Line and turned over at cost to that road of	$5,643.54

Iron rails for about 28 miles of road were charged from the Laramie Rolling Mills, 58 pounds, at $49. The price of steel rails, 52 pounds, in this year is $44.25 per ton.

1884. The charges from department reports in this year are principally for construction of bridges and buildings, such as engine-houses, shops, station buildings, section houses, snow-sheds, etc. I find the bills are all approved by the chief engineer and certified as correct charges to the construction account.

During the years 1885 and 1886 the charges from department reports are of the same general character as in previous years. The bills are all approved by the chief engineer and certified by him as proper charges to the construction account.

The total cost of this road to December 31, 1886, is as follows:

Main line	$14,104,649.14
Ketchum Extension and Wood River Branch	194,772.41
Boisé Branch	43,721.77
Total	14,343,143.32

Oregon Short Line (Wood River Branch, Ketchum Extension).

The construction of Ketchum Extension commenced in 1884.

Voucher E, 45926, favor J. M. Eddy for grading, $8,791.20.

Voucher E, 47227, favor J. M. Eddy for grading, $43,309.13. A memorandum on this voucher directs payment to be made to Utah Construction Company, but receipt is signed J. M. Eddy.

The vouchers in this period are all properly approved and receipted.

The steel rails are from the Joliet Steel Company, at $44.75 per ton, and St. Louis Ore and Steel Company, at $42.90 per ton. Cross-ties are charged out from the department reports at the usual prices. Bridges, trestles, and depot buildings are also charged out from department reports.

The total cost of the Ketchum Extension, including the Wood River Branch, is $194,772.41.

No. 33.—Utah Southern Railroad.

The cash payments in this account in 1879 were all made to Barney & Smith Manufacturing Company, of Dayton, Ohio, for freight-cars, amounting to $82,000.

The most of the rails furnished for this road were from the Laramie rolling-mill in 1879 and 1880, at $45 per ton. In 1880 some rails were also purchased from the Allentown Rolling Mill Company, Pennsylvania, and from the Glendower Company, Pennsylvania, at $45.10 per ton.

The locomotives sold to this company were second-hand, having been in use on the Union Pacific Railway. The prices are $6,000 and $6,500 each.

The total amount charged to construction in 1879 and 1880 is $890,978.92.

No. 34.—The Summit County or Echo and Park City Railroad.

This road was begun in 1880. The work of grading was done by Cluff, Eldridge & Co., Echo, Utah. The vouchers were all approved by J. Blickensderfer, chief engineer, and are properly receipted. The last voucher in their favor, E 13101, paid March 21, 1881, $11,370.08, is for an additional allowance of 15 per cent. on the earth and rock work grading, which is approved by Chief Engineer Blickensderfer.

The rails used are from the Laramie rolling-mill, and are charged out at $57.50 per ton. All other material, such as splices, spikes, bolts, cross-ties, etc., is charged out from the department reports.

The expenditures for construction of this road are $471,893.70.

No. 35.—Salt Lake and Western Railroad of Utah.

The first charges to construction account of this road are in December, 1881, and are for sundry cash payments made to W. W. Riter, from June 23 to December 29, 1881; also, for steel rails and track material charged through the department reports and bills.

The cash payments made during 1881, according to the books of the Union Pacific Railway Company, were $244,000. The construction books of the Salt Lake and Western Railroad, kept by Mr. Riter (which I have examined), show the amount of cash received during this period to have been $294,000, a difference of $50,000, which was received, according to Mr. Riter's books, October 12, 1881. This discrepancy is explained in the following manner:

In organizing the Salt Lake and Western Railroad of Nevada, it was necessary under the laws of that State to deposit 10 per cent. with the secretary of the Territory. This money was remitted to Mr. Riter from the Boston office. Subsequently the construction of this road was abandoned and the $50,000 in the hands of Mr. Riter was, by telegram to Mr. Gannett, dated October 10, 1881, transferred to the Salt Lake and Western Railroad of Utah, and used by him in the construction of that road.

No entries of this transaction were made on the books of the operating department at Omaha because the money was remitted from the Boston office, nor was it corrected in that office until November 24, 1886.

I have had the original vouchers for the construction of this road, together with the books, brought from Salt Lake City, and have examined the same and checked them against the charges made on the Union Pacific books, and find them to be correct with the exception of the $50,000 item above mentioned (for which an entry should now be made upon the books of the operating department at Omaha).

There are also some bills for labor and material charged on the Union Pacific books which have not been taken up by Mr. Riter in his accounts.

The vouchers are all of them properly approved and receipted and the books of construction are kept in a plain and intelligible manner.

The correspondence attached to the detailed statement of construction of this road will fully explain the status of the $50,000 transferred from the Salt Lake and Western Railroad of Nevada to the same road of Utah.

The total amount charged to construction of this road to December 31, 1886, is $917,290.75.

EXHIBIT ANDERSON.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION,
San Francisco, September 29, 1887.

DEAR SIR: I submit herewith report of the examination made of the "material on hand" account of the Union Pacific Railway. By reference to Exhibit A it will be seen that the method of keeping the account was improper.

On April 30, 1880, July 31, 1881, September 30, 1881, and February 28, 1882, the account is charged with "rails to Omaha store" and operating expenses credited, thus decreasing the amount of operating expenses and increasing the material on hand. The amounts are carried for a time and then credited back to material and charged to operating expenses. It is simply a manipulation of the accounts to make a better showing of its business.

Material account December 31, 1880, is charged with balance of "surplus of inventory" and miscellaneous earnings credited, thus increasing miscellaneous earnings. On December 31, 1883, this method is followed, except that the surplus or shortage is posted separately to the different accounts. On December 31, 1884, by authority of O. W. Mink, assistant treasurer, the material account is credited with the depreciation in value, etc., to the amount being charged to Boston office. These entries, being an excess of credits, reduced the value of material on hand $448,148.15, which includes shortage and depreciation in values.

In February, 1876, material on hand was charged $10,000 for amount paid C. S. Bushnell for services, etc. (See Exhibit B, under letter of advice of E. H. Rollins, treasurer.)

With these exceptions no other items appear in the account which do not properly belong to it.

Yours, respectfully,

H. J. ANDERSON, Accountant.

RICHARD F. STEVENS, Esq.,
Chief Accountant, United States Pacific Railway Commission.

REPORT

TO THE

HON. ROBERT E. PATTISON,

CHAIRMAN UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION,

RELATIVE TO THE AFFAIRS OF THE CENTRAL BRANCH UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

BY G. F. PERRENOUD, ACCOUNTANT.

REPORT OF G. F. PERRENOUD.

Reporting upon those matters in regard to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, which under the act creating the United States Pacific Railway Commission should be investigated by the accountants, it may not be amiss to give in chronological order the salient points of that road's history.

Incorporated as the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad by the legislature of the Territory of Kansas, by act approved February 11, 1859, it secured by agreement ratified January 1, 1864, from the Hannibal and Saint Joseph Railroad Company all the rights granted to the latter corporation by act of Congress of July 1, 1862, which empowered it to build a railroad "for 100 miles in length next the Missouri River." With the exception of preliminary surveys, there seems to have been nothing done towards the construction of the road up to the autumn of 1865. At about this time Mr. William Osborn, who had on May 9 of that year procured the contract for building and equipping the road, it appears received from its officers the company's promissory note of $50,000 towards work to be performed. Previously, and on March 27, 1865, the company authorized the issuance of its bonds to the amount of $1,600,000, securing the same by a first mortgage on its road and franchises. At a stockholders' meeting held on November 20, 1866, the name of the road was changed from that of the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad to that of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, to take effect on January 1, 1867. The bonds authorized to be issued commenced to be disposed of in March, 1866, and from the proceeds of these and the sale of stock options part of the money furnished for the construction of the line was procured. At about this time the United States made the first payment of its bonds to the company, making then and thereafter the following payments:

Dates.	Bonds.	Payments.
August 2, 1866	320	$320,000
December 10, 1866	320	320,000
May 4, 1867	320	320,000
December 5, 1867	320	320,000
January 24, 1868	320	320,000
Total	.....	1,600,000

These payments illustrate the progress made in building the line, every 20 miles constructed entitling the company to receive from the United States, in bonds at the rate of $1,600 per mile, the sum of $320,000; and it shows that previous to January, 1868, the road was reported, and doubtless sworn to, as completed; while in point of fact this was not the case until some months afterwards, if the report of the contractor is to be credited, for it was not until September 8, 1868, that he wrote announcing the "completion of the road to the 100-mile point." Upon the bonds of the United States, amounting to $1,600,000, the company realized in currency $1,577,651.55, entailing a loss upon it of $22,348.45.

When the road was reported completed as above, the cost of the same and of its equipment, as shown by the contractor's books and charged in the books of the company (Kansas books), was for—

Construction		$2,306,430.42
Equipment, which consisted of 6 engines, 3 passenger, 20 box, 80 platform, 14 hand, 10 drop, and 2 boarding cars, also shop, tools, etc		243,924.52
		2,550,344.94
Subsequently bills contracted for construction and equipment (not included in the above) were paid by the company and amount to		181,002.29
Showing the original cost of the road and equipment to have been		2,731,347.23

To meet the obligations of the company for the construction of the line, and the interest upon its first-mortgage bonds, the officers of the road disposed of more bonds of the authorized issue of 1,600, and realized nominally upon certificates of stock of the company; so that they eventually received for—

10,000 shares of the capital stock, par value	$1,000,000.00
1,600 bonds (first mortgage), par value	1,600,000.00
	2,600,000.00
A total sum of	859,837.67
Entailing a loss upon the company of	1,740,162.33
And with that already reported on United States bonds	22,348.45
A total loss in disposing of the securities of the company of	1,762,510.78

The operating books of the road show until 1873 yearly net income credit balances, and these at the end of 1872 aggregate $143,118.81.

This, however, is but a fallacious income showing, the coupons paid for interest on the first-mortgage bonds by the New York office not being considered in that income balance.

The year 1873 seems to have been a disastrous one for the company, as not only for the first time in its existence (or since) did the operating expenses of the road exceed its earnings, but the New York office, which up to that time had received large sums from the sale of the company's lands, that year received but little from that, or in fact from any source, and it seems to have been unable to meet the interest charge upon its first-mortgage bonds, so that, after paying a few of the coupons maturing in May of that year, it defaulted upon the others, and from that day did not resume the payment of interest upon its bonded debt until 1879, when the coupons maturing in May were paid. During that year an arrangement was made with the holders of coupons for defaulted interest whereby they accepted in settlement of the coupons they held funded-interest bonds covering the amount due for the coupons and the interest upon the same, and the bonds so issued amount to $630,000, upon which interest at 7 per cent. has since been regularly paid, making thus a compound interest payment. In January, 1874, the road appears to have been unable to meet other obligations beside its interest, for it issued certificates of indebtedness, secured by mortgage on the lands of the company, for $251,965.94. These were issued to various parties and were all subsequently redeemed, mostly from the proceeds of land sales. The policy of the road seems to have been to encourage the building of lines of railroad beyond its own, and to that end it loaned its credit and advanced money for the construction of the branches which eventually culminated into the roads terminating at Washington, Lenora, Warwick, Burr Oak, and Alton. The first of these roads completed was the Waterville and Washington Railroad, whose line this company leased on December 15, 1876, from January 1, 1877; then the Republican Valley Railway, leased from January 1, 1878, followed by the Atchison, Solomon Valley and Denver Railway, August 20, 1878, and the Atchison, Republican Valley and Pacific Railway on January 1, 1879. These roads, and the Atchison and Denver Railway, having first been consolidated under the name of the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railroad, was leased to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, on December 27, 1879, for a term of twenty-five years, the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad agreeing to pay a rental of $1,000 per year per mile, and to keep the road in good state of repair. On the same day the Atchison, Jewell County and Western Railroad was also leased for the same period of time and upon the same terms. At about this time the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad was leased to the Missouri Pacific Railway, the latter road paying over to this company as a consideration the net earnings of the operated line and of its leased roads.

This the Missouri Pacific Railway has regularly done since the 1st of January, 1880, and the amount so returned for rental will appear hereafter.

In respect to the account-keeping of the company, I would say that, except as to the operating books, the method, or, more properly speaking, the want of method observed, is open to serious objections.

The accounting books of this corporation were kept by the treasurer in New York, where the general office of the company was, and consist of a cash-book, a journal, and a ledger. In these books the existence of the railroad and its operations are ignored, they treating solely of the road's obligations, but this in a most incomplete and unsatisfactory manner. The condition of the ledger is particularly objectionable. Had this book been that of a private individual whose annual transactions amounted to a few hundred dollars, it would, as kept, have been discreditable, and how much more so when used as the medium to represent the interests of many in a corporation whose transactions amount to millions. The books cover a period of about fourteen years, and the cash-book indicates payments of $6,283,920.52, and yet not a single voucher covering any of these transactions, whether of cash or otherwise, for that whole period of time has been produced, although called for. These should be obtained, and with the assistance of the cash-book and journal the ledger should be rewritten, if it be desirable that more facts than those already obtained should be secured.

The operating ledgers, which were kept in Kansas, show clearly and continuously the workings of the railroad and the distribution of its revenue, but they fail to indicate for the years 1877, 1878, and 1879 the division of earnings and expenses as between the road and its leased lines, a division which was made in subsequent years.

To cover the want of such a set of books as should have existed since 1866, representing in one whole the various matters pertaining to the road, there was opened in December, 1878, a general ledger, but it was inaugurated by a system of account-keeping which, to say the least, is rather unique, balances having been brought forward on January 1, 1879, from the then current operating ledger to the general ledger being opened, and from the last they were carried back to the operating ledger nominally in December, 1878, were, through the medium of a journal used for that purpose solely (the then current one being ignored) and without a word of detail, all the general accounts were balanced by each other, and through the same medium an entirely new set of accounts, the balance of which would appear to have been arbitrarily established, were opened. The results may have been just, but the honesty of the account-keeping can only be tested by the rewriting of the ledger, as already suggested, and this should also be done to establish the correctness of many journal entries made immediately before the road passed into the hands of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company.

Reporting specifically upon the matters called for by the act of March 3, 1887, I find: That the books and accounts of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad Company have not been so kept as to show the net earnings of the road. They were so kept until 1877, when the Waterville and Washington Railroad was leased. During that year and the two subsequent ones, when other roads were also leased, the earnings and expenses of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad and the leased lines were merged, and it was not until 1880, when the road passed under the control of the Missouri Pacific Railway, that they were separated. Then and since the earnings and expenses of the road and of its leased lines were and have been kept distinct and separate. Appended, however, as Exhibit A, is a statement showing the net earnings from 1868 to 1886 (both included); the years 1877, 1878, and 1879, being there treated as if no leased lines then existed, no other treatment being possible. The earnings and expenses in detail, and for each year, form part of this exhibit.

The matter of constructive mileage allowance was alluded to in a former report, in which it was shown that the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad allowed to the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railroad, and to the Atchison, Jewell County and Western Railroad a constructive mileage of 1½ miles to 1 mile, and although this may be the practice observed by roads generally, relative to their feeders, I think that such an allowance is exceptional as made by one road to another of over twice its mileage. Before determining the amount due to the United States, by reason of mistaken accounting resulting from the allowance above alluded to, it would perhaps be best to first ascertain whether the divisions, as made, are not to be allowed in the accounting, for a determination of this difference would entail great labor, besides, in the case of this road, the United States withholds, in excess of its requirements under the law, a sum sufficient to cover any difference which may exist, as will be seen by reference to Exhibit I.

There appear no accounts upon the books showing that any amount has been deducted from the gross earnings by way of rebate, percentage of business done, monthly or other payments, but under various names pooling accounts were kept, these having ultimately been closed by being passed into the freight, or directly into the income account, and the amount paid in excess of that received the books show to have been $12,810.31, of which the amount passed directly into income account was $10,674.20, and deducted from gross freight earnings $3,325.31; added to gross freight earnings $1,189.20, or a difference of $2,136.11; total, $12,810.31.

The dividends declared by the company and paid to the stockholders consist of two, the first being one of 5 per cent, or $50,000, declared

October 21, 1885; and the other of 10 per cent., or $100,000, declared December 1, 1886.

At the time these dividends were declared the books of the company showed that there existed a deficit of income.

The balance-sheet of December 1, 1885 (Exhibit B, No. 7), shows the income credit balance of the main line to have been $713,786.32, while the deficit income balance of the leased lines was $370,769.42, or an excess of income of $343,016.90. But, although it may be a question whether the interest paid by the United States on the bonds advanced to the road, and which at that time amounted to $1,735,259.66, is a just charge against the income, it can scarcely be questioned that the amount paid as interest on the company's first-mortgage bonds in the form of "funded interest bonds," and debited as funded interest, should be deducted from the income, and this amounts to $629,570.74, showing a deficit of income in 1885 of $286,553.84.

The balance-sheet of December 31, 1886 (Exhibit B, No. 8), shows the income credit balance of the main line to be $874,542.81, and the deficit in income of leased lines $316,313 13, or an excess of income of $558,229.68.

Again, ignoring the interest due to the United States, and which this year amounted to $1,831,259.66, and taking cognizance only of the funded interest of $629,570.74, shows a deficit of income in 1886 of $71,341.06.

As to whether new bonds or stock have been issued, I find that no new stock was, but that there was issued in 1879 funded interest bonds bearing 7 per cent. interest, and amounting to $630,000. These were for coupons unpaid up to that time and interest thereon; and these bonds are alluded to by the company as having priority over the United States subsidy bonds.

As Exhibit C is submitted a list of directors of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, who are also interested of record in the roads with which that company has leases. Whether their interest is personal is not shown, but presumably most of them represent in the other roads the interests of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad.

In the early days of the road large sums of money seem to have been borrowed by the company, but the accounting books of that period, as before observed, are most unreliable, hence no record of moneys thus borrowed has been made. At the present time there seems to be neither money or credit loaned or borrowed (excepting the guarantees hereinafter alluded to), and the items which in December, 1886, the company reported as accounts payable, aggregating $120,670.90, and which consist of amounts due on dividends, $3,250, and due to the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific R. R. and the Atchison, Jewell County and Western R. R., $117,420.90; total, $120,670.90. The amount due to those companies results from the lease of their roads, and the accounts receivable, which amount to $515,171.87, and consist of land contracts, $79,372.87; due by the Missouri Pacific Railway, $63,314.31; due by the Union Pacific Railway Company, $372,484.69.

The item of debit to the Union Pacific Railway Company arises from the fact that that corporation acts as the treasurer of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, hence that balance I suppose should be considered as cash on hand.

The amounts of money, stocks, bonds, and passes for which sufficient or detailed vouchers have not been given or filed with the records of the company, cover all the sums paid by and in fact all the transactions of the company in New York from 1866 to 1880, there having been no vouchers produced and none existing, so I have been informed.

Therefore, to submit a statement of the amount paid as above would necessitate copying all the books.

In Exhibit D, a "statement of legal and extraordinary expenditures," appear the record of payments made for the passage of bills, etc.

As to whether this road has expended any of its moneys or other assets in the construction or to aid in the construction of other roads, or invested of its moneys or other assets in the stocks or bonds of any corporations, etc., I find that there was paid to the Atchison Depot Company, at various times up to February 28, 1882, for which the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad is to obtain, or did obtain, stock—but the number of shares or their par value is not stated—certain sums of money aggregating $9,000, and this sum appears upon the books of the company as an asset, known as Atchison Depot Company stock.

There was advanced by the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad towards the construction of the various roads, etc., built beyond its own line, various sums of money, which, in 1880, resulted in the following debit balances to the following roads, etc.:

Waterville and Washington Rwy	$18,990.40
Atchison, Solomon Valley and Denver R. R.	38,378.06
Republican Valley Rwy	9,624.18
Atchison, Republican Valley and Pacific Rwy	5,642.40
Atchison, Jewell County and Western R. R	33,876.00
Atchison, Colorado and Pacific R. R	33,327.58
Washington town site	1,503.17
	141,341.79

These sums were subsequently debited to J. P. Pomeroy, contractor, who settled therefor by the cancellation of—

Accounts payable of the company, amounting to	$42,004.03
And the transfer to it of the following:
1,050 shares stock Atchison, Jewell County and Western R. R., par value $105,000	11,577.82
7,959 shares stock Atchison, Colorado and Pacific R. R., par value $795,900	87,759.94
	141,341.79

And at above figures the blocks of stock appear in the books of the company among its assets. In respect to these roads and the Atchison Depot Company the records of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad Company show that this company on January 12, 1874, guaranteed the payment of the bonds issued by the Atchison Bridge Company, but the amount so guaranteed the minutes fail to state. It also, on December 10, 1879, guaranteed the payment of the first-mortgage bonds of the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railroad to the amount of $4,070,000, and of the Atchison, Jewell County and Western Railroad to the amount of $542,000, thus creating on behalf of those two roads a contingent liability of $4,612,000.

There will be found as Exhibit F a list of all stockholders at each of the meetings from the first issuance of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad stock in 1870, to the date of the investigation of its stock ledger in September, 1887, and as Exhibit G the amount paid by each individual stockholder and the date when each became such, and to this exhibit, as being necessary to obtain a clear understanding of the disposal of the company's obligations, is added, as Exhibit G No. 1, a statement "relative to the disposition of its first-mortgage and United States subsidy bonds, etc." Exhibit H will show what stock was held in trust, and for whom, as far as known.

The sums paid as bonuses or donations, and payments made under the head of legal expenses, will be found in Exhibits D and E, where they are set forth as minutely as the data obtainable would admit.

The bonds received from the United States were disposed of at an average discount of 1.4 per cent., the proceeds being obtained in currency.

The United States has contracts with the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railroad and the Atchison, Jewell County and Western Railroad, leased lines of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, for carrying the United States mails, and under these there has been earned, since and including 1880, $159,673.74, of which the United States disallowed $3,096, leaving as earned $156,577.74. Of this sum the United States paid at various times $27,822.55, leaving earned and unpaid $128,755.19. But this sum would, in a settlement with the Government, be reduced by the amount due for the Governmental requirements of the main line.

The last yearly earnings, 1886, for mail service upon the leased roads was $26,243.88, and the rate of compensation allowed by the United States for carrying the mail was, for the last quarter, as follows:

	Miles.	Rate per mile per annum.
Waterville to Washington	20.69	$119.70
Greenleaf to Concordia	43.19	138.51
Concordia to Lenora	138.70	106.88
Yuma to Warwick	30.86	42.75
Downs to Alton	24.05	65.84
Jamestown to Burr Oak	33.86	55.58

In conclusion I beg to state in regard to the present condition of this company as shown by its books, and referring to the "condensed balance-sheet" of December 31, 1886 (Exhibit B, No. 8), that its liabilities amount to $6,836,479.16, and the assets amount to $4,933,878.44, or a difference which constitutes a deficit of income of $1,902,600.72.

If, however, the charge of the United States for interest paid upon the bonds advanced to the company is not a proper charge against its income, the liability for "interest accrued on United States bonds" ceases to exist. This would reduce the income deficit by its amount, which is $1,885,808.26, leavin g a deficit of $16,792.46. Ignoring the liability for "interest accrued on United States bonds," would necessitate the withdrawal from the assets of the amount "repaid by transportation," and which amounts to $294,907.40; thus making a total deficit of income of $311,699.86.

Respectfully submitted.

G. F. PERRENOUD,
Accountant.

		10,000	386,700

* Books fail to reveal for what consideration.

NOTE.—The above amount of $386,700 was modified by transactions, as shown upon page 5332 (herewith), so as to make the total sum received for stock options $392,225.53.

NOTE.—When the road was known as the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad, there evidently was stock issued, as it is alluded to in minutes of meetings, and there is record of there having been stockholders' meetings Nov. 5, 1860, Nov. 5, 1861, July 30, 1863, Nov. 14, 1864, and Sept. 19, 1866, before the issue of the stock treated above, but of this stock there is no record to be found other than in the minutes. There is neither certificate book, stock lists, nor stock ledgers referring to any other issue than this.

EXHIBIT I.—ACCOUNTING BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE CENTRAL BRANCH UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

A settlement was had between the United States and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, in March, 1880, covering all the transactions between it and the road to December 31, 1878; it was then established that the United States owed to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad to December 31, 1878, for transportation of mail, etc., $73,142.73, but that the 5 per cent. of net earnings and the one-half of Government transportation amounted to $54,548.60, leaving payable to the railroad $18,594.13, which sum was duly paid; so that the accounts were settled to that period, and the road had made into the Treasury a payment of $54,548.60.

The earnings of the railroad since that period, for Government transportation, were:

Year.	Main line.	Leased lines.
Mail earnings:
1879	$20,851.77
1880	11,342.43	$18,603.77
1881	11,270.00	18,702.10
1882	12,538.58	22,773.59
1884	13,734.72	24,420.16
1885	13,734.72	24,420.12
1886	13,734.72	24,420.12
	14,068.02	20,243.88
Total	111,274.96	159,673.74
Less for service not allowed	72.44	2,031.62

Other United States earnings	312.81	526.77
	111,076.74	157,104.51

Or a total of earnings for United States transportation (main and leased lines), from December 31, 1878, to December 31, 1886, of $268,181.35.

This agrees with the balances existing upon the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad books against the United States and the sums received in cash. These are as follows:

United States Treasury Department, subsidized	$87.07
United States Treasury Department, unsubsidized	108.29
United States Post-Office Department	21,333.88
United States, undivided settlements	218,829.56
	240,358.80
Amounts paid by the United States to the company at various times	27,829.55
	268,161.35

Now, as to what is due to the United States on account of one-half governmental transportation and 5 per cent. of the net earnings, and treating the year 1879 as if the whole line had been subsidized (there having been no division of earnings and expenses made between the subsidized and non-subsidized lines for that year), would show total United States transportation from December 31, 1878, to December 31, 1886, $111,076.84.

One-half of which is		$55,538.42
The net earnings of the road were:
1879	$354,179.02
1880	171,163.56
1881	167,522.93
1882	233,112.37
1883	389,684.22
1884	289,432.18
1885	266,844.71

	2,270,606.78
5 per cent. of which		113,530.33
Total amount due the United States under the law		169,068.75
Against which there is paid into and withheld by the United States the amounts distributed upon the books of the company as follows:
United States Treasury Department, subsidized	$87.07
United States Treasury Department, unsubsidized	108.29
United States Post-Office Department	21,333.88
United States, undivided settlements	218,829.56
		240,358.80
Leaving due by the United States in excess of its requirements.		71,290.05

The amount appearing upon the books of the company as "United States interest repaid," and amounting to $54,548.60, is ignored above, as this computation covers only transactions occurring after that amount was established as due to the Government.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

At a meeting of the Commission held in this city since the foregoing report was prepared, Mr. Effingham H. Nichols, the former treasurer of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, testified that he had in his possession books and papers which would throw some light upon the affairs of that company, and particularly upon the matter of payments made by various parties towards purchasing shares of the company's capital stock. To these books and papers Mr. Nichols afforded access, and they proved to be a bill-book (of no value at this stage of the investigation), two cash-books, the subject-matter of which had been transcribed into the cash-book to which access had already been had in Boston, and one ledger. The last purports to be a ledger which was kept in 1865 and 1866 by Willis Gaylord, treasurer, and is a record of cash transactions solely. The entries therein made are supported by neither auxiliary books nor vouchers. If, as Mr. Nichols avers, the credits to individuals upon this ledger are for payments for which the parties received the capital stock of the company, this book and the ledgers of the company fail to show it. Neither do they show anything to the contrary. It does indicate payments by individuals, and that the money so received was turned over to William Osborn, the contractor of the road.

The credits as above are as follows:

James Wadsworth	$31,875.00
Willis Gaylord	46,875.00
S. C. Pomeroy	32,985.00
R. M. Pomeroy	46,875.00
E. H. Nichols	75,000.00
W. C. Wetmore	37,500.00
D. A. Butterfield	15,000.00
W. Osborn	70,000.00
Chauncey Vibbard	37,500.00
R. A. Park	37,500.00
G. Twitchell	7,031.25
R. B. Phillips	5,625.00
George S. Hale	7,031.25
W. Claflin	7,031.25
D. Ahl	7,500.00
Charles Gould	37,500.00
R. T. Nichols	18,750.00
W. H. Thorp	9,375.00
A. H. Batcheller	4,687.50
J. T. Manney	4,687.50
J. Prescott	2,343.75
A. C. Mayhew	4,687.50
W. Wilshire	2,343.75
There are, besides, the following:
Interest received from some of the foregoing individuals	2,024.42
American Exchange bank loan	50,000.00
E. H. Nichols, treasurer, received from sale of bonds	222,357.50
	824,085.67

The only debit in the books (aside from an insignificant cash balance) results from various charges to W. Osborn, contractor which aggregate $828,543.48

The books of the company, kept subsequently by E. H. Nichols, treasurer, showed that there was paid to W. Osborn, contractor 2,016,682.50

And upon the same books appear as being paid to Willis Gaylord, treasurer, in excess of the sum his ledger shows to have been received from E. H. Nichols, treasurer 109,225.00

Representing as cost of road (construction and equipment) 2,954,450.98

Against this, is the construction and equipment account, as shown by balances taken from books of W. Osborn, contractor, to wit 2,550,344.94

Leaving as amount paid to Osborn in excess of admitted cost, as shown by books of Gaylord and Nichols, jointly 404,106.04

Osborn, however, in addition to the cost of road, etc., accounted for—

Bonds of Atchison City	$1,292.57
Real estate	60,357.18

Leaving unaccounted for 342,456.29

Thus showing that to admit the payments shown by ledger as having been made, is an admission that the above sum is not accounted for. Relative to those credits, it is but just to say that the individuals or their assigns appear upon the stock ledger of the company to have received its capital stock in amounts corresponding in a measure to those of those credits.

The papers to which access was given were found to include no vouchers for sums paid or received, and consist only of statements, etc., furnished by the Kansas office.

Respectfully submitted.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION.

SAINT LOUIS REPORT

TO

HON. ROBERT E. PATTISON,

CHAIRMAN UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION,

RELATIVE TO THE AFFAIRS OF THE CENTRAL BRANCH UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

BY G. F. PERRENOUD, ACCOUNTANT.

SAINT LOUIS, September 24, 1887.

Having been ordered to this point, where none of the accounting and only the operating books for recent years of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad were to be found, the scope of my investigation was naturally limited to inquiring whether in its dealings with the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad the accounting of the Missouri Pacific Railway showed this corporation to have been just to the former; also to ascertain whether there had been a diversion of earnings of the aided lines, through constructive mileage allowances to less productive branches. The leases between the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad and the Missouri Pacific Railway, under which the former is operated by the latter, bear date December 6, 1880, and September 30, 1885, and stipulate that the road is to be operated by the lessee in the most economical manner practicable, and in such a manner as shall yield to the party of the second part (the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad) the largest practicable amount of revenue. The Missouri Pacific Railway also agrees to pay over to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad all the net earnings of the road. Hence I aimed to ascertain whether it had been so operated, and found as follows:

That, nominally, in its dealings with the various corporations forming its system, and of which the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad is a part, the Missouri Pacific Railway is guided by rules established by what is known as the Gault-Tucker award, extracts from which (they being all those parts of the award relating to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad) I beg to submit herewith as Appendix A to this report.

That the basis of division of earnings for certain classifications of freight and the rates to and from certain designated points are established by certain letters of instruction from the general freight office of the Missouri Pacific Railway to its auditing department, dated December 23, 1885, and September 8, 1886, extracts from which form part of this report as Appendix B.

That the leases with the Missouri Pacific Railway, already referred to, stipulate also that the business interchanged between the Central Branch and Missouri Railway lines shall be settled for on the same basis as the Iowa roads in respect to the local business of the Union Pacific Railroad; or, more properly, it governs freight traffic in one direction only, the exact words of the clause in lease of December 6, 1880, being, "that all the business done by said roads of the first (Kansas Central Railroad) and second (Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad) parties, and taken from said roads and delivered to the Missouri Pacific, shall be adjusted and settled for on the same basis as the Iowa roads in respect to the local business of the Union Pacific Railway Company;"

and this basis is set forth in a letter from Mr. T. J. Potter, first vice-president of the Union Pacific Railway, dated September 18, 1887, extracts from which letter, as Appendix C, form part of this report.

Instead of attempting to reconcile these various authorities with each other, or with the actual operations of the road, although perhaps the last had best be attempted, as regards Appendix C, it being the basis which should govern the relations between the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad and the Missouri Pacific Railway, I deemed it best to deal with the facts as they were found to exist, and beg to report as to these.

FREIGHT EARNINGS.

This being the principal source of revenue of the line an examination as exhaustive as the time at my disposal would warrant was made into all matters bearing upon that question, and was extended from a comparison of tariffs with way-bills into actual division of earnings, through division sheets and journals.

The examination revealed the fact that the rates of freight called for by the tariffs (local) are not (because, it is claimed, of existing competition with the Burlington and Missouri Railroad and roads of the Union Pacific system at various points on the line of the road) as high as the laws of the State of Kansas would admit of; and these differences vary according to location; but it would be safe to say that the rates in force are fully 20 per cent. below those authorized by law; yet the local tariff of this road, as compared with that of the Missouri Pacific main line, will average fully 35 per cent. higher, so that in the interchange of business between the two roads, when each obtains its local rates, the division is practically upon a basis of a constructive mileage allowance of 1.35 miles for each actual mile, to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, for points equidistant on both lines.

The full tariff rates are obtained by the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad on all freight carried over its line with the following exceptions:

No. 1.—Upon freight to and from what is known as Mississippi River points, they being Saint Louis, Hannibal, Cairo, and New Orleans, one-half of a terminal or transfer charge of $5 per car, or $2.50, is deducted from the portion coming to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, and therefore form its tariff rates. From points competitive on its own line, to wit, Warwick, Concordia, and Washington, the full terminal charge of $5 is deducted.

No. 2.—Upon freight from Missouri River points, to wit, Saint Joseph, Kansas City, Leavenworth, etc., to points on the line of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, the Missouri Pacific, in the division of earnings, retains an arbitrary rate, irrespective of classification, of 5 cents per 100 pounds on car-load lots and 10 cents per 100 pounds on less than car-load lots; and as to the local tariff rates of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, to and from Atchison, this charge is added only in a few isolated instances, the earnings on this class of freight, as compared with the tariff rates, are reduced by just the amount of the arbitrary paid, so that in practical working the Missouri Pacific Railway, for its haul from the points named, obtains 10 cents and 5 cents per 100 pounds, as against 10.75 cents and 3.83 cents per 100 pounds to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, for a point on its line equidistant from Atchison as is the average distance of the Missouri River points named; or in percentages the Missouri Pacific loses upon its local rates 33 per cent. for less than car load and 28 per cent.

for car-load lots, and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad 48 per cent. for less than car load and 43 per cent. for car-load lots.

It is claimed by the Missouri Pacific officials that the bulk of this business is from Saint Joseph, where they have to pay a bridge charge of 2 cents per 100 pounds on car load and 4 cents per 100 pounds on less than car load, thus reducing their earnings for business from that point to 6 and 3 cents, respectively, per hundred. This, although true as regards Leavenworth and Wyandotte, is scarcely applicable to Kansas City.

No. 3.—The rule relative to freight destined for Missouri River points from the line of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad is nominally the same as that west-bound, but in practical operation it differs in the fact that upon freight intended for transportation over the line of the Missouri Pacific Railway (and the bulk is of that character), beyond Missouri River points, whether immediately or at some future period, the arbitrary rate named in exception No. 2 is not charged, and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad obtains its full local rates. The reason for this is obvious when it is borne in mind that all roads make no difference in rates as between the different Missouri River points.

No. 4.—Upon live stock between Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad points and Chicago, delivered to or received from the Chicago and Alton Railroad, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway, Hannibal and Saint Joseph Railroad Wabash Western and Wabash Railway, by convention between these roads there was a tariff formed for through rates between Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad points and Chicago, and this rate seems to be divided upon a basis of 70 per cent. to the road or roads east of Atchison, and the remaining 30 per cent. to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad. This 30 per cent. as the share of this last road averages upon horses and mules $3.42 per car, or 10.23 per cent., and upon cattle and calves $4, or 13.80 per cent. less than the local rate, or an average loss upon both classes of nearly 11.90 per cent.

PASSENGER EARNINGS.

In the relations between the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad and all other roads the habit is, when there is no competition, to make the rate the sum of the total of the locals upon the roads, and in the division each obtains its local rate. When there exists competition, in its direct dealings with foreign roads outside of the Missouri Pacific system, the passenger agent arbitrarily fixes upon a rate to and from Atchison, but habitually the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad obtains its local rates from those roads. In its dealings under like conditions (competition) with the Missouri Pacific Railway, or roads of the system, the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad has to pro-rate on a basis of actual mileage. For example, the Maine Central sold tickets from Bangor, Me., to Jamestown, Kans., via Saint Louis, for $37.50 each; the proportion of which paid to the Missouri Pacific Railway for the service between Saint Louis and Jamestown was $10, which, divided upon a basis of actual mileage, will give to the Missouri Pacific (Saint Louis to Atchison), 330 miles, $6.70, and Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad (Atchison to Jamestown), 165.7 miles, $3.30.

The question first arises, is Jamestown a competitive point, because if not, making the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad participate in the loss forced upon the Missouri Pacific Railway by competition between Saint Louis and Missouri River points would be unjust, but even if it were proper that the Central Brach Union Pacific Railroad should share in the loss, the basis of settlement on actual mileage as between the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad and the Missouri Pacific Railway is hardly equitable, for the local fare rates of the two roads are based upon a different price per mile; the local fare between Saint Louis and Atchison of the latter road, being $8.50, or 2.575 cents per mile, and that of the former between Atchison and Jamestown, $4.97, or 3 cents per mile; so that the loss borne in this instance is between $4.97 and $3.30 for Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, or 3.35 per cent., and $8.50 and $6.50 for the Missouri Pacific Railway, or 2.11 per cent.

It is just, however, to state that the passenger traffic upon which the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad sacrifices any of its revenue is limited; the road obtaining upon most of its business its full local rate of 3 cents per mile, or the maximum rate allowed by the State of Kansas; although, like all other roads, this one makes concessions as to price, to purchasers of mileage tickets, and those for excursions, fairs, etc., but in none of these cases is the rate less than 2½ cents per mile.

MAIL EARNINGS.

The Missouri Pacific Railway has nothing to do with the distribution of these earnings, their amount being specifically established for the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad by the United States Post-Office Department.

EXPRESS EARNINGS.

These earnings, once divided between the various properties of the Missouri Pacific system by the Pacific Express Company, who operate this business upon a basis of earnings of the previous year, are now divided as follows:

The amount of actual gross earnings upon each separate road is established by the express company, and one-half of this is retained by it for operating expenses, etc., while the other half is paid over by it to each road of the system, the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad obtaining its half, thus creating this item of income upon its books.

TELEGRAPH EARNINGS.

The telegraph lines of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad are leased to the Western Union Telegraph Company, the agreement being substantially the same as that had with the Pacific Express Company in relation to express matter. The actual gross earnings upon the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad being first determined, one-half is paid by the telegraph company for the use of the railroad's telegraph lines.

MISCELLANEOUS EARNINGS

Consist chiefly of switching and mileage of engines, but is at best only a limited source of income, and the division of this earning is localized.

There are other sources of income than the above, but they are not considered among the operating earnings of the road. The only one of these coming into the hands of the Missouri Pacific Railway is that from joint property at Atchison, and consists of interest paid by the Missouri Pacific Railway upon the excess of valuation of the property owned by the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad Company, over that it (the Missouri Pacific Railway Company) owns there; this property being used jointly by the two roads.

EXPENSES.

The mode of dividing these is rather complex, but I think, on the whole, correct. The rule is, that when expenses are specifically for the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, they are charged directly to the account or accounts to which they belong; but when they are not, they must be an expense either general to the whole Missouri Pacific system, as are most of the items in what is known as general expense, and which consist of salaries of general officers and those of clerks in the, and rent, etc., of, general offices, and in this the proportionate sum belonging to each of the roads of the system is made upon the basis of their earnings of the year previous; the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad being charged with the percentage of these expenses which its earnings bear to those of the whole system; or, they are an expense general to parts only of the Missouri Pacific system, as would be the salary of the agent at Atchison, and as are a great many other expenses. In this class of expense that charged to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad is also made upon the same basis of earnings, but instead of being for the part borne by the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad to the whole system, it is for only the proportion they bear to such properties of the Missouri Pacific system as the expense is joint with. The only exception to this rule is the one by which the salary of W. B. Doddridge, superintendent Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, is divided, and this is done on a basis of mileage. He being superintendent of the Rooks County Railroad, of 18 miles, a section of the Missouri Pacific of 298 miles, and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, 388 miles, the division of his salary is therefore 2.6, 42.3, and 55.1 per cent., respectively, debited to the above roads.

This report treats of matters as they are found to exist at the present time, but it will apply with only slight modifications to the dealings of the Missouri Pacific Railway with the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad from and including 1880, the time when the road was first leased by the Missouri Pacific Railway.

Thus far it has been shown how the division of revenue and expense as between the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, integrally considered, and the Missouri Pacific Railway is made, and it remains to explain how the part accruing to the Central Branch is subdivided as between the subsidized portion, generally known as Land-Grant Division, and the leased lines, known commonly as the Western Division, and it is thus:

EARNINGS.

All freight and passenger earnings are divided upon the basis of the leased lines being allowed for each actual mile they may carry freight or passengers, 1½ miles, as against actual mileage they may have been carried over the subsidized portion, or a constructive mileage of 1½ miles to 1 mile, in favor of the Western Division.

MAIL EARNINGS.

This, like the division between the Missouri Pacific and the Central Branch, is made entirely by the United States Post-Office Department, and this division of earnings between sections is based solely upon the service performed by each.

EXPRESS AND TELEGRAPH EARNINGS.

These earnings are divided upon a mileage basis, not dependent, however, as are the freight and passenger receipts, upon work actually performed, but the whole amount received from the Pacific Express Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company is so apportioned that the Western Division obtains nearly 75 per cent. of it, it being the proportion its mileage bears to the whole line.

It might be that very little or none of these earnings are for matter beyond the line of the subsidized road, and in this event the division as above would be most unjust.

The other source of revenue treating of matter strictly local can be credited to the division to which it actually belongs.

EXPENSES.

What has been shown to be the proportion of expenses belonging to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, as a whole, is subdivided as between its divisions in very much the same manner as was shown to be that between the Missouri Pacific Railway and Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, so that where they are specific and are capable of being localized to either division, they are so charged; but where they are common to or joint between and with the Land Grant and Western Division, the apportionment to each is made upon the basis of the earnings of the previous year.

Thus, all expenses of conducting transportation, such as agents (stations), baggage-masters, brakemen, cleaning cars, conductors, station expenses, telegraph expenses, are specific and so charged, while those for advertising, passenger and freight agents, clerks, superintendence, being of a general nature, are divided, as shown, for that class of expense.

Those for motive power are all specific, save the ones for superintendence, expenses and repairs of tools and machinery, watchmen, wipers, hostlers, and dispatchers, which are general.

The expenses of maintenance of way and maintenance of cars are mostly specific, while those of general expense are of the nature of the ones to be divided on the basis of the earnings.

The Western Division owning no equipment, it would seem proper that it be charged the mileage established as between roads for the use of each other's rolling stock, and this sum credited to the subsidized portion, but, in this event, it would not be proper that this division be charged, as it has heretofore been, with any portion of the maintenance of cars, for if, as it is claimed by railroad accountants, the mileage charge between roads for the use of rolling stock of ¾ cents for freight, 1¼ for baggage, and 2½ for passenger cars, and from 5 to 6½ cents for engines per mile run, will cover precisely the repairs upon such rolling stock, then one item of charge would offset the other. But even if this estimate be correct it in no wise contemplates anything beyond the repairs, and does not include any return for the capital invested, and interest upon this sum for the cars used by the leased lines would doubtless be a proper charge.

It has been conclusively shown that there has been a diversion of the earnings of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad to its leased lines through constructive mileage allowance, but whether this has resulted adversely to the interests of the United States is a matter to be hereafter determined.

The amount payable to the leased roads for rental being specific and in no wise dependent upon their receipts or their earning capacity, the question of mileage allowances, or what might be determined as unjust divisions of either earnings or expenses, can in no wise affect the interests of the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, but they would affect adversely those of the United States in reducing the net earnings of the aided lines, and thus the amount accruing to the United States, if it were determined that the division of earnings as made is not "fair or usual," unless, as is doubtless the case, that as the Government withholds from the company all the earnings for the transportation of mails, etc, both upon the main and the leased lines, the amount so withheld over and above what is claimed by the company, the law warrants, is sufficient to cover any sum which may be discovered to exist as due and payable by the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad to the United States.

To test the correctness of the accounting between the Missouri Pacific Railway and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, I made a partial audit of the business between those roads, as reported by the Missouri Pacific Railway, for one month, and find that, as far as the examination could show, everything was correct, and that there exists properly authenticated vouchers for every item of expenditure, and that the earnings are correctly brought forward from the way-bills, passenger lists, and from the returns of the Pacific Express Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The correctness of the expense vouchers as to prices I could not test, but think that they are, on the whole, correct in that particular, except, perhaps, that the price paid for coal is in excess of what it should be, and this, it being an article of large consumption, ought, perhaps, to be inquired into. The price charged by the Missouri Pacific Railway in the month of July, 1887, was $2.53 per ton at Atchison, 18 cents of which they claim is for handling.

While here I also collated information which will prove valuable in making a final report.

Respectfully submitted.

G. F. PERRENOUD,
Accountant.

APPENDIX A.

Differences having arisen between those interested in the roads forming the Missouri Pacific sytem, Messrs. John C. Gault and J. F. Tucker were called in to adjust these and to establish a system as between the various roads for the settlement of both the earnings and the expenses.

Their report, which is commonly known as the "Gault-Tucker" award, bears date February 5, 1885, and after treating of the various other roads of the system, says finally:

"THE CENTRAL BRANCH ROAD.

"This railroad may be fairly termed a local road, dependent on some other for an outlet to the East. Certainly none can offer it as favorable a connection as the Missouri Pacific Railway, and it can well be content as a property, and congratulate itself, if a corporation can be said to do so, on the harmony that has enabled it to avoid competition and the general demoralization, and on ruin, that has followed in competition's track. With the rates now obtained by this road, we think this Branch should pay a reasonable share of the terminal expenses, say one-half, to those lines that may furnish it for them, any bridge or transfer charges incurred, and get its local rates to and from its eastern terminals. Situated as it is at present, it may be termed a long side-track. For its future welfare, we can not help expressing the hope that it will not be extended or any other lines deem it necessary to invade its territory. This can hardly be hoped for, however, and when it becomes a part of a through line and is met by that insidious foe to the maintenance of reasonable rates for services performed, it must then share with others the expenses and pro-rate. We deal with this branch as it exists to-day; its situation as to what is reasonable as between it and other lines in the system may radically change at any time, and our conclusions as to it are for the present."

The report then treats of division of earnings and expenses, but in a general way. It does, however, in an appendix to the report, treat of them in detail under the head of "plan submitted by the committee for dividing joint or common revenue and expenses between properties (and their subdivisions) in the Missouri Pacific system," and says:

"REVENUE.—FREIGHT EARNINGS.

"Rule No. 1.—Terminal and transfer charges of $5 per car-load, 3 cents per hundred (not exceeding $5 per car), 25 cents per bale of cotton, should be allowed to Saint Louis, Hannibal and Cairo, Columbus, New Orleans and Galveston, and credit therefor should be first given to the roads, terminating at the respective points named, out of the full rate, and the balance should be divided by the following rules; not more than two terminal charges, however, can be made on any one consignment.

"Rule No. 2.—All freight earnings should be divided between the properties comprising the Missouri Pacific system pro rata, based upon actual mileage, the minimum distance, however, allowed being 50 miles as its basis of division, except as hereinafter provided."

Then follow rules 3, 4, and 5; and "Exceptions" (1) relative to Missouri, Kansas and Texas Osage Division; then (2) the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad should receive its local rates on all freight business to and from other properties after deducting from the same one-half of the terminal charges provided for in rule No. 1.

"At all stations in competition with roads foreign to the Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific systems, it will be subject to rules Nos. 1 and 2.

"The amounts which the Central Branch should receive as its allotment of freight earnings in accordance with the above should then be divided between its subdivisions as follows: The Western Division should receive one and one-half miles for each actual mile as against actual mileage of the Land-Grant Division. (We understand this is in accordance with the order of its president, Mr. Sidney Dillon.)"

Of passenger earnings, it says:

"The general basis for the division of passenger earnings between the Missouri Pacific properties should be, we suggest, as follows:

"All special or reduced rates, when made over two or more properties, should be divided between the properties upon the divisions governing their regular rates.

"(1) Local business between Missouri Pacific lines.

"When the rate is made by the addition of locals, each property to receive its local rate. When rates are made less than locals, a mileage pro-rate to be allowed each property, except in a few instances where one line receives a short haul on a ticket over long distances, when it should be allowed local rates.

"(2) Competition and foreign passenger business.

"The basis of division of revenue from foreign and competitive passenger business is more complicated than that of local business between the Missouri Pacific lines, but should conform to the following general principles:

"The rates on foreign passenger business to and from Missouri Pacific line points are based upon one or more terminal points, or points outside that are not local to the system.

"On non-competitive business the rate is made by the addition of the local rate of the Missouri Pacific lines to the rate east of the junction with the lines passing through the rate-making point.

"On competitive business the Missouri Pacific line rate is governed by the rate established by the most direct competitive route, receiving, however, its own local rates beyond its point of intersection with a competing line (or beyond some arbitrarily-established point), and receiving, of course, its own local rate when its line is most direct."

Here follows divisions and explanations of the Missouri Pacific Railway as regards passenger earnings, but in none is the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad mentioned.

"MAIL EARNINGS.

"Mail earnings are specifically established for each road by the Post-Office Department, hence there is no division between properties necessary. The subdivision of each road's earnings is made on the allowance per mile that is fixed by the Post-Office Department.

"EXPRESS EARNINGS.

"Express earnings are divided on the following percentages, and are based on the gross earnings of the previous year.

"The following percentages apply in business from January 1, 1884:

Road.	Per cent.	Subdivision.
Missouri Pacific	25
Missouri, Kansas and Texas Rwy	22	16 per cent. North Division; 6 per cent. Texas Division.
International and Great Northern R. R.	10	9 per cent. International and Great Northern R. R.; 1 per cent. Galveston, Houston and Henderson R. R.
Texas and Pacific Rwy	18	9 per cent. Eastern Division; 6 per cent. Rio Grand Division; 3 per cent. New Orleans Division.
Saint Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Rwy	21
Central Branch Union Pacific R. R	4	1.032 per cent. Land-Grant Division; 2.968 per cent. Western Division.

"MISCELLANEOUS EARNINGS.

"Miscellaneous earnings are strictly local and should be apportioned to the road earning the same, no other division having been found necessary.

"EXPENSES.

"1. All expenses which can be accurately determined and accurately charged to the property or subdivision for which they are incurred, should be charged directly to that property or subdivision.

"2. Expenses which are common or joint between properties or subdivisions should be divided as follows:

"(1) Joint expenses divided on basis of gross earnings of previous year; general expense; general advertising; salaries and expenses of general and traveling agents off the lines; general and incidental expenses of conducting transportation; salaries and expenses of general officers of traffic department; printing and stationery relating to all lines; general expense of maintenance of way, motive power, and car departments, common to all lines; salaries and expenses of superintendents in maintenance of way departments and of resident engineers (as between divisions and separate properties in their charge); general officers' salaries and expenses, except those noted under percentage basis; clerks in all general offices; light, fuel, repairs, rent, printing and stationery, and petty expenses of general offices; interest and exchange.

"(2) Joint expenses on percentage basis, fixed arbitrarily or by agreement at stations mentioned. (In each case the tonnage, wheelage, work, etc., should be specifically considered, and the percentage adjusted as equitably as possible.)

"Salaries of agents and clerks, expenses of printing and stationery, fuel, labor, lights, repairs, rent, telegraph expense, salaries of telegraph operators, yardmen and switch tenders, watchmen of roadway and bridges, joint mail expenses, damage to property, stock, and individuals, and loss and damage to baggage should be divided as follows:"

None of the stations named are on the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, so the above division (2) evidently does not affect that line. It continues:

"The salary and expenses of the first vice-president, second vice president, general solicitor, and of the New York legal office should be divided as other general expenses in proportion to gross earnings.

"(3) At Atchison the following joint expenses should be divided between the Missouri Pacific and the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad: Land-grant division upon a wheelage basis of the month in which the expense is incurred; ballast at stations and yards; repairs of bridges, fences, and road crossings; cross-ties, frogs, switch fixtures, iron and steel rails, grading side tracks; oil, tallow, waste, and fuel used in maintenance of way; section, tool, and watch houses, snow and ice removing, spikes, splices, bolts, and chairs; telegraph repairs; tools and repairs of tools; labor repairing track. The remaining joint expenses at Atchison should be divided between the properties upon a tonnage basis of the month in which the expenses are incurred (per agreement with the Union Pacific Railroad)."

Followed by many other divisions of expense, but none relating to the Central Branch Union Pacific Railroad, and then with examples illustrating the division of earnings, all relating to other roads, save the following:

[Example No. 24.]

Saint Louis, Mo., to Washington, Kans.

	Actual.		Constructive.
	Mileage.	Per cent.	Mileage.	Per cent.
Saint Louis to Atchison, Missouri Pacific (Ks.; Ks. C. B.)	330	73.3	330	73.3

Less one-half terminal ($5)				2.50
Add one-half terminal							2.50
Total	56.99			36.42		9.03	11.54

"The one-half terminal is deducted from the Central Branch proportion of the through revenue, and allotted at once to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, North Division. The balance of the Central Branch revenue is then assigned to its proper place.

"The Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas and Texas (North Division) proportion before adding terminal is subdivided on basis of actual mileage, allowing Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas and Texas, North Division, each 142 miles."

APPENDIX B.

[Extract from letter, dated Saint Louis, Mo., December 23, 1885.]

On all business to and from Warwick, Concordia, and Washington, a terminal charge of $5 per car, or 3 cents per cwt., to be allowed Saint Louis, Hannibal, Carondelet, Cairo, Columbus, New Orleans, and Galveston.

On Omaha business the rate is to be prorated on actual mileage.

Kansas City is divided on a revenue basis, as per tariff C. B., 23, and special joint tariff 26.

On business between Central Branch points and Leavenworth and Saint Joseph the Missouri Pacific is allowed 5 cents per cwt. on car-load, and 10 cents per cwt. on less than car-load, out of which we have to pay bridge-toll on the Saint Joseph business, thus on an average (as Saint Joseph business is very much larger than the Leavenworth) it would reduce the rate to about 3 cents per cwt. on car-load, and 6 cents per cwt. on less than car-load, as net revenue to the Missouri Pacific Railway.

The division of stock rates between Central Branch points and Kansas City needs revising. The Kansas City rate is made by adding $5 per car to the Atchison tariff, which rate we are compelled to make as against the Saint Joseph and Grand Island Railway to Saint Joseph, and the Burlington and Missouri Railway to Saint Joseph and Kansas City. The Missouri Pacific for its haul, Atchison to Kansas City, including the stock-yards expense at Kansas City, should have a rate of not less than $7.50 per car, which should be an arbitrary.

On grain to Kansas City the Missouri Pacific Railway is allowed 5 cents per cwt. On grain to Leavenworth for account of Snyder & Denton, the whole earnings accrue to the Central Branch Division, as the Missouri Pacific Railway gets the Atchison rate on the haul from Leavenworth.

On shipments to the American Glucose Company (which is a new deal), I think we should do this business at 3 cents per cwt. You will therefore allow the Missouri Pacific Railway on American Glucose Company's shipments 3 cents per cwt. This, with the percentage arrangement with the Southwestern Railway Association, I think, provides for all business interchanged between the two lines.

[Extract from letter dated Saint Louis, Mo., September 8, 1888.]

With further reference to conversation in regard to division of rate on live stock, Central Branch points to Kansas City, and referring to my letter of December 23, 1885, I will say that the Missouri Pacific Division of the through rate should be $7.50 per car for its haul Atchison to Kansas City, terminal expense at latter point, including delivery to the Kansas City stock-yards, and if our advice is not exactly straight or explicit on that point, will say the rate should be divided by allowing the Missouri Pacific Railway $7.50 per car from Atchison to Kansas City.

APPENDIX C.

[Extract from letter dated Omaha, September 18, 1887.]

This basis was defined in agreement dated May 20, 1880, to be as follows: Between Chicago and any and all points on the Omaha and Republican Valley, and on the Union Pacific west of Omaha and east of Columbus, two-fifths west of Council Bluffs and three-fifths east of Council Bluffs; between Chicago and any and all points between Columbus and Plum Creek, inclusive, three-sevenths west of Council Bluffs and four-sevenths east of Council Bluffs. On business to and from points on the line of the Omaha, Niobrara and Black Hills, delivered to or received from the Iowa trunk lines, the same percentage as applied on Columbus business were to apply.

On May 20, 1880, it was agreed to divide live-stock rates from points west of Plum Creek to Chicago, by first allowing the Union Pacific $10 per car for bridge transfer, and to divide the remainder on basis of 1¼ miles to each actual mile for the Union Pacific against 500 miles from Council Bluffs to Chicago.

On March 11, 1882, an agreement was made with the Iowa Trunk Line Association by which the rates between Chicago and points on the Union Pacific Railway system east of Columbus should be divided, by allowing to the Iowa Trunk Line Association 60 per cent. and to the Union Pacific 40 per cent. of the through rates; between Chicago and Columbus and points west of Columbus, to and including Plum Creek, the Iowa Trunk Line Association was to accept four-sevenths of the through rates and the Union Pacific three-sevenths. On live stock west of Plum Creek the through rates were to be divided on basis of 1¼ miles to each Union Pacific mile to 1 mile of the Trunk Line Association distance, with a minimum of $50 per car, Council Bluffs to Chicago.

Under the clause in the agreement in the Western Trunk Line Association providing that rates between Chicago, Mississippi River, and points on the Union Pacific should be divided in the same ratio as the through rates were made, namely, the sum of the locals east and west of the Missouri River, the following percentages were put into effect on January 1, 1884:

Divisions between Chicago, Mississippi River and Peoria, and points upon the Union Pacific system to be used in settlement with Western Trunk Line Association.

Divisions.	Chicago.		Mississippi River.		Mississippi River. Wabash.		Peoria.
	Association.	Union Pacific.	Association.	Union Pacific.	Association.	Union Pacific.	Association.	Union Pacific.
Nebraska	54½	45½	47½	52½	48	52	57½	42½
Colorado (broad gauge)	23	77	21½	78½	17½	82½	23½	76½
Colorado (narrow gauge)	21	79	15	85	15½	84½	17	83
Wyoming	23½	76½	19	81	20	80	29	71
Utah (north of and including Provo)	20	80	15½	84½	16½	83½	18½	81½
Utah (south of Provo)	15½	84½	14	86	13	87	21½	78½
Idaho	10	90	8½	91½	12	88	13	87
Montana	16	84	12½	87½	14	86	20	80

The exceptions to these percentages were as follows: For east-bound grain, hay, flaxseed, broom-corn, and live stock originating at points east of the meridian on Plum Creek, the divisions were 40 per cent. for the Union Pacific and 60 per cent. for the lines east of Council Bluffs; for east-bound cattle, sheep, and hogs, from all points on the Union Pacific west of the meridian of Plum Creek, the Union Pacific were to receive upon the basis of 1½ miles to each actual mile for their haul against 500 miles for the lines Council Bluffs to Chicago and 340 miles to the Mississippi River; for west-bound lumber, emigrant movables, salt, hard coal, and stock cattle destined to points on the Union Pacific system east of the meridian of Plum Creek, and including Plum Creek, the lines east of Council Bluffs were to receive 60 per cent. and the line west 40 per cent. when coming from Chicago or points common therewith, and the lines east of Council Bluffs 53 per cent. and the line west of Council Bluffs 47 per cent. when coming from Mississippi River common points.

On account of various changes having been made in rates both east and west of the Missouri River, a revision of percentages was demanded by the trunk lines some time in July, 1885, and after the necessary data had been procured the following percentages were agreed upon, to take effect August 1, 1885:

Divisions agreed upon by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago, Minneapolis and Saint Paul; Chicago and Northwestern; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Wabash, Saint Louis and Pacific; and Union Pacific, taking effect August 1, 1885.

Between—	Chicago, Peoria, and points common therewith.		Mississippi River points.
	East of Council Bluffs.	West of Council Bluffs.	East of Council Bluffs.	West of Council Bluffs.
All stations in Nebraska west of Omaha, to and including Columbus and stations on the Omaha and Republican Valley	60½	39½	56	44
All stations in Nebraska west of Columbus, to and including Plum Creek, and stations on Omaha, Niobrara and Black Hills and G. I. N.	48	52	42½	57½
All stations in Nebraska west of Plum Creek	35½	64½	30	70
Colorado	25	75	21	79
Wyoming	26½	73½	20	80
Utah	18½	81½	16	84
Montana	14	86	8	92
Idaho (east of Kuna)	8	92	5	95

The exceptions on west-bound lumber, emigrant movables, etc., and east-bound grain, hay, etc., and also upon live-stock shipments, were to remain the same as provided in the agreement of 1883.

OF

H. J. ANDERSON,

ACCOUNTANT,

TO

HON. ROBERT E. PATTISON,

CHAIRMAN UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION,

ON THE

EXAMINATION OF THE BOOKS AND ACCOUNTS OF THE SIOUX CITY AND PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

5351

REPORT OF H. J. ANDERSON.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC RAILWAY COMMISSION,
New York, November 14, 1887.

Hon. ROBERT E. PATTISON,
Chairman United States Pacific Railway Commission:

SIR: I herewith make report on the examination of the books and accounts of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad.

	Miles.
The main line subsidized road extends from Sioux City, Iowa, to California Junction, Iowa	69.81
And from Missouri Valley, Iowa, to Fremont, Nebr	31.77
	101.58
The unsubsidized portion from California Junction to Missouri Valley	5.84
Total	107.42

The absence of all books and accounts relating to the organization, construction, and operations of the road prior to its opening in February, 1869, and the incomplete and imperfect manner in which the accounts were kept up to 1880 has made the result of the examination very meager in its details. In consequence it was impossible in many respects to comply with the different sections of the law.

The only record found covering the periods from organization to the time the road opened for business is the record book containing the minutes of the directors' meetings.

From this it appears that the company was organized August 1, 1864, with an authorized capital stock of $6,000,000. June 9, 1866, the total amount of stock subscribed was $209,000, and the amount paid in $9,000.

In June, 1867, a call was made upon the stockholders for 40 per cent. of the capital stock.

In September, 1867, the road was let by contract at the rate of $50,000 per mile to Dewitt C. Blair and Oakes Ames.

The report of the Chief Engineer of June 20, 1867, estimated the entire cost of the road and equipments at $4,968,120. The equipments were estimated at $551,500, and the Missouri River Bridge at $1,130,000. This bridge was not built by the company.

On January 1, 1868, the amount as paid in on capital stock was reported as "$1,400,000 or thereabouts," and 48 miles of the road had been completed.

In February, 1868, a consolidation was formed with the "Northern Nebraska Air Line Company," securing 48,000 acres of land, and it was provided in the articles of consolidation "that the stockholders of both companies shall be stockholders in this consolidated company and to pay within a time fixed such proportion of the stock subscribed by each as shall make the per centum of the stockholders of both of the former corporations (Sioux City and Pacific Railroad) stock" (p. 136, minutes).

December 7, 1868, the directors authorized the payment over to John I. Blair of cash $300,000, and bonds $317,000, the proceeds of United States Government bonds held under injunction in suit of Charles A. Lambard to repay Blair and others for money advanced, and to sell the bonds and use the proceeds in the construction of the road.

February 11, 1869, the road was completed, making, in all, 101.58 miles.

May 15, 1869, the president of the company was authorized to have the first-mortgage bonds recorded and signed.

And at the same period it appearing—that the stockholders had not received any stock or other securities for their subscriptions paid in for the construction of the road or for the earnings of the road, which have gone into construction of the road, resolved that the president be authorized to issue capital stock equal to the amount to the calls heretofore made or secured to be paid to each; also to distribute to said stockholders an amount equal to 50 per cent. of such calls of the first-mortgage bonds heretofore issued to said company and paid to the contractors on account of the construction of said road, and which, by an arrangement with them, have been received from said contractors.

On page 160, as result of consolidation, 75 sections of land were granted by State of Nebraska to the Northern Nebraska Air Line Company that had been patented to the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, and certain county bonds were voted for the construction and completion of the Northern Nebraska road. The president was authorized and recommended to settle with the stockholders of the Northern Nebraska upon their complying and paying in on their stock the same amount per share as was paid in by the stockholders of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company, viz, 40 per cent. on each share of stock.

On page 162, that the patents had been received; also Dodge County bonds, $50,000, and Washington County bonds, $70,000; and that an arrangement had been made for prorating with the stockholders of the Northern Nebraska.

November 18, 1870, the president was "requested to make distribution on or before January 1, 1871, to the stockholders of this company of all bonds, stock, and cash assets which have accrued to said stockholders in the construction of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, and to close any and all outstanding contracts for construction, and to make final settlement with the contractors," and a committee was appointed to take action.

Also, in November, 1870, the executive committee was authorized and directed "to purchase the 6½ miles of road between Missouri Valley and California Junction, and to issue preferred or other stock in payment therefor," and authority was afterwards given (July, 1871) to issue a mortgage securing the stock on the "6½" miles.

January 21, 1871, the president was "authorized to make further allotment to the stockholders of $44,000 in first-mortgage bonds, which had been set aside for the new subscription of $125,000, the said allotment being 2.45 per cent. on the amount paid in on stock subscriptions," and the stock set aside for new subscription was canceled.

These extracts from the minutes are all that appear relating to the early history of the road, payment on stock or first-mortgage bonds.

The actual cost of the construction of the road could not be verified, as there are no books or vouchers showing the amount paid.

The books of the company as found comprised ledgers, cash-books, and journals, but few operating books until June, 1880.

There were no vouchers found except covering a few expenditures until 1880. On the removal of the records from Cedar Rapids and Missouri Valley, Iowa, the previous offices of the company, to the offices of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, in Chicago, Ill., such books as were then on hand are included in those examined, and consist of all that came into the possession of the present officers of the road, as stated by M. M. Kirkman, the present controller and treasurer, and "that the books and papers of the earlier years, if kept, have been lost or mislaid."

In the matter of answers to the different sections of the law that are matters of accounting I respectfully report "as to whether the books and accounts have been so kept as to show the net earnings, etc:"

Prior to July 1, 1869, there is no record. From that date to July 1, 1872, the books do not show in detail the earnings and expenses of the road.

From 1872 the net earnings as shown are divided between the leased line (the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad) and the main line.

The net earnings of the non-aided portion, the Missouri Valley Branch, on which the 5 per cent. due the United States is based, was estimated upon a mileage basis at 7.29 per cent. of the net earnings of the Iowa Division. This system was changed July 1, 1887, and the earnings of this branch are now kept separate from the aided portion and prorated on a mileage basis. The expenses are also kept separate and apportioned to each division on various bases, as shown in the report to the United States Commissioner of Railroads, June 30, 1887.

No regular operating books were found commencing earlier than 1880, and the statement of the net earnings to that period was made up from the journals and ledgers.

The whole amount of net earnings to June 30, 1887, is given in Exhibits E and F.

In regard to "diversion of earnings through constructive mileage," etc., as far as shown by the books there was no constructive mileage.

Whether there "has been a diversion of earnings to wrongful or improper purposes:"

Under the lease of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad, at 33⅓ per cent. of the gross earnings, the total amount of rental paid from 1872 to 1882 was $607,418.94 and the amount of net earnings of the road for the same period $343,606.86; deficit, $263,812.08. The road did not earn the rental paid until 1883.

In addition to this the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad paid as its proportion of the interest on the bonds of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad the sum of $71,247.16.

In June, 1884, the lease with this road was terminated after the net earnings were largely in excess of the rental paid.

"Whether any, and, if so, how much, money is due to the United States on account of mistaken or erroneous accounts, reports, or settlements made by said roads." The settlements as made to the United States to June 30, 1884, include only 1880, 1883, and 1884. The books show the following earnings:

Net earnings:
1870	$168,792.36
1880	143,956.46
1883	108,895.94
1884	173,564.67
	595,209.43
Amount charged in settlement to the United States Government	425,119.87
	170,089.56

The difference is accounted for as follows:

Net earnings in 1870	$168,792.36
Net earnings, difference in 1880	1,297.00
Net earnings, difference in 1884	.20
	170,089.56

In regard to the amount in 1870 the books do not show any of the earnings or expenses of the road prior to July 1, 1869, and the operating expenses are very small in proportion to the earnings shown. Owing to the imperfect manner in which the books were then kept, and the confusion of entries, loss of records and vouchers, the amount as given is only the result of careful examination of such records as were available. Under an examination made by the Treasury Department of the United States, no net earnings on which the 5 per cent. due the United States is based were found prior to 1880, and by an adjudication of the United States Court of Claims it was determined as the amount given $425,119.87, and on this 5 per cent., $21,255.99, has been credited on account of interest due on the United States Government bonds.

The net earnings of the aided road for the years ending June 30, 1885, 1886, and 1887 were found to be as follows:

1886	241,475.98
1887	248,924.80
	712,087.19

The amount for 1885 is in excess $29,881.86 of that as given by the officers of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad. This arises from the credit on their books to profit and loss account, and not to earnings of the following transaction:

[Entry in cash book.]

Cash to profit and loss.

Dec. 31, 1885:
For draft received from Union Pacific Rwy. in settlement of the amount due on sundry shipments of cattle from North Platte to Chicago during the season of 1883, 606 cars, at $49.31 ..... $29,881.86

The voucher for this was called for but not found and the entry in the cash book is all the information that could be obtained. On the face of the entry this appears to be for freight, and should have been included in the earnings of the road.

"What amounts have been deducted from gross earnings by way of rebate, percentage of business done, pools, etc." As shown in Exhibit B:

Rebates	$60,409.20
Overcharges, pools, etc	341,422.81
	401,832.01

The books do not show separately the division of overcharges, pools, since the opening of the road.

From Aug., 1878, to June 30, 1887, there was paid on passenger pools	$2,046.09
And Nov., 1872, to June 30, 1887, on freight pools	42,936.78
Total	44,982.87
And received	9,605.27
Total paid	35,377.60

"As to kind, character, and amount of the assets of said companies"—

This is shown on the balance sheets Exhibit H. No material change other than in additional construction, equipment, and improvements has occurred in the amount.

"Whether any dividends have been unlawfully declared by the directors or paid to the stockholders"—

The only dividend paid is that on the preferred stock, being $11,830, at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum. The issue was 1,690 shares to pay for the purchase of or construction of the non aided road 5.84 miles. The dividend of $11,830 per annum on the preferred stock was paid in 1872 and 1882, when there was a deficiency of net earnings. The whole amount paid on this stock in dividends is shown in Exhibit J.

"As to issue of any new stock and bonds, or any guaranties or pledges made contrary to law"—

May, 1869, as appears from the minutes of the directors' meeting, first-mortgage bonds were issued. The amount then issued there is no record of, but on May 11, 1871, they are first entered on the books of the company and charged to construction as $1,628,000.

It does not appear from any account or record that any consideration was given for these bonds; that they were distributed among the stockholders by resolution of the board of directors without any payment; that such money as went into the original construction of the road was the 40 per cent. paid on the subscriptions to capital stock, and the proceeds of the sale of the United States Government bonds.

The stock ledger, transfer books, or the treasurer's books were not found, and the amount paid on stock or realized from the sale of the United States bonds can not be accurately determined.

The whole amount of stock subscriptions, as shown in the case of Lambard vs. The Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, was $4,260,000, on which 40 per cent. is $1,704,000, and the United States Government bonds, at par, $1,628,320; total, $3,332,320.

On January 31, 1872, common stock was increased by the issue of 1,080 shares for construction or purchase of the unaided road, 5.84 miles, together with 1,690 shares of preferred stock.

The interest on the bonds of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad extensions were guarantied jointly by the Cedar Rapids and Missouri River Railroad, the Chicago, Iowa, and Nebraska Railroad, the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, and the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad, and the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad. The latter road guarantied only those of the second, third, and fourth divisions. The whole amount is shown in Exhibit A.

March 1, 1883, equipment bonds were issued to the amount of $519,000, bearing interest at 6 per cent., to take up notes given to pay for rolling-stock and equipments.

On June 27, 1884, the balance of equipment bonds remaining was $479,000, and of bills payable, $80,500; total, 559,500; and the interest of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad in the equipment lease and in the equipment notes was assigned and transferred to the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, said company securing the indebtedness represented by the notes and bonds, together with the interest on its preferred stock as it shall mature and all other just debts and liabilities of the company, other than its indebtedness to the United States. A copy of the equipment lease is shown in Exhibit L.

"What amounts of money or credit have been or are now loaned by any of said companies"—

There is no record of any loans that have been or are now outstanding. The books show only the interest paid on loans.

"Amounts of money or credits borrowed"—

The amount is given in Exhibit I. The purpose for which the loans were required is not given upon the books. The loans have all been paid and there are now none outstanding.

"The amount of stock, passes, and bonds, etc.," for which there are not sufficient or detailed vouchers covers all the expenditures, with the exception of a few cash vouchers, from 1864 to 1880. To give them in detail would require the examination of all the books and papers, and is not possible in the limited time. To July, 1872, it amounted to $6,004,217.30, including only the expenditures for construction and operating expenses.

No record was found showing "the amount of passes issued."

"As to investments in other corporations or companies, or money expended to aid in the construction of other roads"—

Preferred stock, $169,000, and common stock $108,000; total, $277,000, was issued to the Iowa Railway Contracting Company, to pay for the construction and purchase of the 5.84 miles Missouri Valley Branch, unaided portion of the road. From the articles of sale and consolidation between the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company and the Cedar Rapids and Missouri River Railroad, it appears that this portion of the road was constructed for $169,000 and the preferred stock issued in payment for it was secured by a first mortgage on the 5.84 miles.

"Names of stockholders" are given in Exhibit N herewith.

The names of "all persons by whom stock is now or heretofore has been held in trust" are given in Exhibit C.

"Consideration paid for stock, and when and in what property such payment was made"—

Although the books and accounts do not show any cash consideration for either preferred or common stock, the testimony of John I. Blair before this Commission and a copy of the stock ledger produced in the Lambard suit, shows that the stock other than that issued for the Missouri Valley Branch was fully paid. The whole amount issued was charged to the construction of the whole line, including the Missouri Valley Branch, and the total cost of the original construction was made by charging to construction.

Common stock	$1,791,400
First-mortgage bonds	1,628,000
United States Government bonds	1,628,390
	5,047,790
This amount was increased by—
Preferred stock	169,000
Common stock	108,000
Making total of	5,324,790

"Dates and amount of increase of stock"—

On or about March 15, 1871, 1,080 shares of common stock were issued to pay for the construction or purchase of the 5.84 miles unaided road, the Missouri Valley Branch.

There was "no salary paid to any officer or employé amounting to $5,000 or more."

As to "any bonus or donation paid to any officer or employé"—

As appears from the records of the directors' meetings, the first-mortgage bonds to the amount of $1,623,000 were distributed among the stockholders. No books or accounts were found showing the basis on which this distribution was made, or the share of each.

"Amount of payment for legal services" is given in Exhibit D. There is no record of any payment prior to July 25, 1871.

The "amount of taxes paid on lands patented by the United States" was—

1870	$5,070.58
1871	5,107.12
1872	4,093.64
1873	3,765.93
1874	3,729.31
	21,766.58

The taxes paid on other lands are included in operating expenses. The amount can not be given, as there was no separate account showing them on the books, and the vouchers were missing.

"Whether the United States have contracts with branch roads controlled by said Pacific roads"—

The Sioux City and Pacific Railroad has now no contracts with branch roads. There was paid by it to the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad for tranportation of mails—

June 30, 1872, to June 30, 1879	$19,127.67
July 1, 1879, to June 30, 1884	38,616.65

in full settlement.

"Whether any of the directors, officers, or employés have been, or are now, directly interested in other corporations"—

The following-named persons are now, or have been, officers or directors in other corporations, viz:

W. W. Walker, in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad.

George Douglass, in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad.

John I. Blair, in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad Company, the Missouri Valley Bridge and Railway Company, the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company.

D. C. Blair and James Blair, in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad Company.

Horace Williams, in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad and the Missouri Valley and Blair Bridge Company.

P. S. Crowell, W. T. Glidden, J. M. S. Williams, J. B. Alley, Oliver Ames, 2d, J. M. Glidden, and Oliver Ames in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad Company.

P. E. Hall and D. P. Kimball in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad Company and the Missouri Valley and Blair Railway and Bridge Company, and Marvin Hughitt in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad, the Missouri Valley and Blair Bridge Company, and the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company.

M. L. Sykes, M. M. Kirkman, and J. B. Redfield in the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad and the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company.

John I. Blair was also connected with the Iowa Railway Contracting Company and the Cedar Rapids and Missouri River Railroad Company.

A list of the officers and directors of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company, from 1864 to 1887, is given in Exhibit G.

The amount due the United States on the bonded debt June 30, 1887, is as follows:

United States Government bonds	$1,628,320.00
Accrued interest on same	1,855,094.29

CR.

By 5 per cent. of net earnings for years 1880, 1883, and 1884	$21,255.99
Interest repaid by 50 per cent. of transportation to—
October, 1884	86,281.03
June 30, 1887	20,117.16
		$127,654.28
		3,335,760.01

The amount of net earnings on which the 5 per cent. is due the United States for 1885, 1886, 1887, has not been settled. As stated by the officers of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, it amounts to $682,205.33, but does not include the discrepancies as found by this accounting, viz:

1870, net earnings	$168,792.36
1880, difference	1,297.00
1884, difference	.99
1885, difference	29,881.86
Total	199,971.42
On which 5 per cent. is	9,998.57

An examination of the balance sheets and current statements shows that there were apparently net earnings for 1870 over and above the fixed charges. In 1871 the earnings of the whole road were not sufficient to pay the interest on first-mortgage bonds.

In 1872 the common stock was increased $108,000, and preferred stock issued to the amount of $169,000, and a deficiency of earnings of $27,747.53.

On October 1, 1872, the lease of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad commenced and remained in force until July, 1884. The rental was 33⅓ per cent. of the gross earnings of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad, and the division of earnings was made "pro rata, according to the number of miles of each of said roads over which the business passes."

In 1873, 1874, 1875, 1876 the net earnings of the whole line, including the leased road and unaided portion, 5.84 miles, were not sufficient to pay the interest on first-mortgage bonds, and from 1877 to 1880 there were no net earnings of the aided road in excess of the annual interest on the first-mortgage bonds.

In 1882 there was a deficiency of earnings on the whole line, of $63,323.55.

From the time the whole line was opened for business, February, 1869, until June 30, 1876, the deficiency in the income account, including the interest on the United States Government bonds, was increased. In 1876 it was decreased $66,901.38 and then increased in each year until 1884.

Since that time the decrease has amounted to, in—

1885	$3,130.98
1886	90,956.35
1887	49,608.46
Total	143,695.77

The cause of the deficiency is mainly due to the loss in operating the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad from 1872 to 1882.

The exhibit showing the earnings, expenses, and rental of this road is hereto annexed, marked K.

The balance sheets and current statements are for the United States fiscal year ending June 30, and to June 30, 1884, include the aided and non-aided portion of the whole line and leased road.

From June 30, 1884, to June 30, 1887, they include the aided and non-aided portion.

In regard to the other subjects of investigation not reported upon, they are either matters of legal ascertainment, or there were no books or accounts from which the information could be obtained.

Very respectfully,

H. J. ANDERSON,
Accountant.

ANALYTICAL INDEX.

ABBOTT, O. A., testimony of:
Lieutenant-governor of Nebraska in 1876; railroad facilities afforded, good; competing roads maintain rates, 1487. Grain elevators, 1487, 1488. Participation by railroad in elections; rumors as to influencing legislation, 1488. Public sentiment as to management, 1488, 1489. Voluntary reduction in rates; city and county aid to Saint Joseph and Grand Island, 1489, 1490. Knows of no rebates or special rates; Union Pacific representatives in coal trade, 1490. All coal dealers treated equally, 1490, 1491. Plan of settlement; divided public sentiment; witness in favor of extension, even if certain debt would not be paid, 1491.

ADAMS, CHARLES FRANCIS, testimony of:
President of Union Pacific since June 17, 1884; had been Government director and general director, 43. Intimately acquainted with its affairs since May, 1884; only slight knowledge of its affairs prior to that time; Kansas Pacific consolidation; charges against Gould, Dillon, Ames, and others with reference thereto, 44. Financial condition of branch lines and claims against individuals by reason of circumstances connected with their origin; Union Pacific no power to build branches; organization of branches, 45. Details of construction of Denver and South Park Branch, 46. Transfer of same by Governor Evans to Union Pacific through Mr. Gould; its chief source of revenue cut off when collapse came in mining business, 47. Not earning operating expenses now; a case of the illusory values of that time; Union Pacific offered half a million bonus for the bargain; its future not hopeless, 48. A mineral road; gives control Colorado business; a burden for last two years; consideration for Denver and South Park paid in money, not in Union Pacific stock, 49. Details of ownership of its stock, 50. Branches of Denver and South Park to Leadville and Gunnison, together 100 miles; consolidated bonds issued to Union Pacific for construction; method of construction of branch lines; Union Pacific construction department contracts with responsible parties, 51. Retention of this branch of doubtful advantage to the parent company; the Nevada Central, on the Central Pacific, between Austin and Battle Mountain, 90 miles long, thrown overboard; stock and income bonds acquired in 1882; 52. The cost to Union Pacific, 53. Mining railroads a species of railroad gambling; purchase price honestly paid over; none of it went to any one connected with Union Pacific; Central Branch, Union Pacific, 54. Operated by Missouri Pacific and acquired through Gould; Gould's plan of development; Central Branch, Union Pacific, bought by Gould as part of this plan; located between Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific, 55. Character of business done, agricultural; very profitable; lease to Missouri Pacific over twenty-three years to run; its terms; none of the parties interested in the sale connected with Union Pacific, 56. Increase of stock of Union Pacific by consolidation; subsequent increase; new bond issues of Central Branch; work done on extensions by contract, 57. These construction bonds sold; Council Bluffs Street Railway; connects depot with town; thinks it will pay; "a good thing to sell;" why purchased, 58. Denver, Marshall and Boulder Railway; Denver to Marshall, 30 miles; coal business; acquired by witness, bonds purchased at 35; road reorganized. Leavenworth, Topeka and Southwestern, from Leavenworth to Topeka; bought in 1882, 59. Purchased through Dillon; 50 miles long; agricultural business; has paid operating expenses; was "forced" upon Union Pacific; coupons a joint guaranty with the Atchison, 60. Manhattan, Alma and Burlingame Railway; owned jointly with the Atchison; 56 miles long; agricultural road; pays operating expenses, but not interest on bonds, 61; an important connection; how paid for. Manhattan and Blue Valley Railway, a very important link, connects Kansas Pacific with Union Pacific, 62. Forty miles long, from Manhattan to Garrison; purchased by Union Pacific before completion;

both through and local business; indispensable; how built, 63. Omaha Belt Railway; now property of Missouri Pacific; litigation with that company, 64. Saint Joseph and Western, now part of Saint Joseph and Grand Island; how acquired, 64, 65. Agricultural business; stock and bonds bought in open market by Dillon and Gould for account Union Pacific; prices paid; nothing unfair; road has paid; company reorganized; bonds sold; stock still held, 65. Its future value problematical; earns surplus over interest and charges; no dividends on stock; Salina, Lincoln and Western Railway, 50 miles long, built in usual way, cost $14,000 per mile; Kansas Pacific supplies equipment, 66. South Park and Leadville Short Line; how acquired; Utah and Nevada Railway; Salt Lake to Stockton, via Garfield; remunerative, 67. Should be retained; recent dividend. Utah Central Railway, from Ogden to Salt Lake City; extended to Frisco; not profitable, owing to failure of Horn Silver mines and competition of Denver and Rio Grande, 68. Now earns operating expenses and interest on bonds; business, agricultural, grazing, and mineral; will not be a burden; furnishes valuable through traffic, 69. Wahsatch and Jordan Valley Railroad has been wound up; Colorado Central; Denver to Cheyenne; furnishing long-haul business; Union Pacific owns nearly all the bonds; varied nature of the business, 70. Two branches built by construction department; Colorado Central of Wyoming; built by Gould to force a consolidation with Denver Pacific; Gould's first connection with Union Pacific, 71. Present directors of Union Pacific who were such in the beginning, 71, 72. Echo and Park City Railway; a siding to the Ontario mine; has earned its cost fifty times over, 72. Its great value as a feeder; branches of the Union Pacific at west end more important than those at east end; Georgetown, Breckenridge and Leadville Railroad; "the loop line;" an engineering curiosity; mineral business; also pleasure travel, 73. Its value as a feeder to the Colorado Central; how a branch road whose whole traffic is less than operating expenses may be an advantage; Golden, Boulder and Caribou, merged in the Denver, Boulder and Marshall; Greeley, Salt Lake, and Pacific, 74. From Greeley to stone quarries at Stout; length 54 miles; constant deficit; very valuable feeder; haul is short, profit goes to main line; stone department of Union Pacific at Stout; not a distinct company; of great value; stone delivered in Mississippi Valley; Union Pacific derives haul over entire line, 75. Junction City and Fort Kearney; agricultural feeder to Kansas Pacific; unquestionably valuable; Kansas Central Railway; road runs west from Leavenworth; narrow gauge; at present a very poor piece of property; practice as to interest account with subsidiary roads, 76. Interest on bonds paid until this year; payment of interest on outstanding bonds has been stopped; Lawrence and Emporia, 25 miles long. Lawrence to Carbondale; mines worked out; road running at loss; why operated, 77, 78. Montana Railway; branch to the Anaconda smelting works; very profitable; no bonds; Union Pacific owns all stock; "the narrow gauge a first-class nuisance," 78. Comparison of narrow and standard gauges; still 1,500 miles of narrow gauge on Union Pacific; Omaha and Republican Valley; a system of branches in Nebraska, feeders of Union Pacific; about 750 miles in all; large increase of earnings in 1884; good future; acquired in regular way, 79. Marysville and Blue Valley, the link between Union and Kansas divisions; original cost of construction of Union Pacific, 80. Investments in branch lines from net earnings; several millions a year; why Union Pacific does not issue its own securities against branch lines; losses on branches fall on Union Pacific; how they are a profit, 81. Future of agricultural branches more certain than of mining branches; sinking funds; entire branch system worth $5,000,000 a year to Union Pacific, apart from the accounts of the branches themselves; investments in other enterprises; coal mines, elevators, exposition buildings, soda works, 82. Occidental and Oriental Steam-ship Company a source of profit; Central Pacific owns half, and Union Pacific owns half; witness opposed to these miscellaneous investments; on the whole, they have been profitable; payments to Government under 5 per cent. rule, paid in transportation; award of Court of Claims; the $900,000 item, 83. Interest of officers in other enterprises; an employé sometimes a nominal contractor; investment of land-grant mortgage sinking-fund; proceeds of sales of land, how disposed of, 84. Last dividend, April, 1884; various misfortunes in 1883; $4,000,000 less business in one year; net earnings for 1885 and 1886 used to pay floating debt, or for construction; $16,000,000 paid for improvement or construction since witness became president, half from net earnings, half from sale of securities, 85. Decrease of assets due to sale of securities, 86. Method of stating floating debt, 87. Hostile local legislation in

Nebraska and Kansas; arbitrary cutting down of rates; high taxes; land grants to competing lines, 88. Omaha, Niobrara, and Black Hills Railroad; agricultural, 89. Profitable in connection with main line; now part of Omaha and Republican Valley system; Oregon Short Line, from Granger to Huntington, connection over Oregon Railway and Navigation Company with Portland, 90. Organization and construction; why built; plan for building road, 91. Length, 610 miles; character of country traversed; begun in 1880, operated in 1882; total cost of construction and equipment, $25,000 a mile, 92. Bond and stock issues, $25,000 each per mile; Union Pacific guarantied interest on bonds; one-half the stock now in Union Pacific treasury, other half of stock went with bonds, no additional payment; the great value of Oregon Short Line to Union Pacific, 93, 94. Miscellaneous character of business done; Idaho most promising undeveloped field the Union Pacific now has; comparison between Oregon Short Line and California and Oregon, 94, 95. Guaranty of interest by Union Pacific; advised by counsel that consent of Congress unnecessary, 95. Apparent deficit on interest more than made up by the profits on derived business, 96. Union Pacific has haul of 800 miles on Oregon Short Line business; long haul business more profitable than any other; railroad operation described; whether at certain rates movement of freight involves a loss, 97. Rates on derived business, whether remunerative; why branch lines can not be left to independent development, 98. Branches only profitable in connection with main line; Oregon Short Line increases net earnings of aided portion of Union Pacific; without branches Government's 25 per cent. would be reduced one-half; lease of Oregon Navigation Company to Oregon Short Line; rental, $2,200,000 a year, 99. Will be beneficial to the public and to Union Pacific; possible results to Union Pacific, 100. Salina and South Western Railroad; in Kansas from Salina to McPherson, 25 miles; an agricultural feeder; built in 1878; has more than paid operating expenses; ownership of securities; a valuable adjunct to main line; Salt Lake and Western; 57 miles from Ironton to Silver City, mainly mineral region, 101. Its deficit; the Solomon Railroad an agricultural road in Kansas; has paid operating expenses; very desirable; Utah and Northern, from Ogden to Garrison on Northern Pacific, 466 miles, built by Mormons, 102. Union Pacific's interest in 1875; its financial history; character of country traversed; how the business is handled, 103, 104. Large business; valuable feeder; constructive mileage; what it is, 104. Allowance of, by Union Pacific to branch roads; arrangement approved by Government directors; allowance of by Eastern roads to Union Pacific; effect on Government's 25 per cent., 105. Benefits to branch lines and to main line rates of freight, by whom fixed; special rates, 106. None since interstate law; discrimination in rates, 107. CLELAND, JONAS M., testimony of:
Mayor of Sioux City; connection of Sioux City with Union Pacific; discrimination in favor of Omaha, 2276. Contribution by Sioux City, 2276, 2277. No complaints of discrimination; character of country along the line, 2277, 2278. Improved facilities; character of shipments; increase of traffic in last ten years, 2278. Desirability of connection with Union Pacific, 2278, 2279. Difference in freights from Sioux City and Kansas City, 2279.

CLEMENT, LEWIS M., testimony of:
Sworn statement relative to cost of construction of Central Pacific, 2576–2578. Connection with Central Pacific Railroad, 3202. Connected with construction from section 1 to Promontory Point, how estimates of measurements of excavation were obtained; original surveys in charge of chief engineer, 3203. Present custodian of the papers, 3203, 3204. The papers would not state total excavation; five classes of excavation, 3204. Measurements both vertical and horizontal, 3204, 3205. Determining between two classes of earth; no recollection of cost of removing earth, 3205. Grubbing and clearing on sections 75 to 100, 3205, 3206. Cost of part of grubbing, $5,000 per mile; "not Yankee forests," 3206. Cost of grubbing ranged from $200 to $4,000 or $5,000 a mile, 3206, 3207. Can not compare percentages of cost, 3207. Did not know that Mr. Crocker was interested in class 3, 3207, 3208. Chief engineer made the final estimates; excessive amount of third-class material, 3208. Class of work on section 83 to section 114 described, 3208, 3209. Section 75 to section 83 described; duties connected with the masonry, 3209. Stone along the line used for bridges, 3209, 3210. Classes of masonry; wood-work in charge of Arthur Brown; Arcade Creek the geological base of Sierra Nevadas, 3210. Construction more difficult east than west of the base, 3210, 3211. No fill more than 22 feet high; no cut deeper than 10 to 12 feet; 200 miles of the road not the most available line, 3211. Line surveyed by Union Pacific the better, 3211, 3212. Character of country from Ogden west, 3212. Engineers who had charge, 3212, 3213. Engaged in the work from 1863 to 1869; completed road extended to Reno in 1868; commenced at Ogden and worked west, 3213, 3214. Rails laid in 1869; laboring men in charge of Benson and West; witness employed for a while by Contract and Finance Company, 3214. Original cross-sections in custody of chief engineer; Interior Department furnished with profiles and maps; description of sections between 120 and Wells; grades reduced by cuts and fills, 3215. From Winnemucca to Wells described; could build the road from Wadsworth to Ogden for $22,000 a mile, including a moderate equipment; prices then beyond anything ever heard of; chief items of expense of construction, 3216. A great many teams employed; did not form any continuous estimate of cost of road, 3217. Cost of 7 miles from Sacramento eastward about $41,500 a mile, including all equipment except rolling-stock, 3217, 3218. for next 150 miles eastward some miles cost from $200,000 to $300,000; witness guesses they averaged at least $84,000; next 627 miles must have cost $56,000 per mile, 3218, 3219. Nothing to add to his statement embraced in Governor Stanford's testimony; Central Pacific had to hurry; road from Sacramento to Wadsworth only would have been valueless; his classifications right and just, 3219. Wages to Chinamen and white men, 3219, 3220. A sum which somebody else must solve, 3220. Cost for ten days for 300 men about $4,000, 3220, 3221. Powder for grubbing; worked from 1862 till death of Mr. Judah, 3221. Reconnaissance of Feather River route; from Reno east cost $56,000 a mile, not including equipment, 3222. Cost of equipment per mile, 3222, 3223. Simply an estimate as to cost, without including contractors' profits; $300,000 not too much for construction from section 1 to section 18, 3223. Same conditions would never occur again, 3223, 3224. Not feasible to divide construction among different contractors; the railroad company could have built the road, 3224. The 10 per cent. a proper thing; can not speak as to profits; simply refers to actual doing of the work; mining crazes, 3225. How labor is affected by them, 3225, 3226. Impossible to get white labor; further explanation of the 10 per cent.; railroad companies not so well equipped as construction companies, 3226. What is economical railroad management as to construction; competency of chief officers for construction purposes, 3227. Was it economy to employ Contract and Finance Company, 3227, 3228. Advantages of contracts, 3228. The work better done by construction companies, 3228, 3229. Plant of the Contract and Finance Company; who purchased the materials, 3229. Did the railway furnish the construction outfit, 3229, 3230. Class of equipment required; method of subletting repairs an exception, 3230. For large construction the contract plan preferred, 3230, 3231. Proposed tunnel through the Sierra Nevadas; size and length of tunnel, 3231. One route of tunnel, 3231, 3232. A thousand feet of mountain over the tunnel; other routes, 3232. Estimate of cost of tunneling from a quarter of a million to a million dollars a mile, 3232, 3233.

CLIFF, JOHN T., testimony of:
Quarry at Spring Cañon; rates paid; 2039. Insufficient car service, 2039, 2040. Superior facilities of Union Pacific quarries; other quarries sell to Union Pacific quarry, 2040. Insufficient car service; extent of switching facilities required, 2041. Method of payment by Union Pacific quarries, 2041, 2042. Quarries near Fort Collins; difficulty in reaching a market in competition with Union Pacific quarries, 2042. Chicago capitalists deterred from purchasing by high rates, 2042, 2043. Could not give rates for flagging to compete with Union Pacific market; Stout and Constable got cars, 2043. There was only a demand for flagging, 2048.

COBB, MOSES G., testimony of:
Suit of Samuel Brannan against Central Pacific, 3243. Upon what information certain allegations were based, 3243, 3244. No definite information; donation by the State of California, 3244. Mr. Montague, Central Pacific's chief engineer, had charge of monthly estimates, according to which payments were to be made, 3644, 3645. As to cross-sections; prices for excavation, 3645. Proportion of high-priced excavation, 3645, 3646. Witness did not revise the monthly estimates; locomotives hauled on sleighs; as to when the Contract and Finance Company commenced work; witness' books of construction from section 43 to east line of State, 3646. By whom kept and where, 3646, 3647. Witness does not know what became of them after work was done, 3647, 3648. Call for books of Charles Crocker & Co., 3648. Commission wish to ascertain whether or not they are in existence, 3648, 3649. Witness' recollection of compensation for work done from Newcastle to east line of State, 3649. Witness put the Central Pacific stock (received in part payment) into Contract Company, 3649, 3650. Were Stanford, Huntington, Hopkins, and Crocker designated to hold all the stock, 3650. Other holders of Contract Company stock, 3650, 3651. Bulk of Central Pacific stock issued to Crocker & Co. for construction, 3651. Why they passed it over to Contract Company in which others were interested, 3651, 3652. When that was done; great rejoicing on completion of road; earnings of Central Pacific up to May, 1869; 3652. As to suits brought against Stanford to recover on ground of misapplication of funds by directors, 3653. As to settlement of such suits—Lambard, Robinson, and Brannan suits, 3653, 3654. As to value of Central Pacific stock in 1869 and 1870; 3654. What was paid for stock in settlement of suits, 3654, 3655. Why the suits were settled; witness sold all his Central Pacific stock in 1871 to Stanford and associates for 12 cents on the dollar, 3655. The stock not paid for, but returned, 3655, 3656. The contract in writing; no dividend had been paid when stock was returned, 3656, 3657. The stock had not passed out of witness' possession; notes given for the stock, 3657. As to preparation and custody of contract, 3657, 3658. The sale a bona fide transaction, though no money paid; considerations of health involved in Mr. Crocker's retirement from road, 3658. What was cost of construction of stations 31 to 138, 3658, 3659. Witness' financial condition when he undertook construction of Central Pacific; construction of sections 31 to 138 cost Crocker & Co. all they got, 3659. Employment of Chinese, 3659, 3660. Had 12,000 employed at one time; as to white men employed, 3660. As to bills for extra work, 3660, 3661. Formation of Contract and Finance Company; capital stock, $5,000,000; interests of Huntington and associates, 3661. Witness then re-entered the board of Central Pacific, 3661, 3662. Character of work done by Contract Company; points of difficulty in construction; no special difficulties for four-fifths of the distance between Reno and Promontory Point, 3662. Commencing at Wadsworth, 501 miles built in nine months and twenty days; construction 200 miles in advance of the track; witness was president of Contract Company during construction, 3663. Witness first knew the books of Contract Company were missing in December, 1873, 3663; his efforts to find books; failure to find them a great misfortune. 3664. Conversed with Stanford about their disappearance; has no memoranda from them; when construction finished contract company held Central Pacific notes for $6,000,000, 3665. For what given; as to division of surplus assets among stockholders of contract company, 3666. The witness got $13,000,000, 3666, 3667. As to other dividends; thinks he got some land-grant bonds; does not remember that Messrs. S. S. H. and C. received $13,500,000, 3667. His profits on the construction contract; does not remember exact figures; was it $13,000,000? Does not recollect how many land-grant bonds he had; nor how much the profits were, 3668. Were the bonds given in payment of the notes? witness's connection with the Western Pacific; S. S. H. and C. owners of the Western Pacific stock, 3669. Witness's connection with the Central Pacific, 3669, 3670. Construction by Western Development Company; witness a stockholder in it; thinks he owned about a quarter of the stock; 3671. taining connecting roads; witness a stockholder in connecting companies and, if present, voted on leases, 3672. Did he vote for the lease of the Colorado River Bridge? 3673. All those contracts profitable to Central Pacific; propriety of directors voting on contracts in which they were interested on both sides; case of the Rocky Mountain Coal Company, 3673. Witness approved of everything that benefited Central Pacific; cost to Pacific Improvement Company of construction company from Delta to northern boundary of State, and payments for same by Central Pacific, 3674. Was it a proper contract? 3674, 3675. As to cost of the Colorado River Bridge; bill for $692,000 for the Oakland wharf extension, 3675. Central Pacific counsel objects to reading of memorandum, 3675, 3676. Not fair to put witness's defective memory against company's books; ashamed of nothing he has done, 3676. What he recalls of his release from liabilities to Central Pacific, 3676, 3677. Foreclosure by United States would be disastrous, 3677. Thinks Government should write off its claim; insufficient vouchers for large amounts charged to expenses or legal expenses; knows the moneys were applied to some good purpose, 3678. Has no specific knowledge of their application, 3678, 3679. Does not know whether they were use to influence legislation, 3679. Objection by counsel to questions as to Colton letters, 3679, 3680. Definition of the Rocky Mountain base-line; experts fixed it "for the purpose of the bill" at Arcade Creek, 3680. Nature of country east of Arcade Creek; the President of the United States fixed the base-line, 3681. Central Pacific unable to pay its debt to Government, 3681, 3682. Plan of settlement; one hundred and fifty years extension ought to be given; favors fixed annual payment, 3682. Effect on Central Pacific of construction of Southern Pacific, 3682, 3683. It was bound to be built anyway, 3683 Diversion of Government freight from Central Pacific, 3683, 3684. Probable effect of an act authorizing sale of Government interest in Central Pacific, 3684. Suggests that the Commission meet Mr. Huntington, to formulate a plan of settlement; has never used Central Pacific funds or securities to influence legislation, 3685. As to hostile legislation, 3685, 3686. Effect of Government aid to competing lines; grading of Sacramento levee very expensive, 3686. Aid-bonds from the base-line; Charles Crocker & Co. in debt after completion of Central Pacific; had Central Pacific stock as an asset; contract company in same condition, 3687. Connections made by Central Pacific to reach Ogden and San Francisco, 3687, 3688. Oakland and Alameda ferries purchased; acceptance of road by Government, 3688. Government slow in furnishing land patents, 3688, 3689. Construction of San Joaquin Valley road an advantage to Central Pacific; the ferries and consolidated lines an advantage, 3689. Land grant paid to members of contract company in satisfaction of loans, 3689, 3690. Mr. Cohen states that land-grant bonds were not paid out as dividends, 3690. Copy resolution September 9, 1873, from Central Pacific minutes, as to settlement of individual indebtedness to contract company, 3690, 3691. Mr. Cohen states that these notes were given for benefit of the Western Development Company, 3691. When company accepted the act of 1862, they understood that one-half the transportation money would go to pay the interest and that the other half would form a sinking-fund to retire the principal, 3691. Company disappointed as to Government freights and mails, 3691, 3692. Extra cost of road from early completion; premium on gold in 1864; 3692. Supposed Government would do as agreed in regard to transportation, 3693. Mr. Cohen states that Government saved in fifteen years, to January 1, 1886, $100,000,000 on freight and passengers, and $39,600,000, 3693, 3694. The construction of Southern Pacific injured Central Pacific's through business and benefited its local business; diversion of business from aided to unaided lines, 3694. Central Pacific directors have not failed in their obligations to Government, 3694, 3695. Road from San Francisco to San José built before completion of Central Pacific, 3695.

in Carson Valley, 3623, 3624. Prices proportionately high in San Francisco; 12½ cents per pound for freight across Sierra Nevadas; could not get it over at any price in winter; engaged ten or eleven years in building railroads, 3624. Constructed South Pacific Coast Railroad; Central Pacific could now be built for less than half original cost, 3625. The projectors thought to be "a little off," 3626.

DAVIS, JAMES W., testimony of:
Attorney-at-law, 1080. Admitted in 1856; a contractor of Union Pacific in 1868: furnished ties, timber, and lumber; contract was made in December, 1867; work completed in 1869; contracted with the trustees, not with company; had the "Davis contract;" took another contract "nominally," 1081. Assigned latter to trustees of road, without consideration; witness' associates in furnishing lumber and ties; prices for lumber and ties, 1082. Came out $200,000 behind; the firm wrecked by Boss Tweed's jurisprudence; judgment for $200,000 fraudulently taken against him; supplied ties and lumber for the entire road; neither witness nor his associates received more than contract price; the settlement made with trustees, 1083. Witness had $500,000 worth of material on hand when road complete, 1084. Did not appear before Congressional committee; was a director of the Wyoming Coal and Mining Company, which served Union Pacific with coal; assigned his stock to Union Pacific Railroad for nothing, 1085. It cost him nothing; does not know what was charged by the trustees to the railway company on account of ties and lumber; went visiting after being served with summons under wrong name; employed 3,000 men and 500 teams on his contract; his parol contract with Durant to deliver 2,000,000 feet of timber, 1086, 1087. Repudiated by company; his claim for breach of contract included in his settlement; charged only from 65 to 90 cents for most expensive ties on the road; was ruined by the contract; the contract made with seven trustees, 1087. Never had anything to do with Credit Mobilier; the contract to the trustees covered 146 miles, 1088.

DAVIS, NATHANIEL R., testimony of:
Discontinuance of Colorado Branch; its effect, 2091. Alleged reason of discontinuance, 2091, 2092. Discontinued about 1883; the proposed Wyoming extension, 2092. What prevents the Union Pacific from building branches, 2092, 2093. Donation of $400,000 county bonds; effect of Evener's Association on cattle business of west, 2093. Forcing Wyoming ranchmen to sell in Chicago; method of cattle shipments, 2094.

DAY, HENRY, testimony of:
Connection with Atchison and Pike's Peak road, now Central Branch Union Pacific, as to right given to Hannibal and Saint Joseph Railroad Company in act of 1862; Hannibal and Saint Joseph Railroad assigned to Atchison and Pike's Peak Company, 4007, 4008. Witness' interest in Atchison and Pike's Peak Company; Atchison and Pike's Peak road built by a construction company; Mr. Osborne, the contractor, 4008. Other parties interested; first 100 miles completed within the limitations, 4009. What Mr. Osborne was to receive, 4009, 4010. Owners of shares in Osborne contract, also Central Branch directors; history of the road; when applications to Congress were pressed, 4010. When attempts to get legislation ceased; no intervening parties between railroad and Osborne people; paid $20,000 for his share, 4011. Nature of Mr. Osborne's contract, 4011, 4012. No knowledge of the cost of construction; Mr. Osborne built the road, the shareholders sharing the liability, 4012. Operation of road after completion, 4012, 4013. Sale to Kansas Pacific; time of sale, 4013. Afraid Mr. Gould might ruin the stock, 4013, 4014. Condition of road in 1878 and 1879; arrears of interest funded, 4014. Why he thought the stock had but little value; continuing the funding process, 4015. Ability of the company to meet its liabilities, 4015, 4016. The Central Branch's land grant, 4016. Certificates of indebtedness, 4016, 4017. Secured by a land trust; lands used to raise money; trusts not recorded, 4018. An inquiry for the books, 4018, 4019. Witness' efforts at Washington, 4019. The duties of those who urged aid; nothing of value used for the purpose of influencing votes, 4020. The Atchison, Colorado and Pacific, 4020, 4021. Discrimination as to barbed wire; numerous complaints in 1883; 1559. Traffic of Central Branch very large, 1560. Since establishment of Kansas railroad commission, complaints substantially ceased; plan of settlement; Government justified in canceling debt; road not able to pay Government debt, 1560, 1561. Central Branch traffic; its development; freight rates on Atchison and Topeka lower than on Central Branch, 1561.

GOBLE, MILTON H., testimony of:
Interested in Pacific Hotel Company since December 1, 1884; Union Pacific has half interest, 1247. Witness' former connection with Union Pacific; cash capital of the hotel company, $50,000; Union Pacific contributed buildings; while an official, never expended money to influence legislation, 1248. Mr. Kimball's alleged interest in elections; overcharges and rebates; pools, 1249, 1250. Union Pacific eating-houses; no competition; witness' direction that, "to allay dissatisfaction along the line of road, freight be billed at full tariff, but bill rendered against Pacific Hotel Company at half tariff rates;" his explanation, 1253, 1254. Half rates in the original contract; Pacific Hotel Company pays no freight; 1254. Reduced rates to company's employés as an offset; a matter of concession; how it affects competitors; meals at schedule rates; agreement between Union Pacific and Markel, Swobe & Co., 1255. Provision as to rates of freight; impossible for any eating house to compete; necessity of railroad control of eating-houses, 1256. Sixty thousand dollars profit last year; disposition of company's share, 1257.

GOODRIDGE, HENRY, testimony of:
The Stuart coal mine, 1966. An allowance of $1,340; 1966, 1967. Only obtained after putting claim in attorney's hands; rebate to Mr. Binford, the Union Pacific agent; thinks there were other rebates made, 1967. His business, how affected by the Marshall Coal Company, 1967, 1968. The community not benefited by rebates or preferential rates, 1968.

GOODWIN, ALMON, testimony of:
Counsel for trustees in suit to release Denver Pacific stock, 242, 243. Expedition desired, 243. Not aware of impending consolidation; history of the proceedings, 243. What the trustees told witness as to the value of the security to be released, 243, 244. Without value as it stood, but when freed might be worth $200,000 or $300,000; 244. After release worth about $1,000,000; 244, 245.

GOODWIN, C. C., testimony of:
Editor of Salt Lake Tribune, 2202. Plan of settlement; small bonds at low terms of interest; should have proceeds of road for five or six years to build extensions, 2203. Description of country through which lines should be built, 2203, 2204. Irrigation necessary to raise crops; the ore deposits; reasons for extension of Union Pacific system to Pacific coast near Los Angeles, 2204. A shorter through line; this extension necessary; the route, 2205. Favors funding Government lien into long bonds at low rate, payable by installments annually, 2206. Extension of line to Puget Sound advocated; resources of Washington Territory, 2206, 2207. Railroad situation in Utah; danger to Union Pacific from anticipated competitors; development of Union Pacific system of vital consequence, 2207.

GOULD, JAY, testimony of:
His early connection with Union Pacific, 446. Bought about 100,000 shares in 1873; soon afterward found the property in danger; funding the floating debt into bonds; became director in 1874; 447. Not connected with Fisk suit or the procurement of injunction against Union Pacific in 1869; did not suggest Kansas Pacific consolidation in 1875; 448. The Colorado Central not a rival of Kansas Pacific; their routes, 449. Agreement between Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific in 1875; 449, 450 Never consummated; Kansas Pacific's claim to pro-rate; why the Colorado Central was built, 456. Another agreement, its effect on Denver Pacific; another agreement in 1875 looking to adjustment of differences between Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific; no interest in Kansas Pacific prior to 1878; owned about 200,000 shares Union Pacific in 1878; had forgotten Kansas Pacific pooling agreement, 451. Securities of the Kansas Pacific signed for by witness, 451, 452. The income bonds; the difficulties which culminated in the pooling agreement; Kansas Pacific incumbrances, 452, 453. The Denver extension mortgage; original purpose of pooling agreement, to retire at a scaled rate all liens subsequent to first mortgage and government lien, and substitute an issue of stock, 453. This plan abandoned and the consolidated mortgage made; how the prices in the pooling agreement were fixed, 458. Seventeen million dollars to be funded into $1,855,300 in stock; summary of original scheme; when scheme for consolidated mortgage took shape; mortgage drawn by Judge Usher, 455. Method of scaling securities in consolidation, 456, 457. One million one hundred thousand dollars out of the $1,500,000 funding bonds owned by Ames, Dillon, and witness, 457. Rates for income bonds; witness fixed the prices at a fair figure; had over $2,000,000 of them himself, 458. Dillon, Villard, and Sage were trustees of the pool; how did witness know how many bonds he was entitled to get, 459. His recollection of the re-organization certificates; the withdrawal of the Kansas Pacific stock from pool, 460. Bought out the Saint Louis interest, 460, 461. Sold one-sixth to Sage; amount of this purchase, 461. Re-organization certificates; did witness pay 12½ cents for the 42,000 shares of stock, or was it thrown in, 462. What is meant by phrase "re-organization bonds" in Mr. Sage's account 462, 463. At consolidation witness owned 27,000 shares Union Pacific and 40,300 shares Kansas Pacific; former quoted at 93½, latter at 98; Gould's purchases of stamped income bonds, 463. Condition of Kansas Pacific when bought by witness; $4,000,000 interest arrears; credit, poor; why Gould bought the stamped income bonds; what they covered; other holders of stamped incomes, 464. His purchase in 1879 of about $2,000,000 Denver Pacific bonds from Amsterdam people at 74; of the $4,000,000 Denver Pacific stock Kansas Pacific owned $3,000,000, and witness $1,000,000; 465. His interest in Kansas Pacific and Saint Joseph and Western, 466. Copy account showing witness' purchases and sales during 1879 of Saint Joseph and Denver first-mortgage bonds, stock and receiver's certificates, and Saint Joseph Bridge bonds and stock; also amounts of Union Pacific stock received in exchange, 466–469. Witness allowed other Union Pacific people to take what interest they chose in these purchases, 469, 470. Witness also had 2,661 Kansas Pacific consolidated sixes, and 1,000,000 Union Pacific collateral sixes at consolidation. Copy of his Hastings and Grand Island account, 470. The 8,819 shares stock Saint Joseph and Denver went with the bonds as "trimmings," 471; 400 of them sold for hotel bills. Details of purchases of Saint Joseph Bridge bonds and stock and receiver's certificates. Witness built Hastings and Grand Island; thus acquired his interest, 472. "Union Pacific advances" represent actual payments to contractor, on witness' account. Payment of $25,000 to Bond for services as receiver, 473. Three hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars Hastings and Grand Island bonds cost witness $220,859.25, 4,000 shares stock thrown in, 473, 474. Held 170,000 shares Union Pacific on January 1, 1879; sale of Union Pacific stock to syndicate in 1879; his interest reduced to 27,000 shares on January 1, 1880; had his interest then put out of his name; why, 474. Immediately after consolidation his name re-appeared as owner of 99,000 new shares; how this amount made up, 475. Made sales immediately after consolidation; wanted to distribute the stock; it had advanced 30 points; nominal transfers by witness of 60,000 shares; the letter to Humphreys and Dodge, 476, 477. Why they were selected; witness purchased Missouri Pacific, November 13, 1879; 477. No knowledge that Humphreys and Dodge made a careful examination of the question, 477, 478. What considerations they should have gone into; the future as a criterion in estimating railroad values, 478, 479. The letter to Humphreys and Dodge and witness' connection therewith, 479. Their report; their suggestion as to the capital stock of the new company, the one witness had thought of, 479. Did they merely copy a form prepared by some one else, 479, 480. Mileage of Union Pacific, Kansas Pacific, and their branches, 481, 482. When witness received this report he was not in favor of the consolidation, 482. Alarm caused by witness' resignation from Union Pacific; forced to carry consolidation through; would have paid $1,000,000 rather than do so, 483. Acquaintance with John F. Dillon, 483, 484. Did not confer with him as to letter to Humphreys and Dodge, 484. Preparation of articles of consolidation, and witness' connection therewith, 484, 485. Names of the men who urged witness to carry consolidation through, 485, 486. How witness came to be named a director, 486. Substance of preliminary paper agreeing to consolidation, 486, 487. Suit to release Denver Pacific stock; conversation with Holmes on that subject, 487. Decided to put Denver Pacific stock into consolidation; his own at 10 cents, and the 3,000,000 trust stock at a valuation of $500,000. 488. By the terms of consolidation, Denver Pacific stock was to be exchanged at par; witness therefore knew that, if freed, it was worth as much as Union Pacific Railway stock, 488. Mr. Dillon's letter to Gould and Sage, trustees, and their reply, 488, 489. Verification by witness of answer to complaint,

489, 490; Mr. Calef's affidavit, 490; did not think it his duty as trustee to state to Mr. Holmes the fact that the stock, if released, was to be exchanged for Union Pacific, 490. Why the proceeds of the released stock were not paid back to the trustees; why Denver Pacific was included in the consolidation, 491. Trustees could get $500,000 for the released stock, or nothing; not informed as to Dillon's testimony before referee, 492. Tables of mileage, bonded debt, and stock of Union Pacific, Kansas Pacific, Leavenworth Branch, and Denver Pacific, 492, 493. List of sales on stock exchange from January 1, 1880, to January 24, 1880; 493–495. Table showing formation of Kansas Pacific consolidated mortgage, 496. Copy account of Kansas Pacific pool, 497. Abstract of witness's journal entries concerning the pool, 497–501. Memorandum of bonded debt of Kansas Pacific and interest charges when consolidated bond was issued; memorandum of Kansas Pacific land grant, 502. Kansas Pacific reorganization certificates, 502, 503. Reasons for exchange of Denver Pacific stock with Kansas Pacific Company rather than with trustees of consolidated mortgage, 503–505. Witness's purchase of Missouri Pacific; his idea of another through road to Ogden; the true line across the continent, 505. Effect of disclosure of the fact of purchase, 506, 507. Substance of preliminary paper proposing consolidation, 507, 508. Witness felt "committed" to the consolidation with Union Pacific; the proposed extension of Missouri Pacific would have destroyed Union Pacific, 509. Witness bought Missouri Pacific to protect Kansas Pacific; Garrison paralleling the latter; witness bought out Garrison, 509. As to Missouri Pacific extension, though tempted, witness did not yield, 509, 510. Proposed extension would have wiped out the security of the United States; Government legislation destructive of its own interest, 510. Offer to pay present worth of Government debt in cash, 510. When and to whom made; amount between $15,000,000 and $17,000,000, 511. Accrued interest, 511, 512. Why offer refused, 512. No recollection of the circumstances of the consolidation meetings, 613. Circumstances connected with his letter of resignation, 513, 514. Reasons for resignation, 514. No deals made before resignation, 514, 515. The prices for securities not then fixed, 515. Circumstances attending resignation, 515, 516. The object of getting resignation on record, on January 24. The object of canceling the Colorado lease, 516. What witness then knew of the Humphreys-Dodge report, 516, 517. Circumstances of Kansas Pacific consolidation, 517, 518. First meeting Union Pacific Railway, January 26, 1880. Witness motion ratifying consolidation, 518. Object of resignation from Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific, 518, 519. Why both resignations were moved by Sage, 519, 520. Kansas Pacific minutes as to purchase of branch lines; refers to agreement made at witness's house, not to any binding corporate action, 520. Statement of securities embraced in this purchase, 520, 521. Explanation of apparently increased holdings, 521, 522. Statement of witness's purchase of Kansas Central bonds and stock, and Denver Pacific stock, and their exchange for Union Pacific stock, 523. Situation of Kansas Central; at time of purchase witness knew nothing of its condition; purchase of 5,000 shares Denver Pacific from Arapahoe County, 524. Statement of purchases of Central Branch stock, 524, 525. How the sellers deceived witness, 525. Ames and Gould contracts, 525, 526. Collateral trust bonds, 526. Lease of Kansas Central and Central Branch to Missouri Pacific a part of the consolidation arrangement; Central Branch first leased to Kansas Pacific, 527; terms under which Missouri Pacific operates it; financial condition of Central Branch when sold by witness to Union Pacific; has it earned any dividend since 1880?, 528. Witness paid Garrison $3,000,000 for 4,000 shares Missouri Pacific, 528, 529. Conditional offer by witness to sell Kansas Central bonds and stock, 529. Why witness was paid in stock instead of bonds, 529, 530. Did not Union Pacific Railway assume the obligations of constituent companies?, 530, 531. Why payment not made in Kansas Pacific consolidated bonds; can not explain origin of authority to settle in stock, 531, 532. Pool securities, 532. An explanation asked for the difference between amount of pool securities at commutation rates and amount which mortgage states was to be given for them, 532–534. Witness never knew of the discrepancy, 533. It probably arose from advances made by witness to pay interest on Denver extension bonds, 533, 534. Holders of pool securities got no preference. The "cash advances" theory untenable, 534. The "baby bonds," 534, 535. Witness's purchase of Denver and South Park, 535. Had an interest in its construction, 535, 536. His purchase from Governor Evans for Union Pacific; turned in his own stock and bonds at same price, 536. His interest in the Utah and Northern; turned same over to Union Pacific at cost, 537. His interest in other branch lines, 537, 539. His loans of money to Union Pacific. Persons employed at Washington to watch legislation, 539, 540.

No recollection of recommending employment of Ordway, 540, 541. Witness' recommendation that suits be brought against Credit Mobilier and trustees of Ames and Davis's contracts, 541, 542. Appointment of committee to negotiate and settle, 542. The $4,000,000 note, 542, 543. Suit by Credit Mobilier in Massachusetts, 543. Suit against Hazard; equity suit brought by Government against Union Pacific and persons interested in Ames and Davis's contracts; concerning Credit Mobilier's shareholders' assignment to Union Pacific and their release from liability, 545, 546. Article 23 of consolidated mortgage, 547. No bonds issued except those provided for by $3,400,000 contract at other rates than those specified in article 23; 547, 548. $2,000,000 bonds issued to witness to repay advances for interest, 548. The authority in article 23; bonds issued to Maxwell and Graves, 549. The Union Pacific entitled to draw bonds, 549, 550. Issue of bonds to Oliver Ames for Central Branch stock, 550, 551. Issue to Russell Sage; duty of trustees as to delivering bonds to Union Pacific, 551. Issue to Gould and Sage, trustees, 551, 552. Dealings of trustees with Union Pacific; other issues to Gould and Sage, 553. Prices received by witness for bonds surrendered, 553. Total indebtedness of Union Pacific December 14, 1879; indebtedness of Kansas Pacific at that time, 555. Witness's holdings in Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific, 555, 556. Owned Missouri Pacific absolutely; ownership of the $4,000,000 Denver Pacific stock, 556. Amount of Kansas Pacific consolidated bonds now outstanding, $16,430,000; the $4,000,000 Denver Pacific stock again; a portion used to pay Gould; Union Pacific could just as well have issued its own stock, 557. Witness in a position to dictate the terms of the consolidation; actual cost of witness's holdings of Kansas Pacific, 558. Indebtedness of Union Pacific after consolidation; object of change of name of Union Pacific from railroad to railway, 559, 560. Witness and associates did not manipulate the market in 1878–1880; the Thurman act, 560. Gross and net earnings of Union Pacific in 1878–1883, 560. Dividends of Union Pacific and its payments under Thurman act; the telegraph line required by Congress to be constructed, 561, 562. Pool securities, their conversion at a different rate from mortgage rate, 564, 565. Provision of mortgage as to conversion of branch bonds, 565, 566. $2,000,000 of bonds issued to witness at 75; how rate fixed, 566, 567. Explanation of other issues of bonds at other than mortgage rates, 567, 568. No over issue of bonds, 568. Class of credits given Union Pacific in bond account: article 4; proceeds of land sales applicable to interest, 568. Not credited with interest accruing on consolidated bonds 569. Provisions of consolidated mortgage, 569, 570. No overissue, 570. Enough remains to retire all outstanding issues, even at par; how Utah Northern was acquired; sold to Union Pacific by witness at cost, 571, 572. Earnings of Denver and South Park, 1880–'84, 572. Its purchase by witness, 572, 573. No profit to witness on sale to Union Pacific, 573. Rio Grande's lease to Atchison company, 573, 574. His sales of Kansas Pacific to Sage and Dillon; value of these securities at consolidation; value of Saint Joseph Bridge bonds if consolidation had not taken place, 574, 575. Purchases of Saint Joseph and Denver first-mortgage bonds in 1879; their quotations not the result of "washed" sales; why they advanced so rapidly in 1879–'80, 575. Purchase made to protect Union Pacific from the Iowa pool lines, 576, 577. Union Pacific then hampered by not having charter power to throw out branches and thus protect its territory, 577. Has no present interest in Union Pacific, 577, 578. The building of branches during witness's connection with company, 578. No knowledge of individuals profiting by the building of branch roads; probable effect of severing the branches; motive for purchasing Central Branch Union Pacific stock, 578, 579. Did he pay too much, 580. Central Branch and Kansas Central more valuable now; purchase of the latter from Garrison, 580. Will take Saint Joseph and Western, Central Branch and Kansas Central back now at cost, and pay cash, 580. Particulars as to Denver Pacific, 581, 582. Mortgage in default, stock of no value; security of bondholders under consolidated mortgage improved; why proceeds of $3,000,000 Denver Pacific stock not turned in as security for consolidated bonds, 582, 583. Did not influence Dodge and Humphries, 583. Why Kansas Pacific more valuable than Union Pacific at consolidation, 583, 584. Statement of Kansas Pacific land grant, 584. Financial condition at that time of the two companies, 584, 585. Witness did not make prices on stock exchange; consolidation unanimously approved; effect on the Government securities, 585, 586. Advantages of consolidation over agreement, 586. The men who urged consolidation on witness represented Union Pacific, 586, 587. Careful not to violate law that no dividend be paid except out of net earnings, 587. Controversies with the Government as to what net earnings are, and as to mail compensation, and as to new construction and equipment relating to net earnings, 587, 588. Why witness retired from Union Pacific, 588. Its future; witness building roads through Southern Kansas; construction by other companies; necessity for concessions by Government; cost of building the Union Pacific, 589. Its benefit to the Government; witness never loaned money to Union Pacific to pay dividends; his advances to pay interest on Kansas Pacific obligations, 590. Favors extension at 3 per cent., company to have right to pay the money or take new bonds, 590, 591. Copies of his accounts concerning Denver and South Park construction, and Denver and South Park stock, 591, 592.

GRANT, JAMES B., testimony of:
Governor of Colorado in 1883-'84; connected with Omaha and Grant Company, 1815. Lower rates to their competitors, 1815, 1816. Special rates; effect of rebates upon community, 1816. Special rates advocated, 1816, 1817. Railroad people not interested in business along the line, 1817. Interference with legislation and elections, 1817, 1818. No hostile legislation in Colorado; plan of settlement; Government control no advantage, 1818. Effect of extension of time to pay; pools short lived; political effect of Government control, 1819.

GRAY, RICHARD, testimony of:
General freight agent of Central Pacific since May, 1882; no diversion of traffic to Southern Pacific; special inducements to shippers by "sunset" route, 3572. Freight way-billed three times on Northern lines 3572, 3573. Never declined to co-operate with northern lines; transcontinental traffic of secondary importance prior to opening of the "sunset" route, 3573. California Fast Freight Line contains 2,900 cars, 3573, 3574. Equipments of Central and Union Pacific; connections of Southern Pacific; Union Pacific west-bound freight decreasing; diversion from California Pacific to Western Pacific, 3574. Branch roads feeders to parent road, 3574, 3575. As to cost per ton of moving freight, between Sacramento and San Francisco, over Western Pacific and California Pacific; harmonious relations with Pacific Mail a necessity to Central Pacific, 3575, 3578. Pacific roads constructed seven years before time required, through sparsely peopled country; capitalists said, "The line can not pay;" traffic went round Cape Horn; tea, silk, etc., sent overland; Asiatic freight a large and valuable business, 3576. Market for coffee via San Francisco 3576, 3577. Conservation of rates became of vital importance; joint agents fixed the rates; revenue from traffic in excess of agreed proportion; how adjusted, 3577. Good reasons for the arrangement with the Pacific Mail, 3577. Result of the policy; losses to Central Pacific through competing lines; reference to statements and statistics presented by Stubbs, and to Exhibit No. 12, annexed to Stanford's statement; loss on passenger and freight earnings 3578. Does not get all the Government transportation it expected, 3578, 3579. Special contracts, 3579–3581. Before 1878 most of California freight from Eastern States carried by clipper round Cape Horn; no fixed basis of charge; other elements of competition, 3579. "Contract system" inaugurated to meet the competition, 3579, 3580. Reasons for refunding excess in rates; the "contract" system soon became general; "rebate" a misnomer, 3580. Standard Oil Company's contract, 3580, 3581. In accordance with business principles; pooling or "joint purse" arrangements, 3581–3583. Pacific Mail and transcontinental "joint purses," 3581. Other "joint purse" arrangements, 3581, 3582. Made for protection of revenue; illustration of their effect on revenue; increased rates received, 3582. Business affected by pools, 3582, 3583. Copy statement showing gross freight and passenger receipts, also amount of earnings protected by pools and amount not covered by pooling arrangements, for years 1877 to 1885; copy statement of the gross freight and passenger receipts from 1877 to 1885 inclusive; also contributions to pools and amounts not pooled during same period (Pacific system) 3583.

GUNN, JAMES O'B., testimony of:
In iron foundry business in San Francisco; secretary of various corporations, 3091. His custody of books of Contract and Finance Company, 3091, 3092. His examination of books kept by John Miller, 3092. Object of examination; to whom report was made; left in the safe after examination, 3093. Why was witness asked to examine books; description of the books, 3094. Had nothing to do with books of "S., H., H. & C.," 3094, 3095. Who had charge of Contract Company's books after witness; left railroad service in 1883, 3095. Location of vault in which books were kept, 3095, 3096. When witness last saw the books, 3096. Saw them several years after his examination in 1876, 3096, 3097. Production of books called for, 3097. Complaint that length of Commission's sessions gives no time to procure papers and books,

3097, 3098. Nature of report on books; construction accounts in the books, 3094. Who had access to the vault, 3098, 3099. No reason for destruction of books; kept on ordinary principles of book-keeping, 3099. Examination of witness in John Miller's case, 3099, 3100. Owners of Union Iron Works; Stanford and associates not interested; is trustee of land-grant mortgage, 3100. How its accounts are kept, 3100, 3101. Through whom information as to land-grant mortgage can be obtained, 3101. When Contract and Finance books were examined, 3101, 3102. "Never saw anything wrong" in them; was an officer of California Pacific from 1871–'82; traveling auditor of the Central Pacific from 1869–71; does not recall any entries in Contract Company's books, 3102. Examined them to discover defalcation, if any; entries made by witness, 3103.

Manager of smelting company; United States Senator from 1879 to 1885; five roads now come into Denver; first road to Denver, 1749. Business relations with Union Pacific; facilities and accommodations furnished; reduction of rates, 1750. Effect of construction of other roads; did not lessen rates materially; business done under pool; special rates or rebates, 1751. Contract between road and Omaha and Grant Smelting Company, 1751, 1752. Road keeps two engines for Omaha and Grant company; switching for that company costs Union Pacific about $15,000 a year; special preferences or rates, 1752. Special rates privately made, 1752, 1753. Effect upon community; destructive to its best interests; effect upon shipper; names of shippers of ore

at Denver, 1753. Application for special rates; reply of management; Kimball's statement that Union Pacific was paying no rebates to anybody; complaints as to other shippers, 1754. Objection to hearsay evidence, 1754, 1755. Preferences given in other businesses; rebates a matter of common notoriety, 1755. Discriminations against communities, 1755, 1756. Goes on to day by reason of suspension of interstate commerce law; Utah and Montana ores; route to Denver; same as to New Mexican ores, 1756. Same as to ores shipped to Omaha and Grant company; Omaha and Grant company regarded as competitors, 1757. Reason for the discrimination in favor of Omaha and Grant company, 1757, 1758. Mr. Dillon a large stockholder; also Mr. Ames; officers of road interested in Omaha real estate, 1758. Discrimination as to Denver local business, 1758, 1759. Fair competition with Omaha and Grant company under present rates, 1759. Where ores are shipped to; rates cheaper than formerly; never received rebates; an overcharge not a rebate, 1760. Total overcharges for several years; overcharges on ore, 1761. Explanation of the alleged rebate of $67,000 to witness's company, 1761, 1762. Difference between a refund and a rebate; form in which product is shipped east, 1762. Small refunds may not appear on book; effect of pooling upon community, 1763. Effect of a pool to raise rates, 1763, 1764. Community complains not so much of high rates, as of "discriminating rates;" of building up one person at expense of others, 1764. Influencing legislation, 1764, 1765. Change of opinion on the part of members after election; lobbyists around the legislature; methods of the company; liberal payments of money; passes to members of the legislature, 1765. Interference in local legislation, 1766. Defeating men they could not control, 1766, 1767. Plan of settlement; how the Government can take charge of the road, 1767. Government would have to assume first-mortgage bonds, 1767, 1768. Controversy as to extent of subsidy, 1768. Government management free from partisanship, 1768, 1769. Effect of settlement on rates; effect on individuals; effect on community; danger that the road would be used as a political engine, 1769. Discriminations could not be rectified through State commissioners of railways, 1769, 1770. Road would earn more money under Government management; possession of road could be taken for default under Thurman act, 1770. Not in favor of extension of time to pay, 1771. Company no moral right to build branches out of earnings; railroad officers interested in mining companies, etc.; no doubt railroad people make money out of business connected with road, 1772. Diversion of freight from Central to Southern Pacific; freight via Julesburgh branch instead of via Cheyenne, 1773. Railway pool to influence legislation; use of money to influence members; efforts not to procure affirmative legislation, but to prevent unfavorable legislation, 1774. State railway commission; relation of Montana company to Boston and Colorado company; one stockholder the only connection, 1775. Portion of Montana stock owned by Boston and Colorado stockholders, 1775, 1776. The Union Pacific in politics; influencing legislation; witness' charge that unfair means were used in the Senatorial election, 1776. Committee of legislature to investigate these charges; a fair investigation not intended; interference by Union Pacific in the Senatorial election, 1777. Why witness did not disclose his knowledge to the committee, 1777, 1778. Why Union Pacific opposed Mr. Bergh's election, 1778. Witness has sometimes asked for rates below the regular ones, 1778, 1779. Switching charges; switching in witness' works costs his company not less than $7,000 a year, 1820. Trackage charges paid for with slag; slag used for railroad embankments, 1821. Omaha and Grant switching facilities, 1821, 1822. Willing to make similar contract to that of Omaha and Grant company; free switching the chief advantage under that contract, 1822. Refusal to witness of cut rate on low-grade ores; statement concerning Mr. Adams's Kansas City interests reiterated, 1862, 1863.

HIMEBAUGH, P. C., testimony of:
Himebaugh & Merriam; membership of firm; Union Pacific officials in no way interested; relations of Union Pacific to Himebaugh & Merriam; rebates received, 1300, 1301. Net rate and rebate received; has received no advantages other than rebates; no such advantages received under any other name; others not allowed to obtain allowances or advantages under name of firm, 1301. The Omaha Elevator Company the only competing shipper, 1301, 1302. Disastrous effect of interstate commerce law; no attempt ever made to influence legislation; special and open rates; no diversion of shipments; neither witness nor firm has holding in Union Pacific securities, 1302. Loss of business to Union Pacific by not giving rebates, 1302, 1303.

Railway commissioner of Kansas; insufficient passenger accommodations on branch lines, 1656. Two passenger trains daily over main line, 1656, 1657. Unfounded complaints of discrimination; alleged discrimination on the Junction City and Fort Kearney, 1657. Investigation showed no cut in tariff, 1657, 1658. Sometimes a cutting of rates at competing points; no pools upon State traffic since 1883, 1658. Maintenance of rate on State traffic, 1658, 1659. Publication of special rates; management of Union Pacific; a general cutting of rates in 1884, 1659. Its extent, 1659, 1660. Relative amount of local traffic on main and branch lines; volume about equal, 1660. Passes, 1660, 1661. To whom issued; no participation of the railroad in politics under present management; former participation; no hostile legislation, 1661. Complaints of grangers about high rates, 1661, 1662. Reduction of rates on recommendation of railway commission; rebates in Kansas not of common notoriety, 1662. Plan of settlement; Union Pacific property should be preserved by construction of branch lines; its preservation the Government's only security for payment, 1663. The Salina, Lincoln and Western, 1663, 1664. Donation to railroads now restricted to $2,000 a mile; extent of agricultural land; the agricultural line pushing west, 1664. Importance of the Lincoln extension, 1664, 1665. Dividends of $23,000,000, 1665. Effect of extension of debt, 1665, 1666. Of failure to extend time of payment; another road might have to be built; multiplication of roads an evil, 1666. Measuring the needs of traffic, 1666, 1667. Public sentiment in favor of an equitable extension; membership of railway commission, 1667. Rates at Atchison and Maryville, 1667, 1668; grain shipments by Central Branch to Atchison; discriminations, 1668. Missouri Pacific accounts to Union Pacific, 1668, 1669. Detention of freight at Lawrence; an explanation of the cause, transfer of freight cars to fast train, 1669. Discrimination of freight, 1669, 1670. Constructive mileage gives branch line fair share of earnings; its basis, 1670. Method of measuring allowance; population not a factor; based on traffic, 1671.

NTINGTON, COLLIS P., testimony of:
Vice-president of Central Pacific since 1861; full accounts kept only in San Francisco, 8. Road organized under California charter; built from Sacramento to Cisco, 92 miles, without Government aid; Crocker contract; organization of Contract and Finance Company; cash subscriptions to stock, 9. Details of early construction; payments made in gold; Contract and Finance Company built road in Nevada and Utah during 1867, 1868, and part of 1869, 10. Western Pacific; consolidation with Central Pacific in 1870; capital stock increased several times, 12. Lathrop Branch, Lathrop to Goshen, 146 miles; built by Contract and Finance Company; never saw construction contract; practice of company as to making such contracts, 13. This road a branch, not a separate organization; other branches; from Niles to Oakland, 25 miles, constructed in 1868 or 1869 by Contract and Finance Company; also from Roseville to State line; California Navigation Company's steamers, 14. Witness and associates bought steamers and control of stock of California Pacific, 15. Sale of steamers to Central Pacific for $800,000; motives for purchase; operation of steamers, 16; California and Oregon road; built from San Francisco to Tehama, then consolidated with Central Pacific, which continued it to State line; ultimate destination, Portland, Oregon; Oregon and California, a corporation to build from Oregon and meet the California and Oregon; both received land grant; details of construction; consolidation with Central Pacific, 17. Details of subsequent construction; road from Redding to State line built by Pacific Improvement Company; witness and associates main stockholders, 18, 32. Terms of the contract; all stocks and bonds payable under that contract have been issued; issue of Central Pacific before 1862, 19. Cash subscriptions less than $100,000; after act of 1862, payments under Crocker contract made in stocks and bonds; Government subsidy; rate on different parts of road; delivery of Government bonds to witness, and their sale to the public, 20. Sold some at 89, bought gold as high as 220; how the stock was issued; at first to subscribers who paid money, later delivered directly to contractors, 21. Printed reports of Central Pacific for year 1872 probably the first; witness not consulted as to keeping accounts or making statements; earnings of Central Pacific; $17,000,000 net earnings from 1864 to 1873; application of that sum shown by company's books, 22. Miscellaneous and legal expenses, 23. Names of counsel, 24. How such expenses audited, 24. Richard Franchot as counsel in Washington; no vouchers required from Franchot or his successor, Sherrell; amount thus paid thirty or forty thousand a year, 24. Franchot not a practicing lawyer; Sherrell, Franchot's successor; amounts paid him, 25. Theory of the general balance sheet, 26; increase in construction account of nine millions between 1872 and 1885, 27; spent on improvements at Oakland Point and Mission Bay, and on new steel rails for whole road, 27. Improvements at Oakland Point, 27. Government mortgage does not apply to them, nor to the Mission Bay property; California and Oregon extension; its cost; increase in equipment account; change in character of equipment, 28. Bookkeeping treatment of decrease in value of rolling stock, 28. Item of $131,000,000 for construction of road is exact cost taken from contracts without allowance for deterioration or depreciation; increase in cost of "shops"; in 1885, items for shops and machinery in shops double those for 1872; formerly repair shops; now, locomotive works; location, Sacramento; Government lien applies, 29. Real estate; increase from 1872 to 1885, represented by property in Oakland and Sacramento bought for railroad purposes; lien of Government on equipment; "steamer division property," depreciation through wear; sinking funds, 30. What bonds have been redeemed; how sinking fund disposed of; most of it in Southern Pacific, 31. Pacific Improvement Company had about three millions of it; don't know on what security; no sinking fund for United States bonds except sinking fund in U. S. Treasury, 32. Claim that Government owes company $2,500,000; cash due from United States for business over non-aided roads, 33. First dividend in 1873; $61,000 for legal expenses in 1873; $84,000 legal expenses for 1874, 34. Witness's unvouched accounts, two hundred thousand a year; would pay Franchot $5,000 or $10,000 without voucher or account, 35. Though required vouchers for other expenses; character of services for which no vouchers were required; money required to explain matters; nature of Franchot's business, 36. His requirements larger when Congress in session; unvouched items not used to influence legislation, except to explain matters; attorneys to help Franchot; does not know their names; influencing legislation by oral argument, 37, 38. Moral influence distinguished from buying votes; expenditures for cigars and champagne dinners, 38. Annual statement of amounts charged to general legal expenses, 1875–'85; total over $2,000,000, 39. Lease of Central Pacific to Southern Pacific; economy of one management; principal men in both companies the same, 40. Freight rates fixed by operating department; no pooling arrangement; route of the Southern Pacific; proportion of through trade on Southern Pacific as compared with Central Pacific, 41. The diversion of profits; through business of Central Pacific diminished, but no attempt to influence freight in favor of Southern Pacific; the regulation of freights done by general manager; advantage to witness and associates to have freight go over Southern Pacific rather than Central Pacific, 42. Congress not consulted about lease to Southern Pacific, nor were the stockholders, 43. As to vouchers that do not give details of expenditures, 3696. Witness has no further explanation of them; expenditures all for proper purposes, 3697. As to fees to members of Congress, 3697, 3698. Legal assistance from members of Congress; employing persons recommended by members of Congress, 3698, 3699. Selection of persons to gather information; class of persons selected, 3699. Engaged usually for a single session, 3699, 3700. Relations of such persons to members of Congress; witness consulted General Franchot and Mr. Sherrell, 3700. Funds used in explaining matters to Congress, 3700, 3701. To prevent Congress and the departments from committing robbery; privileges of counsel, 3701. Contending for two years against Thomas A. Scott, whom they employed at that time; 3702. His letters to Colton, 3702, 3703. Nothing wrong in the originals unless it was the grammar and spelling; the Colton suit, 3703. Never read the letters since he wrote them, 3703, 3704. Can not swear whether he did or did not write a particular letter; would rather not tell to whom he referred as a hog, 3704. On the ground that it is unpleasant to answer; (another sentence quoted), does not recollect it; meaning of the word "switch," 3705. Meaning of the phrase "commercial men"; (another letter shown) as to sending witness an order for engine; doubts having written the letter; "with $200,000 I can pass the bill"—his best recollection is that that portion is made up, 3706. Witness has an impression that the Colton letters are much garbled, 3706, 3707. If he wrote the words "I believe with $200,000 I can pass our bill," would be willing to have that published; "it costs money to fix things;" what was meant by the word "fix," 3707. Phrase "commercial men" did not mean men whose votes were purchasable; does not suppose Mr. Scott ever bought a vote; letter dated New York, March 4, 1885; thinks it contains some things he did not write,

3708, 3709. "The R. R. Committee of the House was set up for Scott;" what "set up" referred to, 3709. No personal objection to the introduction of any letters written by him, 3709, 3710. Light-weight politicians crying from the house tops; his connection with injunction restraining production of the Colton letters, 3710. As to correctness of printed copies of the letters, 3710, 3711. Could not say they are correct; copy letter dated November 20, 1874, from Huntington to Crocker; protest by counsel against mode of questioning, 3712. No recollection of having written it, 3712, 3713. Does not think he wrote sentence "this coming session of Congress will be composed of the hungriest set of men that ever got together;" personally would not object to production of original letter, 3713. Copy letter November 13, 1874, to Colton in regard to coal, 3713, 3714. What is "the object of raking up these old personal matters;" not for political purposes, 3714. Instructed his people never to use money in any immoral or illegal sense; copy letter to Colton, dated December 1, 1874; 3715. Does not remember who the men were "that can be convinced;" copy letter to Colton, dated December 10, 1874; does not remember allusion as to importance of disconnecting Southern Pacific from Central Pacific; copy letter of December 8, 1874, to T. A. Scott, 3716. Copy letter, Scott to Huntington, December 9, 1874; copy letter, Huntington to Scott, December 10, 1874; 3717. Copy letter, Huntington to Colton, December 11, 1874; suggestion as to bringing Colonel Gray, 3717, 3718. No recollection of it; copy letter to Colton, March 3, 1875; "have you sent passes and money?" does not recall it, 3718. Does not understand allusion to passes and money; copy letter to Colton, December 25, 1875, as to Scott going to Mexico; copy letter to Colton, April 9, 1875; 3719. Allusion to argument before railroad committee, 3719, 3720. Copy letter to Colton, April 22, 1875, as to Independence Narrow Gauge road; copy letter to Colton, May 28, 1875; "Governor S— said some good things;" witness' habit of numbering letters received, 3720. Copy letter, May 1, 1875, urging defeat of ——— (a member of the House); does not remember writing it; has used the expression "wild hog," 3721. Declines to state to whom he referred, 3721, 3722. Thinks Central Pacific money was not used to prevent the "wild hog's" return; copy letter, dated September 15, 1875; does not recall it, 3722. Does not remember talking to S. T. Gage in regard to franchises in Arizona, in 1875; copy letter of September 17, 1875; allusions to Fitch and Pickering; did not the initials "A. A. C." refer to Mr. Cohen? 3723. Copy letter, September 27, 1875, to Colton as to Scott's efforts for Texas Pacific, and as to Arizona charters; allusion to the people of San Diego, 3724. Suggestion as to calling Arizona legislature together; remembers something about it; thinks the payment of $25,000 for the expenses of an extra session would be a proper expenditure by Central Pacific, 3725. Copy letter, October 19, 1875, to Colton; allusion to "a member of the Forty-fourth Congress, an ex-governor and a slippery fellow;" witness does not remember writing it; might have written some parts of it, 3726. Copy letter, November 10, 1875, to Colton; allusion to employment of some one who was "obnoxious to the Republican side of the House," 3727. Who "came over in the director's car with Mr. Crocker"; was it ex-Senator Gwyn? he was a confidential agent; as to payments to him; 3728. Copy letter of December 17, 1875, to Colton; suggesting that railroad and land committees of Congress would not favor subsidies, 3728, 3729. Matters referred to somewhat familiar to witness; copy of letter of December 13, 1875; as to Scott's making terrible efforts and numerous promises; witness does not recall it, 3729. Copy letters of January 14, 1876, as to the value of ——'s services, 3729, 3730. William B. Carr's relations with the company at that time; what are a "general utility" man's services? 3730. Was not Mr. Carr a lobbyist? are such services worth $10,000 to $20,000 a year? copy letter of January 17, 1876, 3731. "I believe with $200,000 I can pass our bill;" what this meant; witness does not know whether he wrote it or not; the bill referred to, 3732. Copy letter of January 29, 1876; "Scott making a terrible effort to pass his bill;" 3732, 3733. Witness does not think he wrote it, 3733. Copy letter of December 22, 1875; the railroad committee, "not necessarily a Texas Pacific, but a commercial committee," 3733, 3734. What "commercial" meant; "they can be convinced that ours is the right bill for the country," 3734. Did not mean that the committee was purchaseable, 3734, 3735. "Commercial" should have been "geographical;" if he used the word "commercial," it was not in an offensive or sinister sense, 3735. Who were the Senators whom Scott "switched?" copy letter of March 4, 1876; "the Railroad Committee of the House was set up for Scott;" what this meant, 3736. "A difficult matter to switch a majority of the committee away from him" (Scott); copy letter of March 22, 1876; "Scott mak-

Co. when construction was begun; Mr. Stanford's financial condition; Mr. Crocker worth more than $200,000, 3774. Huntington's method of signing checks, 3774, 3775. Company expected to pay its debts to the Government in transportation; their policy toward the Indians, 3775. Government transportation expected to pay interest; effect of Government aid to competing lines; surprised at the course taken by the Government; completion of road on May 10, 1869; guaranty required by the Government for proper conditions, 3776. When was the road accepted? 3776, 3777. Decisions by the Court of Claims and the United States circuit court in California; why payment of the 5 per cent. was delayed; Central Pacific has fulfilled every obligation to the Government, 3777. Comparative cost of construction, 3777, 3778. Discount on Government bonds, 3778. Bonds bought back by Government at a premium; transfer of mails by Central Pacific because of shorter haul; claim for service on non-aided roads about $2,000,000; loss of interest on moneys retained, 3779. Decision of the courts in favor of company as to $2,000,000 claims, 3779, 3780. Issue of land-grant bonds; division of these bonds by Contract Company not as dividends, 3780. Deposit of Central Pacific stock with Contract Company, 3780, 3781. Mr. Crocker had assumed an indebtedness; financial condition of Contract Company after fulfilling contract; effect of branch roads upon main line; no dividends declared until completion of road, 3781. All proceeds from bonds used in construction, 3781, 3782. As to amount of Central Pacific stock which witness and associates received from Contract Company; was it $13,000,000 each; legal expenses of Central Pacific compared with those of roads in England, 3782. Effect upon aided roads of construction of other aided roads; not expedient to increase rates on Central Pacific, 3783. Aid rendered to the Canadian Pacific by Canadian government, 3783, 3784. Effect upon Central Pacific; the route; Canadian Pacific's arrangement with our Government, 3784. Its competition with Central Pacific in Government business, 3784, 3785. Central Pacific paid for carrying mails less than Baltimore and Ohio; a call for official data on this subject; 20 per cent. taken off the compensation of aided roads, 3785. Railroad Commissioners' statement as to diversion of business from Central Pacific; advantages of leasing Central Pacific to Southern Pacific, 3786. Object of the lease, 3786, 3787. As to recent short sale of Central Pacific and Union Pacific stock; relations of Central Pacific with Pacific Mail Company; payment to Pacific Mail not a subsidy, 3787. Witness a director in Pacific Mail, 3787, 3788. Six hundred tons of tonnage reserved; paid for even if not used, 3788. Amount paid about $90,000 monthly; class of freight protected, 3789. Without such arrangement freight diverted by Pacific Mail from Europe to Aspinwall, 3789, 3790. The Southern Pacific as a freight line. House Bill No. 4060 and the Holman amendment; employment of Mr. Chittenden in 1871; 4022. Quotations from Mr. Chittenden's testimony, 4022, 4023. Nothing paid to members of Congress to influence votes on Holman amendment; difference with Mr. Chittenden as to compensation, 4023. Witness was examined before Poland committee, 4023, 4024. Probably had counsel present, 4024. Everybody dropped in bills about Pacific roads, 4024, 4025. As to Crédit Mobilier disclosures, 4025. Cost of construction of Central Pacific, 4025, 4026. Former testimony of witness as to amount of Central Pacific stock owned by him; does not remember it, 4026. Mr. Hopkins attended to everything, 4026, 4027. When dividends were paid, 4027. Who offered to sell the Colton letters? 4027, 4028. Employment of Mr. Norwood, 4028. Sidney Dillon not interested in Oregon Short Line construction contract; copy letter, witness to Mr. Norwood, 4029. Not a mistake to charge the Norwood bill against Central Pacific; a correction as to stock; was there a distribution? 4030. May have been owner of one-quarter of Contract and Finance Company, 4030, 4031. The Norwood matter again, 4031, 4032. The stub-check books, 4032, 4033. Probably destroyed, 4033. Nature of entries on stubs, 4034. Entries upon blotter, 4034. The blotter probably destroyed, 4034. Limit of time for current accounts; scheme of Thomas A. Scott, 4035. Space can be better utilized than in storing dead matter, 4035, 4036. Sure he paid Mr. Chittenden $10,000; 4036. No money paid him except for services rendered, 4036, 4037. Suggestions of settlement, per letter dated October 11, 1887; 4153, 4154.

Shipments of grain, 2241. Freight rates and rebates, 2241, 2242. How received; complaints of shippers; direction of wheat shipments; rates to California, 2243.

KEENE, JAMES R., testimony of:
Became a director of Union Pacific at Sage's request; not present at consolidation meeting, 400. A director for only a year, 401.

KEISEL, FREDERICK G., testimony of:—
Adams & Keisel Salt Co.; 2232. Conditions of contract with Union Pacific, 2232, 2233. Bathing resort at Syracuse; other bidders; the bathing resort to be established, 2233. Advantage to Union Pacific, 2233. Price paid for salt; no rebates allowed; length of haul, 2234. Amount of salt delivered under contract, 2234, 2235. Rates on salt; negotiations with Denver and Rio Grande, 2235. Competition with Lyman & Wallace, 2235, 2236. Effect on Ogden of interstate commerce bill, 2236. Plan of settlement; extension and reasonable rate of interest, 2236, 2237. Would enable them to extend their feeders, 2237. Effect upon rates; just as favorable to community, if territory opened by other companies, 2237, 2238.

KIMBALL, THOMAS L., testimony of:
General traffic manager Union Pacific Railway, 1015. His duties; has charge of business arrangements for procuring traffic, local and through; of rebates, and also pool arrangements; constructive mileage, adjusted by the auditing department, 1016. His department embraces the freight, passenger, coal, and stone business, 1017. Enumeration of the departments of the road, 1018. An officer of Union Pacific since 1871; duties of general passenger and ticket agent; ticket agents as solicitors of business; had power to issue passes, 1040. To whom they were issued, 1041. Class of passes issued by general manager; general passenger traffic from 1871 to 1880; 1041. Passenger rates in 1871, about an average 7½ cents; special rates, to whom given; accounting for passes, 1042. His special duties as passenger agent; canvassed territory in which new branch roads were proposed; defended policy of company by writing for the press, and by explanation to members of the legislature, 1043. Wrote for press in defense of company's charges for freight and passengers; employed to defeat hostile legislation, 1044, 1045. Publication of agent's articles not paid for; free transportation given to editors, 1045. Railroad methods of defeating legislation; only argument used; who were employed to argue, 1046, 1047. No knowledge that they used money, 1047. Gave them general instructions, 1048. Did not authorize or permit the use of any other means than argument; members of the legislature generally get passes; an "anti-monopoly" member, witness' definition of; passes to others issued on request of members of the legislature, 1049, 1050. No rebates at request of members; no improper means used to influence legislation; has influenced nominations and the election of members, 1050, 1051. His individual expenditure of money for that purpose; none expended by the company; no promises of position in company's service used, 1051. Participation in local elections; the company's employés free to vote; no members retained as attorneys, 1052. No hostile local or State legislation from 1871–'80, except the provision in Nebraska State constitution of 1875, prohibiting the Union Pacific from exercising the right of eminent domain in the State of Nebraska, 1053. Copy of that provision; effect of this prohibition; company paid double or treble for lands wanted for Missouri River bridge approach; has delayed acquisition of right of way, 1054, 1055. All Nebraska branches built since that prohibition in force; chief embarrassment in Omaha; money might have been used to influence legislation without witness' knowledge; passes to members, a general practice among railways,

1055, 1056. His duties as assistant general manager from 1880–'84; special passenger rates from 1880–'84; 1056. Not different from rates between 1871 and 1880; applicable to more classes; freight rates on branch lines higher than on main line, 1880–'84; 1057. Detailed statement of local passenger tariffs in 1880; 1058. Why tariffs on branch lines higher than on main line; did not result in discrimination in their favor, 1059, 1060. Constructive mileage defined; introduction of constructive mileage system in 1879 or 1880; 1060. Table of allowances in 1880, or when branch line opened for business; "arbitraries" defined; changes in rates, 1061. Witness responsible for the rates and for changes in them; illustrations; the Denver Pacific, 1062. The Oregon Short Line; improvement in main and branch lines since 1880, about the same, 1063, 1064. The conditions considered in fixing rates of constructive mileage, 1064, 1065. Illustration, the Denver and Rio Grande; constructive mileage, a legitimate compensation to branch lines, 1065, 1066. Constructive mileage not new; comparative cost of traffic on main and branch lines; his knowledge of the population on branch lines, when rates were fixed, 1066, 1067. Union Pacific makes money by operation of constructive mileage, 1067. Statement of amounts of constructive mileage allowances by Union Pacific to auxiliary lines, and by lines east of Missouri River to Union Pacific and its auxiliary lines for month of January, 1887; Union Pacific pays to auxiliary lines about $166,000 a year, 1068. Meaning of term "auxiliary line;" witness would make such constructive-mileage allowances if branch lines were independent corporations; "constructive mileage" with the Denver and Rio Grande, 1069, 1070. "Arbitraries" allowed to foreign roads; to the Northern Pacific; to other roads, 1070; "constructive-mileage" advantages that are not included in the statement; memorandum in relation to constructive-mileage allowances, January, 1887; 1072, 1073. Shows estimated balance of profit under the constructive-mileage rule in favor of Union Pacific, $297,982.16, for the year 1887; 1073. Does not contribute a cent to support branches; without branches the Union Pacific would be bankrupt, 1074. The strict mileage basis would result disastrously; advantages of constructive mileage to branches; present and future benefits to main line of branch system, 1075, 1076. Trans-continental business now divided between four or five competing trunk roads; Union Pacific now sustained by branch-line business; development of branch-line system begun in 1871–72; profits to stockholders less since branch system was developed; "arbitraries" defined; difference between "arbitraries" and "constructive mileage;" companies with which there was an arbitrary rate, 1077, 1078. Why Denver, South Park and Pacific is treated as a local road; length of road an element in arranging constructive mileage; volume of business another element, 1078. Discussion of the rate allowed Echo and Park City; of rate allowed Omaha and Republican Valley, 1079. Branch lines entitled to 50 per cent. per mile more than main lines; only a legitimate division of the through rate, 1080. Was assistant general manager from the fall of 1880 to the fall of 1884; rebates, 1122, 1123. Fixed by witness, in the absence of the general manager; competition, the basis from competing territory; basis of rates from local territory; why rebate rates private, 1123. Necessity of rebates; how determined; rebates varying with competition; rebates in local territory where there is no competition, how applied, 1124, 1125. No rebates on ore or bullion to individual shippers, not smelters or dealers or samplers; why lower rates given on shipments of ore to Denver than to Pueblo; rates to grain shippers determined by competition; Omaha and Council Bluffs elevators, 1125. All elevator business in Omaha controlled by Himebaugh, Merriam & Co.; an allowance in their favor of 1 cent for use of their storage plant; an additional rebate to Omaha elevator, 1126, 1127. It goes to the seller of grain; length of existence of rebate system to Omaha elevator; ceased when interstate law took effect, 1127. Considerations governing allowance of rebates on shipments of cattle; in the case of small shippers no recent cases of preferences to shippers, 1128. No Eveners' Association on Union Pacific; what such an association is; how applied to cattle shippers; the shipper's consent ordinarily obtained, 1129. Pools; do not affect individual shippers; complaints that rebates to larger shippers shut out small dealers, 1130. The Union Stock Yards Company of Omaha; no rebates given it by the road; the yardage charge; unloading of stock, 1131. Controlled by shipper, 1131, 1132. The Standard Oil Company; rebates allowed it; all sorts of rates; rates to other coal companies; prior to the payment of rebates, oil pretty much all went by ocean to Pacific coast, 1132. Preference to Standard Oil Company; embarrassing effect on smaller dealers; allowance to Standard Oil Company on account of car service furnished by it; return of such cars without charge, 1133, 1134. For empty tank cars, a charge of $10 to $20; cars sometimes returned free, sometimes not; private rate allowed the Standard Oil Company; also the Consolidated Tank Line and the Continental Oil Companies, 1134, 1135. Standard Oil Company has controlling interest in both; purchase of the Continental by the Standard; discrimination would assist the Standard Oil Company in fighting competition, 1135. The Standard Oil Company ship over 90 per cent. of all the oil, 1135, 1136. Policy governing the road in regard to such shippers; car service account not a rebate, 1136. The pool statement; copy of pooling agreement of April 7, 1879; and amendment of June, 1879; 1137. Amendment of September 1, 1879; copy of second tripartite agreement, in effect April 1, 1885; 1138. Copy of third agreement, of October 13, 1882; in effect November 1, 1887; 1138, 1139. Copy of agreement of October 1, 1879; copy of agreement of October 21, 1882; 1140. Copy of agreement made January 24, 1884; 1140, 1141. Colorado-Utah Common Points Association; agreement made January 24, 1884, 1141. Nebraska traffic agreement; agreement of December 1, 1881; 1141, 1142. Montana traffic agreement; agreement of February 23, 1883; Oregon Traffic Association; agreement of December 1, 1884; 1143. California pools; first agreement, 1143, 1144. Second agreement; third agreement, 1144. Fourth agreement, 1144–1146. Mileage rate from April, 1880, to July, 1887; 1146. Instructions relating to freight and passenger rates, 1146, 1147. Statement concerning Territorial population called for, 1150. Copy witness' letter to freight claim agent as to $40,000 rebate allowed Omaha and Grant Company; the published rates on ore and bullion, 1175. Difference between special rates on ores, 1175, 1176. Why claim papers marked "personal;" rebate accounts private; interest of Union Pacific in property of Omaha and Grant Company; rebates to Wells and Neiman; rates allowed them; directors or employés not interested in that firm, 1177. Chicago Lumber Company; Ames and Dillon's interest in Omaha and Grant Company; President Adams a stockholder in the Argentine Smelting Company, 1178. Directions given that no favors be shown because of such interest; the Northwest Forwarding Company; its rebate on salt, why allowed; witness' interest in the Utah Central; Utah Forwarding Company, same concern as the Northwest Fowarding Company; their rebate on freight in the nature of a commission, 1180. Cost of coke, 1180, 1181. Other companies engaged in the coke or salt business; Adam & Keisel, Eldon Coal Mining Company, rebate to; La Plata Mining and Smelting company; Boston and Colorado Smelting Company, in Butte, Mont., 1181. Large shipments of low-grade ore for Senator Hill at lowest rates; Horn Silver Mining Company, rebates to; a cut rate refused on a large shipment of bullion, which subsequently went over the Rio Grande; rebate to C. W. Collins & Co., 1182. Their rebate a part of their construction contract with company; "various stations, free transportation," 1183. Union Pacific coal department, 1183, 1184. Its rebate on coal; Swan Land and Cattle Company, 1184. Philadelphia Smelting Company at Ketchum, Idaho, 1184, 1185. Rocky Mountain News Company; rebates allowed to it, 1185. Was it a preference as well as a rebate? 1185, 1186. Rebates not usually granted except on individual applications; Clyde Mill Company, rebates to, 1186. Result of refusal to allow Horn Silver Mining Company a rebate on 3,200 tons of bullion shipped over the Rio Grande road, 1190. Differences between overcharges and rebates, 1192. Earnings made up after making deductions for rebates, constructive mileage, etc., 1192, 1193. Sums paid out as rebates regarded as trust moneys, 1193. Gross earnings and expenses have nothing to do with the published tariff, 1193, 1194. Railroad settlements, illustration of; the "refund of freight earnings" book, 1194. What it shows; difficulty of distinguishing between "overcharges" and "rebates," 1195. Estimated cost of getting out statement for Commission in regard to rebates, $15,000 to $18,000, 1198. Rebates and pool payments, while in hands of company, regarded as trust funds; a large part of entire earnings arises from pools, 1199. Copy of lease of Union Pacific with Omaha and Grant Smelting and Refining Company, 1201, 1202. To whom rebates are allowed, 1202. How constructive-mileage accounts are made up, 1203, 1204. Order of general superintendent concerning passes, dated December 23, 1886; instructions from general superintendent as to taking up passes, dated April 4, 1887, 1366, 1367. Memorandum of car mileage paid Standard Oil Company and Continental Oil Company from 1882 to 1886, 1368. Rebate to Anaconda Mining and Smelting Works, 1368, 1369. Transcontinental pool; explanation of item, $6,123.35; of rebate to Omaha and Grant Smelting and Refining Company; other refiners who got same rebate, 1369. Effect of rebate, 1369, 1370. Complaint of Senator Hill's company; Jenning's rebate of $24; all shippers treated alike; the fact that such rebates were paid generally understood, 1370, 1371. Failure to make application for rebate before shipment; only remedied by application of shipper afterward; explanation of rebate on ore to Omaha and Grant Smelting and Refining Company, 1371, 1372. Unless Union Pacific allowed the rebate, business would go to other lines; other rebates on ore and bullion; item, Pacific mail subsidy; how it is divided, 1372. Branch lines not interested, 1372, 1373. Explanation of rebate to Murphy, Grant & Co.; who compose the firm, 1373. Same rebates to other shippers; explanation of rebate to A. Hanauer; of rebate to Standard Oil Company; same rebate to Continental Oil Company, 1374. How business of Standard Oil Company divided between the railroads, 1374, 1375. Pool on Utah business; rebate to A. Hanauer, 1375. Explanation of rebate to Utah Forwarding Company, 1375, 1376. Of rebate to R. S. Van Tassell, 1376. Of rebate to N. W. Wells, 1376, 1377. Same rebates allowed to his competitors; contractors for Indian supplies familiar with rebate rates, 1377. Rebate obtained after letting of contract, 1377, 1378; explanation of refund to Central Pacific; of rebate to S. R. Howell & Co.; all lumber dealers had same rebate, 1378. Notification by freight canvasser, 1378, 1379. H. Miller, jr., secretary), 2583–2598. United States freight; army transportation prior to railroad, 2583. War Department reports as to rates, 2583, 2584. High freight rates prior to railroad; higher rates west of Salt Lake, 2584. Lowest rate taken for these calculations, 2584, 2585. Average rate per ton per mile charged on all freight transported on Central and Union Pacific railroads during 1870–1885; 2585. Rates charged United States, 2585, 2586. Statement showing charges to United States for transportation of freight, and cost of same service at rates paid before construction of railroads, 2586. Summary showing saving to United States in freight transportation, sixteen years, from 1870 to 1885, inclusive, 2586, 2587. Saving to Government in freight charges, $55,420,554; saving estimated by United States engineer; United States troops and passengers, 2587. Cost of military transportation prior to railroad, 2587, 2588. United States wagon trains; saving in supplies for the Army, 2588. General Grant's views, 2588, 2589. Relative saving in transporting troops greater than with freight; statement showing charges to United States for transportation of troops and passengers, and the cost of same service at rates paid before construction of railroads, 2589. Freight and passengers; ending of Indian wars; Indian wars, former cost; $100,000,000 a year saved on freight and troops, 2590; United States mails; former average weight of mails; weight increased twenty times, 2591. Statement showing weights, rates, and amounts for transportation of United States mails on overland route from July 1, 1869, to December 31, 1885 (as taken from the reports of Postmaster-General for the several years), 2592. Saving in mail transportation, $40,000,000; 2593. Improvement in the service, 2593, 2594. Summary showing saving to Government of nearly $140,000,000 on freights, troops, and mails to January, 1886; 2594. Views of General Sherman, 2594, 2595. Statement of account with Government to January 1, 1886, showing balance accrued on debt to date (due in 1898) $86,685,907.86; saving by United States three times the cash value of the debt and interest; completion of the railroad in less time than allowed by law, 2595. Cost of road increased by early completion, 2596. Amount saved to Government by use of road for seven years ending June 30, 1876, $26,240,904 in excess of the cash value of the debt and interest to date, 2596. Debt and interest at maturity compared with saving in transportation charges to same date, 2596, 2597. Balance on debt at maturity, $104,397,370; saving to Government in transportation charges to maturity, $259,040,430; 2597. Statement relative to competing roads aided by Congress by J. C. Stubbs, general traffic manager, 2599–2611. Comparative statement showing freight tonnage and charges on through traffic and percentage of same done by each of the nine transcontinental railroad lines for periods as noted, 2599, 2601. Comparative statement showing freight tonnage and charges on through traffic by each of said routes for periods as noted; also percentage of said traffic done by each of said routes (charges east of Ogden, via Denver and Rio Grande, shown separately), 2602, 2603. Statement showing tonnage and charges lost to Central and Union Pacific lines (including Central Pacific tonnage and charges via Denver and Rio Grande) on through-freight traffic for periods noted, on account of the opening of new lines, 2604–2606. Comparative statement showing number of passengers carried by each of said routes on through traffic, and the earnings accruing west of Ogden, Mojave, Deming, and El Paso, for periods as noted; also percentage of earnings by each of said routes, 2606–2608. Government aid, 2618, 2619. Methods employed in obtaining it; the issue of $100,000 full-paid stock in obtaining it; passage of bill by Congress, 2619. Subscription of Placer County to stock, $200,000; difficulty of obtaining stock subscriptions, 2619, 2620. Construction in 1863 by local contractors; obstacles to be overcome, 2620. Contract with Charles Crocker & Co., 2620, 2621. Objections to small contracts; advantages of contract with Crocker, 2621. Crocker's resignation as director, 2621, 2622. Reason for his resignation; terms of his contract, 2622, 2623. The stock of little value; chronological history of construction, 2623. Extent of work done by Crocker; the Contract and Finance Company a financial necessity; failure to interest capitalists, 2624. Road completed to State line, 2624, 2625. Cost of construction, 2625. Necessity for company to control contractors, 2625, 2626. Amount paid to Crocker & Co. for construction between sections 31 and 141 over $21,000,000, or over $200,000 a mile; magnitude of the work, 2626, 2627. Geography of the country; difficulties in crossing the Sierra Nevada, 2627. Previous investigations, 2627, 2628. Basis of raising money to pay contractor; witness and associates controlled the enterprise, 2628. Who would have got the profits on Crocker contract; relations of contractors with the company; individual knowledge of expenses, 2629. Disappearance of contractors' books; general belief of community as to cause of Central Pacific's weakness, 2630. The stock valueless when issued, 2630, 2631. Means exhausted upon completion of road; dissolution of Contract and Finance Company; its dividends, 2631. Money paid to Crocker, 2631, 2632. Present stockholders have no interest in any early contracts; whereabouts of account books of Charles Crocker & Co., 2632. Materials purchased in name of Central Pacific, 2632, 2633. Price of rails and engines; cost of transportation via Panama, 2633. Explanation of estimates, 2633, 2634. Why the company controlled supervision of work; gross earnings from 1862 to 1867; 2634. Financial results from Crocker's contract; the stock a net profit, 2635. No expectation of profits from stock, 2635, 2636. Not entitled to share in profits of Crocker contract; never received any; prices at which stock was taken in Crocker settlements; inception of Contract and Finance Company, 2636, 2637. Original stockholders; capital stock, $5,000,000; amount held by the Crockers, 2637. Other stockholders B. R. Crocker, Mr. Milliken, and others; how they obtained the stock, 2638. Crocker president of Contract and Finance Company, 2638, 2639. Scope and object of the company; headquarters of company, 2639. Plan for disposing of stock, 2639, 2640. Custody of the books; a call for the books, 2640, 2641. Suits against the company, 2641. The profits of witness and associates on the stock of no interest to any one but themselves; present stockholders and Government not interested, 2641. Why the capital stock was increased, 2641, 2642. Dividends; whereabouts of Mr. John Miller; witness has no books showing transactions with Contract Company, 2642. Central Pacific stocks were divided between witness and associates, but no bonds or money, 2642, 2643. Value of the stocks when this division took place; development of the country; everything bright until 1881, then came competition and great falling off in Nevada business; witness knew about how much Central Pacific stock was owned by Contract Company, 2643, 2644. the contract written or verbal; terms of contract, 2644. Did not know contract was missing, 2644, 2645. Knew books of Contract Company were missing; extract from Huntington's testimony, 2645. Contractor to have all the assets, 2645, 2646. An "exhaustive contract;" value of railroad stock at completion, 2646. Excessive prices paid for stock to settle suits, 2646, 2647. Whereabouts of report dated May 9, 1865, on line east of New Castle; difficulty of the construction, 2647. Terms of the Crocker contract, being extract from minutes of June 6, 1865; extract from minutes of May 2, 1866; resolution that three-eighths be paid in cash or in stock at 30 cents, 2648. Putting stock into the Contract and Finance Company, 2649, 2650. Crocker did the same; sold 200 Placer County bonds at 70; 300 Sacramento at 65, and 400 San Francisco at about 70; aid from State; State paid the interest on certain bonds, 2649. Amount of stock passed over by Crocker to Contract and Finance Company; contract with that company, 2650 (being an extract from minutes of December 3, 1867). Difficulties of construction eastward from State line, 2650, 2651. Exorbitant prices for supplies; time covered by contract of Contract and Finance Company, about eighteen months; policy of company in regard to stock, 2651. Real object in the issuance of stock, 2651, 2652. Method of payment to Contract Company; witness' recollection of the specifications; of weight of rails, 2652. Of number of locomotives; of their cost; length of line from eastern boundary of State, 2653. Aggregate number of locomotives at completion of road; manner of payments under the contracts; amounts paid Contract and Finance Company for the 600 miles about $20,000,000; 2654. Consolidated lines, 2654, 2655. Dissolution of Contract and Finance Company; division of its stock, 2655. Witness' share of Central Pacific stock after consolidation over $13,000,000; 2655, 2656. How this stock was acquired; buying up outside stock; stock put on the market about 1880 or 1881; 2656. Five millions sold to a New York syndicate, 2656, 2657. Witness' present interest $3,200,000 at par; date of dissolution of Contract and Finance Company, 2657. Notes given in payment of its stock, 2657, 2658. No cash payments; the Western Development Company; stockholders the same, with addition of Mr. Colton; witness' share of the stock, 2658. What work the Western Development Company did, 2658, 2659. Who constructed the California and Oregon from Roseville to Redding, and when; California and Oregon contract with Contract and Finance Company (from minutes of April 2, 1868), 2659. How the construction proceeded, 2659, 2660. Purchase of Oregon and California; rate of progress, 2660. Location of Marysville, 2660, 2661. Construction from Tehama to Delta; from Delta to State boundary; work done by Pacific Improvement Company; date of Pacific Improvement Company contract; stockholders in that company, 2661. Stock of Pacific Improvement Company, 2661, 2662. Terms of the contract for construction from Delta to boundary; completion of work from Delta to State line, 2662. Account of Pacific Improvement Company with Central Pacific, dated December 31, 1886; 2662, 2663. Account showing bonds due June 1, 1887; 2663. Consideration for construction to Delta, the control of Oregon and California; how obtained; terms of the contract and the compensation allowed Pacific Improvement Company determined by men who were principal stockholders in both companies, 2664, 2665. The price paid; a very good trade for Central Pacific; actual cost of construction; bonds issued to Pacific Improvement Company, 2665. Loan from sinking fund to that company, 2665, 2666. Offer to pay back the loan; $16,000,000 mortgage of October, 1886; probable effect of its foreclosure, 2666, 2667. Would leave road from Sacramento to Ogden without terminal facilities; lines consolidated with the Central Pacific, 2667, 2668. Interest of officers in the short lines before consolidation; by whom they were constructed, 2668. Loan of portion of sinking fund to Western Development Company, 2668, 2669. What was paid for construction from Sacramento to Ogden; condition of Contract and Finance Company at final settlement, 2669. Owed several millions at time of completion of road, 2669, 2670. Created for purpose of better constructing the road; witness and associates received about $50,000,000 profits; personal liability of stockholders, 2670. Effect of the law on investors, 2670, 2671. Relation of Central Pacific to Government, 2729, 2730. United States vs. Union Pacific, to compel an accounting as to disposition of United States bonds; Court of Claims case, with like purpose, 2730. Central and Western Pacific Railroads; memorandum of receipts from all sources (except original contributions by promoters) to December 31, 1869; total, $47,889,000; Central Pacific never handled Western Pacific bonds, 2731. Counties authorized to subscribe aid to railroads,

2731–2733. Aid given to roads prior to consolidation; the $600,000 subscription of San Francisco County, 2732. County aid to Central Pacific, 2732, 2733. Aid for roads that never were built, 2733. Subscriptions of other counties to railroads, 2733, 2734. Construction of road from San José to Ogden, at cost, roundly, of $55,600 per mile; various estimates of cost per mile; Government only interested to extent of its grants, 2734. Company authorized to use the entire grant if necessary, and entitled to any unexpended balance, 2734, 2735. Position assumed for sake of argument: If company must account, as agent, to Government, and pay over all receipts in excess of reasonable cost of construction, the proceeds of United States and first-mortgage bonds were less than such cost; position taken by company: Government aid granted on condition that the road be constructed, and, on completion of work, Government not entitled to an accounting; if company bound to account to Government as agent, United States aid was insufficient, and Government should make good the deficit, 2735. Relations of the company and the Government as viewed by the commission, 2735, 2736. When aid was given, compensation for service was estimated to be sufficient to pay debt, 2736. Condition of road at passage of Thurman act and subsequently; important competing lines built, and business fell off on Central Pacific; percentage on through business now about 27 per cent.; advantage of control of Southern Pacific, 2737. Terms of lease of Central to Southern Pacific, 2737, 2738. Construction of Oregon and California; advantage of small roads to main line; Southern Pacific to pay interest on Central's Government indebtedness and payments under Thurman act, 2738. Commissioner Anderson's statement of public impression as to real cause of inability of Central Pacific to meet obligations, 2738, 2739. Necessity for Commission to examine the books; money all expended in construction; amount of stock not necessarily related to cost of construction, 2739. Company's books open for examination by Commission; necessity of haste in construction of Central Pacific; not desired to throw the books open to the public, 2740. Books of the construction companies, 2740, 2741. Objections raised to leases to Central Pacific; protest by chairman of Commission against private examination of the books, 2741. Not necessary to expose company's affairs to rivals, 2741, 2742. Commission bound to make public all evidence bearing on the issue, 2742. Publicity of examination demanded by Commission, 2742, 2743. Extent of examination permitted by company; witness to consult counsel, 2743. Commission to decide on pertinency of evidence, 2743, 2744. Commission claim right to publish examination of books, etc., 2744. Books will show no diversion of funds, 2744, 2745. No secrets in them; position of the company that of plaintiffs, 2745. Commission not governed by rules of evidence, 2745, 2746. Question of permitting examination of books postponed, 2746, 2747. Witness excused for purposes of consultation with counsel, 2747. Expenditures from 1840 to 1869 for Government transportation exceeded $8,000,000 per annum. Transportation rates at that time, 2750. Reasons for supposing same rates were to be paid company, 2750, 2751. Rates fixed arbitrarily by Government; decision in case of Union Pacific as to rates fixed by Post-Office Department, 2751. Grant to Northern Pacific in 1864 unjust to Central Pacific and Union Pacific, 2751, 2752. Greater aid extended to other roads; grant to Northern Pacific in 1864; Central Pacific should be compensated for injury done by assisting other roads, 2752, 2753. A case of benefits to the Government; values created by construction of road, 2753. Companies to be dealt with in a spirit of justice and liberality, 2753, 2754. Completion of road in advance of limit anticipated by Government; self-protection the company's object in hastening completion, 2754, 2755. Another object in view suggested—increase of earnings, 2754. Company's first mortgage could have built the road; Government aided portion of Central Pacific not the only source of the profits distributed in dividends from 1870 to 1876; another reason for expedition—the securing of the land grant; business from the Comstock lode, 2755. Value of Government land grants, per report of company's land agent, 2755, 2756. Largely depreciated by failure of Comstock lode and Government delay in giving title; benefits conferred in development of country; diversion of business by act of Government, 2756. The company willing to surrender the lands at a Government valuation, 2756, 2757. Central Pacific a pioneer railroad; willing to let Government have road on certain conditions, 2757. Government has no claim on directors, 2757, 2758. Disposition of Government bonds; road mortgaged ahead of construction, 2758. What the bonds sold for in gold, 2758, 2759. How their value is estimated; bonds all sold after completion of road; borrowing on bonds, 2759. Bonds not kept a week, through pressure for money,

2759, 2760. Millions of bonds pledged in advance; individual notes given, secured by collateral; high prices for labor and material, 2760. Price of ties, 2760, 2761. Rails, all American; how transported; rate on large shipments, 2761. Filling and grading done by Contract and Finance Company, 2761, 2762. Ox-teams hauling ties over mountains; roads kept clear during storms by moving teams, 2762. Tunneling during the winter, 2762, 2763. Other difficulties in going over the mountains; large fills originally covered with wooden trestles; Government aid increased from $16,000 to $40,000 a mile, at a point 7 miles east of Sacramento; character of country between seventh and twenty-first miles, 2763. Fixing the base of the Sierras, 2763, 2764. Comparative cost of first 7 and second 7 miles; the base of the mountain, extra aid given on portion commencing at, 2764. Discussing as to where it commenced, 2764, 2765. All the officers who made geological examination agreed on point of commencement; the base properly fixed geographically and geologically, 2765. Cost of construction from Sacramento to Ogden, 2765, 2766. All the money used up in construction; actual cost to Ogden more than $48,000,000; 2766. Proceeds of individual notes used, 2766, 2767. Interest on individual notes repaid by companies; method of conducting Western Development Company, 2767. Not the same with regard to Contract Company; separate accounts with Central Pacific and Contract and Finance Companies; no more interest charged than paid; further testimony to be submitted by company, 2768. Method of ascertaining proceeds of Government bonds and other aid, 2769. Signing testimony by witnesses, 2769, 2770. Improvement of road after completion, 2770. Done by Contract Company, 2770, 2771. Cost of construction at completion in May, 1869, estimated by witness at about $47,880,000; as to statement of profit and loss January 1, 1870, 2771. Interest account of 1870 and 1871 compared, 2771, 2772. Issuance in October, 1870, of land-grant bonds amounting to $9,153,000; how disposed of, 2772. The books will show, 2772. COLTON-HUNTINGTON LETTERS, the, 3702–3766, 3773.

CONSTRUCTIVE MILEAGE:
First introduced into Pacific system in 1879 or 1880; 1060. Definitions of, 1061, 1440. Mr. Adams's explanation of, 104. Governor Stanford's explanation of, 2473. How it differs from an "arbitrary" rate, 1077, 1078. A universal rule, 109, 3591. Not universal, but a very common practice, 861, 862. Not a new principle, 1036. A true principle for the proper conduct of a railroad, 638, 639. Propriety and equity of the principle, 1444, 1445. Object of, 980. How it could become an abuse, 850, 851. Companies with which there was an arbitrary rate, 1077, 1078.
Allowance of, by Union Pacific to branch roads, 105. Approved by Government directors, 105, 106, 861. Effect on Government's 25 per cent., 105, 612, 613, 851, 859, 860, 980, 2481. Never intended to diminish payments under Thurman act, 615, 851, 862. How it might defeat Thurman Act, 642. Effect of, under Thurman act, 612. Not a diversion of earnings in their favor, 108. A legitimate compensation, 1065, 1066. Gives them a fair share of earnings, 1070. Only a legitimate division of the through rate, 1080. Branch lines entitled to higher rates per mile than main lines, 1066, 1080, 1444, 1445, 2073. Union Pacific pays to auxiliary lines about $166,000 a year (estimated), 1068.
Effect on main line, 2073, 2074. Benefit to main line, 1067, 2480. Benefits to branch-lines and to main line, 106, 1067, 1075, 1076, 1429, 1430. Branch-line business, the most profitable business done by main line, 640, 642.
Branches entitled to, and their allowances (from report of Government directors), 604. Reasonableness of these allowances, 851. To Echo and Park City, ridiculously small, 859, 860. To Denver and South Park, should be higher, 860. To Utah Northern, not extraordinary, 861. Discussion of rate allowed Echo and Park City, and Omaha and Republican Valley, 1079.
Table of allowances in 1880, or when branch line opened for business, 1061. Improvement in main and branch lines since 1880 about the same, 1063, 1064. Ratio of allowances has remained about the same since 1880; 1063, 1064.
Detailed statement of constructive mileage allowances, October 11, 1886; 797.

CONSTRUCTIVE MILEAGE—Continued.

Mr. McDowell's statement of allowances by Union Pacific to auxiliary roads, 5264. Statement of amounts of constructive mileage allowances by Union Pacific to auxiliary lines, and by lines east of Missouri River to Union Pacific and its auxiliary lines for month of January, 1887, 1068. "Constructive-mileage" advantages that are not included in the statement, 1072. As a rule the same allowances would be made if branch lines were independent corporations, 1069. Statements in relation to allowances for July and August, 1886, and January and February, 1887, with explanatory memorandums by Mr. Mink, 3058–3060.
Memorandum in relation to constructive mileage allowances, January, 1887, shows estimated balance of profit under the constructive mileage rule in favor of the Union Pacific of $297,982.16 for the year 1887; 1072, 1073.
Allowances, basis of, 605, 609, 849, 850, 1064, 1065, 1066, 1077, 1078, 1079, 1637, 1638, 1670, 1671. No data showing relative cost of service on branch lines and on main line at time constructive mileage rates were fixed; cost of operation of branch lines nearly 50 per cent. greater than of main line; reference to page 22 of report of 1886; 1407. Length of road and volume of business, elements in arranging, 1078. Tables of population, in 1880, of counties through which trunk and branch lines run, 1436–1439. Population not a factor, 1671.
Detailed explanation of the basis for dividing rates on Union Pacific system, 1444, 1445. The strict mileage basis would result disastrously, 1075. If equal mileage distribution of earnings is enforced no prudent man would invest a dollar in securities of proposed branches, 1445.
Allowance of, by eastern roads, to Union Pacific, 105. Union Pacific has received millions at Omaha, paid out probably half as much, 610. Statement of amounts of constructive mileage allowances by Union Pacific to auxiliary lines and by lines east of Missouri River to Union Pacific and its auxiliary lines for month of January, 1887; 1068. KANSAS PACIFIC CONSOLIDATION:
The Commission directed to investigate the facts, 5.
Copy of the articles of consolidation, 307–311.
Suggested as early as 1875; 448–450.
Extract from agreement of April 22, 1875; 450. Which was never consummated, 450.
Efforts of Kansas Pacific to prorate through from Cheyenne to Ogden, 132, 197, 210, 211, 216, 450, 660.
War of rates in 1872–1874, between Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific, 132.
Hostile relations between them from 1873 to 1877; 135, 699, 700.
Their controversies in court and Congress, 137, 138, 142.
Agreement in April, 1875, looking to adjustment of difficulties between them, 450, 451.
The difficulties which culminated in the pool agreement, 142, 143, 270, 271, 452, 453, 585, 738, 753.
The Kansas Pacific Pool Agreement of April 24, 1878; 451, 1696. Copy of same, 162–166.
Its object, 178. To reduce amount of outstanding indebtedness, 429. Effect of consolidation exactly the reverse, 429.
Its original purpose, to retire at a scaled rate all liens subsequent to first mortgage and Government lien, and substitute an issue of stock, 453.
Statement of the persons interested, 143, 646, 647. And the securities covered, 143. Sage not interested until it was to be closed up, 345, 347. Mr. Villard not personally interested, 428.
F. L. Ames paid in $100,000, and got consols with Kansas Pacific stock thrown in, 686.
E. H. Baker had $15,000 interest in the pool; what he got for it, 738.
Elisha Atkins' interest in Kansas Pacific in 1879; acquired through pool, 754.
How the prices in the pool agreement were fixed, 172–174; 454.
Rates for income bonds, 458. Gould fixed the price at what he considered a fair figure, 458. Had over $2,000,000 of them himself, 458. As to his purchase of stamped income bonds, 463. Why he bought them; what they covered; other holders of stamped incomes, 464.

The reorganization certificates, 225, 362, 460–462, 502, 503, 647.
"Reorganization bonds" in Mr. Sage's account probably meant reorganization certificates, 462, 463.
Accretions to the pool, 430. Ceased when market price got above pool price, 430.
Pool accounts, 199, 272, 648. Kept by James M. Ham, 221. The securities in a trust company, 222; Delivered to Gould and Sage, trustees. Kansas Pacific consolidated bonds received in exchange, 223. How holders of certificates could get bonds, 226, 227.
Purchase by Gould and associates of the interest of Saint Louis parties in the pool, 144, 199, 200, 460, 1695, 1696. Change in Kansas Pacific board of directors, a part of the purchase, 145. The price paid, $1,200,000; 460, 461. List of the securities, 461. The negotiation with the Saint Louis people, 461. Did Gould pay 12½ cents for the 43,110 shares stock, or was it thrown in? 462, 502, 503, 686. Paid 12½ cents, 1695.
Purchase by Sage from Gould of one-sixth of the securities, formerly representing the Saint Louis interest, for $200,250; 361–363, 461, 502, 503.
Another purchase by Sage from Gould of Kansas Pacific stock and bonds, 363–365.
The withdrawal of the Kansas Pacific stock from the pool, 168, 169, 171, 224, 272, 431, 432, 460, 654, 655.
Valued in the pool at 12½ cents, 171.
Delivered to Gould, Ames, and Dillon; authority for such action, 431.
Through the pool Gould and associates acquired large interests in Kansas Pacific stock and bonds and Arkansas Valley and Leavenworth bonds, 175.
Pool profits to the individuals interested, 217–219, 686.
Mr. Gould's profit on Kansas Pacific stock in consolidation, $3,500,000; 686. Copy Gould's account of Kansas Pacific pool, 497. Copy his journal entries concerning same, 497–501.

Summary of the original pooling scheme; $17,000,000 of bonded debt to be funded into $4,855,300 in stock, 455.
This plan abandoned and the consolidated mortgage made, 454, 455.

Consolidated mortgage:
Drawn by Judge Usher, 144, 455, 1697. Gould's connection therewith, 1696, 1697.
Submitted to Artemas H. Holmes, 144.
Gould and Sage were the trustees, 345.
Its object, 435.
General statement of its provisions, 569, 570.
Method of scaling securities in consolidation, 456, 457. Who fixed the rates of exchange, 161, 162, 346, 350, 1698. The committee fixed the rates for branch-line securities with the owners, 350.
Mr. Sage's duty as trustee under the mortgage, 349–350. His duty as a member of the pool committee, 350. The persons prominently interested, 162.
Rate for Arkansas Valley bonds, 167.
Rates not the same as those in the pool agreement, 459.
An explanation asked for the difference between the amount of pool securities at commutation rates and amount which mortgage states was to be given for them, 532–534, 561, 565, 650, 651. An apparent preference of $333,000; 534, 565.
Mr. Gould says that the holders of pool securities got no preference, 534. Gould never knew of the discrepancy, 533. Thinks it probably arose from advances made by him to pay interest on Denver extension bonds, 533, 534. This theory untenable, 534. Perhaps the lawyers got the difference, 533. Judge Usher thinks there was no special advantage obtained, 1701.
How the agreement to give $3,400,000, consols, for the pool securities was arrived at, 651, 652, 1698–1700. Judge Usher got instructions only from Gould, 1700.
Mr. Sage's recollection of the disposition of the $3,400,000 bonds issued to Dillon, Villard, and himself in payment for pool securities, 348, 349.
Exchange of old securities for consolidated bonds, 351, 352.
Copy article 22 of consolidated mortgage, 161, 547. Mr. Gould's understanding of its provision, 570. No bonds issued under it except those provided for by $3,400,000 contract, at other rates than those specified in article 23.
Provisions of article 23 for issue of $2,000,000 to Gould, to repay advances, 548, 549, 653.
Explanation of various issues of bonds—
One hundred and three bonds to Maxwell and Graves, for $75,000 first land-grant bonds, 549, 550.
One hundred and thirty bonds to Oliver Ames, for 755 shares Central Branch's stock, 550.
One hundred and seventeen bonds to R. Sage, for $112,315, coupon certificates.
Did not the prohibition of article 22, as to issuance of bonds to Kansas Pacific, apply as well to the successor company (Union Pacific Rwy.), 551.
Of issue of 160 bonds to Gould and Sage, trustees, for certain branch-line bonds; why at different rates from that in mortgage, 552.
Of other issues to Gould and Sage, 553.
Did not Gould receive rates different from the mortgage rate, 553.
Of issue of 1771 bonds to Gould, for bonds of Denver Pacific and of Denver and Boulder Valley, 565.
Article 24, as to different rates for branches east and west of the meridian of Denver, 168, 565, 566.
Issue of 2,000 bonds to Gould at 75; who fixed the rate, 566, 567, 595, 653, 777–780.
Mr. Sage not interested, 569.
Issue of 927 bonds to Gould in payment of Central Branch and Denver Pacific stock, 567.
Three million four hundred thousand dollars bonds to holders of pool securities under market rate, 778, 779.
Explanation of other issues of bonds at other than mortgage rates, 567, 568.
No overissue of bonds, 568, 570.
Class of credits given Union Pacific in bond account, 568, 569.
Article 4, as to proceeds of land sales applicable to interest, 568.
Explanation by Mr. Calef of entries in trustees' journal, 592–594.
Why Mr. Leighton received different rates from those in the mortgage, 594.
Copy agreement between Gould and Leighton, 594.
Account of trustees with Union Pacific; item of $927,000 consols charged to Union Pacific and delivered to Gould, 595, 596.

KANSAS PACIFIC CONSOLIDATION—Continued.
Some of the securities (for which the commutation rates were 30 and 50) have since been purchased at nearly par, 973.
The prohibition forbidding commutation except at mortgage rates evidently disregarded, 973, 974.
Statement of stocks and bonds owned by Union Pacific Rwy Co. held in the consolidated mortgage trust, December 31, 1882, 695.

In 1879 Gould anxious to consolidate Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific, but wanted better terms for Kansas Pacific, 660, 661. Mr. Dexter thought his terms unreasonable, 702–704, 739, 740.

Gould's purchase of Missouri Pacific, 505, 659, 1579, 1580, 1590, 1591. Paid Garrison $3,000,000 for 4,000 shares, 528, 529.
Object, to protect Kansas Pacific; Garrison paralleling Kansas Pacific, bought out by Gould, 508.
Gould's idea of another through road to Ogden, 505, 756. The true line across the continent, 505.
The proposed extension of Missouri Pacific would have destroyed Union Pacific, 509. And wiped out security of United States 510. Though tempted, Gould did not yield, 509, 510.
Effect of disclosure of fact of purchase, 506, 507.
Alarm of Union Pacific people, 659, 660, 740, 760, 813.
Interviews with other directors, 506, 507.
Consultations with Gould on his change of front, 662–664.
Gould forced to carry consolidation through, 483. Would have paid $1,000,000 rather than do so, 483. He felt "committed" to the consolidation, 509.
Names of men who urged Gould, 485, 486.
They had much larger interests in Union Pacific than in Kansas Pacific, 586, 587.
The meeting at Gould's house, January 14, 1880; 664, 704, 705.
Who were present, 664, 689.
A protracted discussion of terms, 665.
The concessions made by Gould, 705.
The preliminary paper agreeing to consolidation, 665, 706.
Substance of same, 486, 487, 507, 508.
In Mr. Dexter's handwriting, 667, 668
Explanation of the signature "R. S.," 668.
Copy of agreement, 668. Errors therein, 668, 669, 706, 707.
Mr. Atkins signed it in Boston; was not present at the meeting, 757, 776, 777.
The paper recently found, 670, 708.
The Government not informed of the details, 708.
Mr. Baker's recollection of what took place, 740–742.
The situation of affairs in 1880; 690.
Possible results if consolidation had not taken place, 690.
In acceding to terms of consolidation, directors were controlled by fact that Gould had them "cornered," 685. Mr. Atkins does not think they were bulldozed, 759.
Gould in a position to dictate the terms of consolidation between Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific, 558. Did Gould dictate the terms, 777.

When consolidation was substantially agreed on, according to Mr. Sage, 357, 358.
Preparation of articles of consolidation, drawn by Judge Dillon, 157, 183, 184.
Gould's connection therewith, 484, 485.
Judge Usher's recollection of their preparation, 1702. Fears of an injunction, 1703.
With whom Dillon conferred, 184.
He had no personal knowledge of the value of the Kansas Pacific or Denver Pacific stock at the time, 184, 185.
Drew third article according to instructions, 185.
Knew that Gould and associates were interested in both properties, 185, 186.
Copy articles of consolidation, 307–310.
The letter to Humphreys & Dodge:

Copy thereof, 318.

What they were asked to do, 371, 476, 477, 704.
The persons who signed it, 371, 657.
Gould's connection therewith, 479.
Gould did not confer with John F. Dillon as to, 483, 484.

KANSAS PACIFIC CONSOLIDATION—Continued.
Why they were selected; what Mr. Atkins recollects about it, 754, 755.
Mr. Sage's acquaintance with them, 370, 371.
Gould has no knowledge that they made a careful examination of the question, 477, 478.
What considerations they should have gone into, 478, 479, 657, 658.
Their report, 372, 479.
Did they merely copy a form prepared for them, 479, 480.
Their suggestion as to the capital stock of the new company, the same that Gould had thought of, 479.
Copy of their report, 318, 319.
Sage did not know its tenor prior to the meeting, 372.
When did the directors know of its conclusions, 658, 659.
When Gould received their report, he was not in favor of consolidation, 482, 657.
Gould never saw the report, 583. Did not influence them, 583.
Submitted to John F. Dillon at or about the day of the consolidation, 373.

Suit to release the Denver Pacific stock:
Artemas H. Holmes requested by Sidney Dillon to bring the suit, 146, 205.
His conversation with Judge Dillon, 147. With Jay Gould, 487. Gould had decided to put Denver Pacific stock into consolidation, his own $1,000,000 at 10 cents and the $3,000,000 trust stock at a valuation of $500,000; 488, 504.
By the terms of the consolidation Denver Pacific stock was to be exchanged at par; Gould knew that, if freed, it was worth as much as Union Pacific Rwy. stock, 488, 490. Gould did not think it his duty as trustee to state to Mr. Holmes that the stock, if freed, was to be exchanged for Union Pacific Rwy. stock, 490.
The general object of the suit, 147, 186, 490, 505. What Mr. F. L. Ames knew of the suit, 671.
Mr. Dillon's letter to Gould and Sage, trustees, on January 17, 1880, and their reply on same day, 488, 489.
Summons dated January 17, 1880; 147, 148.
Mr. Dillon wanted the suit expedited, 148, 243, 244. Knew that, if freed, the stock would be worth as much as Union Pacific Rwy. stock, 206, 207. Mr. Sage does not think the suit was hurried through, 354, 355.
The complaint; its preparation, 489.
Copy Mr. Calef's verification, 490.
Verified and served January 20, 1880; 148.
Substance of its allegations, 148-150.
The answer:
Mr. Goodwin's talk with Mr. Sage, 243, 244, 353, 354. The disclosures made by trustees to their counsel, Mr. Goodwin, as to value of the Denver Pacific stock, 244, 245. Sage knew that the Denver Pacific stock, if freed, was worth whatever Union Pacific was, 358. Counsel for trustees ignorant of the fact that consolidation was impending, 243.
Verified by Gould on January 20, 1880, 489.
Served the same day, 148.
Substance of its provisions, 150.
Horace M. Ruggles agreed on as referee, 150, 244.
Justice Donohue refers the issues to Ruggles to try and determine; order dated January 20, 1880; 150.
Taking of proofs begun January 21, 1880; 151.
The witnesses examined, 151.
Testimony of Sidney Dillon, 180, 205, 207, 208. Denver Pacific stock worthless in the trust, but, if freed, and used for certain purposes it might be worth $200,000 or $300,000 to Kansas Pacific, 180, 181. Attempt to reconcile Mr. Dillon's statement as to value of Denver Pacific stock with the fact that the next day it was worth $3,000,000; 181. Mr. Dillon's explanation of his statement, 208, 209. Gould not informed of this testimony, 492.
Erasures in Mr. Calef's testimony as to Kansas Pacific earnings, 155, 293-295. The record as taken and as altered, 155, 156, 294, 295. Is the original or the corrected answer the true one, 156, 157, 294, 295.
The corrected answer true, 294, 295.
Does not recollect on what he based his testimony as to earnings, 297, 298
Case closed on January 22; 151.
Findings were drawn by the referee, 151.
Decree dated January 23, 1880, 151, 152. No opposition by counsel for trustees, 152.
Copy of decree, 152.
Result of the decree, 158.

KANSAS PACIFIC CONSOLIDATION—Continued.
Complaint of Albert S. Rosenbaum as to withdrawal of the Denver Pacific stock 247, 248, 256–258.
The investigation, by the State assembly judiciary committee, into Justice Donohue's action, 154.
Mr. Ham, the custodian of the Denver Pacific stock, after its release, 227. The stock in one certificate, 227. Details of its receipt by him, and of the circumstances connected with its subsequent conversion into Union Pacific stock, 228, 229. The Union Trust Company, the transfer agents, 229. The modus operandi of transfer; the new stock delivered next day; the largest certificate went to Gould, 231. Transfer at same time, of 10,000 shares to same parties; to whom the new certificates were delivered, 232. After paying parties interested for their securities, balance of stock retained in the Union Pacific treasury, 233. Loss of paper containing statement of the value of the securities to be paid for, 233, 234.
Mr. Calef's recollection of the receipt by Kansas Pacific of the Denver Pacific stock and its transfer to Gould, 290, 291.
Mr. Sage is not sure whether the Denver Pacific stock has been taken out of the trust or not, 352, 353.
The stock went to Kansas Pacific as an asset, and was used by Kansas Pacific to pay for the branch roads purchased from Gould and his associates, 152–154, 234–237.
The $3,000,000 stock went to Kansas Pacific, then to Union Pacific Rwy., in consolidation; a portion ($3,464,168.48) used to pay Gould, 274, 275, 557. The question of a trustee buying the trust securities, 355.
Mr. Sage does not recollect that he was informed, at the time of the suit, that the Denver Pacific stock was to go to Gould, 355.
Mr. Dillon's statement that the Denver Pacific stock was exchanged for Union Pacific Rwy. stock, 202, 203.
Union Pacific Rwy. could just as well have issued its own stock to pay Gould and other creditors, 557.
Gould and his associates gave full value for the Denver Pacific stock, 180.
Who arranged the terms of transfer? 236, 315.
Terms arranged between Gould and Kansas Pacific before consolidation, 315, 316.
Enumeration of the securities and their value, 236.
Copy letter, Oliver W. Mink, to Commission as to exchange of Denver Pacific stock, 305–307.
Mr. Mink states that Union Pacific Rwy. made a profit of $3,716,961.48 on the Denver Pacific stock, 314, 315.
How Kansas Pacific obtained its title to its Denver Pacific stock, 179.
By what authority did Kansas Pacific part with its title? 158–160, 208, 209.
Why the released stock was not exchanged with the trustees of the consolidated mortgage, instead of with Kansas Pacific, 491.
Why the proceeds of the released stock were not paid back to the trustees, 491, 492, 503–505.
They could get $500,000 for it, or nothing, 492, 503.
The trust received the benefit of $500,000, the mortgage being made for that much less, 556.
Denver Pacific stock valueless in case of foreclosure of mortgage, 582.
If decree had not been obtained, Denver Pacific would have been foreclosed, or the stock would have been put in at nominal price, 582.
Gould sold his $1,000,000 Denver Pacific stock to Kansas Pacific for $100,000, though, by consolidation, it was worth about $1,000,000; 177, 583.
By consolidation, Gould and associates got Union Pacific Rwy. stock for the Denver Pacific stock, which would not have been worth anything but for consolidation, 178.
Kansas Pacific would not have been worth ten cents, and Denver Pacific would not have been worth anything, but for consolidation, 179.

Meeting of directors of Union Pacific R. R., January 24, 1880; 512, 513.
Copy of the minutes, 307–311.
Proceedings:
Gould's resignation as director, 367, 368, 483, 519.
Why Gould resigned, 370.
Circumstances connected therewith, 513–516.
Alarmed the other directors, 483.
Reasons for it, 514, 518.
Moved by Sage, 518.
No deals made before resignation, 514, 515.
The prices for securities not then fixed, 515.

Meeting of directors of Union Pacific R. R., January 24, 1870—Continued.
Proceedings—Continued.
Object of getting it on record on January 24, 1880; 516.
What he then knew of the Humphreys-Dodge report, 516, 517.
Canceling the Colorado Central lease, 374, 375, 516.
Done because of law in Colorado prohibiting the consolidation of competing roads, 516.
Filing the Humphreys-Dodge report, 375.
Moving the consolidation, 375.
The part taken by the Government directors, 709, 710.
What Mr. Cammack remembers of what took place at the meeting, 279–281. The interest of the United States not discussed, 282.
Mr. Eckert's recollection of what took place, 283, 284. Made no personal examination of the question, 283–285.
Mr. Morosini's recollection, 324, 325.
Mr. Niles's recollection, 329–331. Why Mr. Niles voted for consolidation, 331–333. His report to the Government, 338, 339. The Government notified after consolidation, 194, 195.
Mr. Sage's recollection, 369.
The interest of the United States not discussed, 282.
The Government security preserved, 337.
Mr. Sage signed ratification as owner of 15,000 shares, 360. Mr. Gould's course a violation of his duty as director, 734. Mr. Baker thinks differently, 774.

Meeting of Kansas Pacific directors, January 24, 1880; 512, 513.
Copy of the minutes, 311–313.
Who were present, 376.
Proceedings:
Gould's resignation as director, 376, 518, 519. Copy of same, 377. The motive, 518, 666, 667. Reappointed a director within an hour, 368. Moved by Sage, 376, 519. Gould had not previously told Sage of his intention, 377.
Minutes as to purchase of branch lines by Kansas Pacific from Gould, 295, 296, 378, 520. Was agreement to buy Saint Joseph and Western made public? 665, 666. Bought at forty, turned in at par, 666. Propriety of the directors' action in this respect, 759. Name of seller omitted from the record, 379, 665. Transaction had been discussed, 378, 380. Very likely Gould fixed the price for Saint Joseph and Western, 742.
Gould was to be paid one-half in Kansas Pacific bonds at par, and one-half in Union Pacific collateral trust bonds at par, 527, 529, 530;
Why he was paid in Union Pacific Rwy. stock instead, 530–532.

PLAN OF SETTLEMENT:
Extension of time: Favored, 1509, 1521, 1573, 1583, 1956, 1957, 2074, 2169, 2236, 2237, 2400, 3013, 3406. Not favored, 1771. Condemned, 1349–1351, 1501, 1771. An extension favored, even if certain debt would not be paid, 1491. Extension naturally expected, 772, 844. A blanket mortgage for one hundred and twenty-five years, 214. At 3 per cent., company to have right to pay money or take new bonds, 590, 591. For one hundred years at 3 per cent., 769. For one hundred and fifty years preferable, 771. An extension on easy terms and additional security, 737. Extension, with power to take mortgage and pay off Government debt, 844, 845. Extension, with power to build branch lines, 1582, 1663. Long small bonds, at low rates, with power to build extensions, 2203. Long bonds at low rates, payable by installments annually, 2206. Central Pacific debt should be wiped out or payment required of principal only, with long time, 3086. The public favor an equitable extension, 854, 1667, 2236, 2237, 2244. Public sentiment divided on this point, 1745.

Fixed annual payment, 614, 736, 772, 995, 996. Union Pacific could pay about $1,800,000 a year now, to be increased later, 856, 857. A long bond paying an annual sum, with low rate of interest, 749, 1818. Union Pacific would cheerfully pay $1,600,000 a year, 612. Central Pacific could only pay $600,000 or $700,000 yearly, 3086. A gross payment rather than percentage of net earnings, 736, 737, 749, 841, 1818, 1878.
Compromise for cash, 995, 996.
The right to build branches necessary, 770, 773, 1522, 1663, 2075. Effect on rates as favorable to community if territory opened by other companies, 2237, 2238.
Additional security, 737. On new branch lines, ample, 771. Deposit of securities of existing branch lines as collateral, 855. Building branch lines and putting their securities in escrow, 770.
Road should be put in position to pay dividends, 820. Wreckers like a non-dividend stock, 820, 821.
Independence necessary, 213, 845, 858, 995, 996, 1623. Dissolution of partnership with Government as soon as may [illegible]5.
Ability of the companies to pay, 734, 819, 2400, 3406. Of Union Pacific, if given its independence, 213. Of Central Pacific, depends on circumstances over which road has no control, 2521. Of Central Pacific in certain contingencies, 3407. Central Pacific will never be able to pay, 1560, 1561, 3387. If Central Pacific debt is $60,000,000, liquidation not possible in one hundred years, 3408. Central Pacific will need all its resources to pay first mortgage interest and operating expenses, 3387, 3388. Central Pacific, severed from its feeders and from Southern Pacific, would not pay operating expenses and fixed charges, 3590. Southern Pacific bound to pay interest on Central Pacific's Government debt, 2738, 2811. Government can not get its money, 1969. How the Government could get its money back, 3025. Of Sioux City and Pacific, 2283, 2321.
Effect of extension; junior lien holders could not complain, 845. Will continue extortionate rates, 1350, 1351. On communities, 2236, 2237, 2244, 2274. Would debt be paid? 772, 773, 1521, 1522.
Foreclosure favored, 1501, 1517, 1524, 1533, 1534, 1922. Not favored, 1510. Of first first mortgage, 1352, 1431. What Union Pacific would bring under the hammer, 1354.
Effect of, 1517, 1534, 1960, 1961. Would not materially affect community at large, 1958. How it would affect other roads, 1354. Would give Government debt to the Western people, 1353. Would reduce capitalization to actual value, 1354. Would wipe out Government debt and stockholders' interest, 1431. Another road might have to be built, 1666.
Possession could be obtained by Government for default under Thurman act, 1767. First mortgage would have to be assumed, 1767, 1768, 1770.
Government control: Not an advantage, 1818. Not favored, 1862, 1874, 1922, 1956, 1957. Favored, 1501, 1502, 1534. Would be free from partisanship, 1768, 1769. Would make a political machine of road, 1819. Would cheapen transportation, stimulate enterprise, and hasten growth of communities, 1769. Road would earn more money, 1770. Much would depend on Government's action after taking possession, 2275. Only first mortgage interest and operating expenses could be paid, 3388. Operation of main line at simply operating expenses would bankrupt branch lines and demoralize freight traffic generally, 1428, 1429. Beneficial to community, 1502.
Miscellaneous:
A different basis for Central than that for Union Pacific. Government lien more secure on latter, 996.
Debt should be settled for a sum equal to the value of road over first mortgage, 1518.
Government should cancel debt, 1561.
Should require payment of the interest only, at 2 or 2½ per cent., and let principal go, 1593, 1594.
Should take up all securities and convert them into preferred stock at 2½ per cent. and cut rates in two, 1713.

Debt should have been paid before dividends declared, 1655, 1656.
Ninety per cent. of Union Pacific stock said to be unpaid, should be collected from the stockholders and applied to liquidation of debt, 1350, 1352. United States Supreme Court decision as to payment of balance on stock, 1352. This would enable reduction of 50 per cent in rates, 1351.
Union Pacific should have use of $7,000,000 in Government's hands to invest in their own bonds, 769.
Suggestions made by Director Alexander in his report to Government, 854, 855.
As to Central Pacific, question of extension immaterial, if the equities claimed in favor of the road are allowed, as their amount exceeds the Government debt, 2521. Central Pacific debt and interest at maturity compared with saving in transportation charges to same date, 2596, 2597.
Mr. Gould's offer of $30,000,000 for the debt of Union Pacific, 510-512, 1517.
